Draft $263,758,000 Transit Finance Plan

NEW SECURITIES FOR OLD, OFFER TO CAR OWNERS

Agreement Asked on Merger of Lines.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The tentative $263,758,000 financial plan for consolidating the surface and elevated lines into one local transportation system for Chicago was completed yesterday by Halsey, Stuart & Co., consolidation managers.

The plan was presented, as a working basis, to the bankers' advisory committee, composed of Melvin A. Traylor, A. W. Harris and Arthur Reynolds. When they have criticized and probably amended it, the proposed plan will be submitted to the twenty or more protective committees representing holders of securities of the existing companies.

Issue New Securities.

It is proposed that the new consolidated transit corporation—Chicago Local Transportation company—shall issue new securities totaling the agreed valuation of the surface and "L" lines, minus the bonded indebtedness of the latter. The $48,516,700 bonded debt of the "L", because of its average low interest rate, will be assumed by the new company. Accordingly the financial setup of the new company, including the two items of "L" bonded indebtedness, may be summarized as follows:

	Declared val.
First mortgage and refunding gold bonds, series A, 5½%, due Feb. 1, 1961	$40,505,500
Underlying divisional liens ["L" closed to public]	47,877,500
Equipment trusts and real estate mortgages ["L." closed to public]	639,200
7 per cent preferred stock, series A [$7]	40,505,500
Preferred stock, series A [$6]	53,006,300
Common stock, class A [$6 preferential]	29,328,900
Common stock, class B	51,895,100
Total	$263,758,000

$25,886,000 additional par value will be issued against the exercise of stock rights for the requirements of the company during the first two years.

All of the stocks are to be of no par value, but each class will have a declared or liquidation value. The 7 per cent preferred, preferred and class A common will have a declared value of $100 for each share, and the class B common of $25. It is those values which have been assigned each class of stock in the above tabulation.

Plan Is Optimistic.

A feature of the proposed Halsey, Stuart & Co. plan is the inferential prophecy that the combined company, without the promised reduction in expense due to consolidation, will be able to pay interest on all bonds and dividends of all stock except the class B common. The calculation shows $954,715 available "for dividends on class B common stock or other corporate purposes." This is the equivalent of about 1.8 per cent on $51,895,100 declared value of class B common stock.

The basis of this inferential representation is arrived at by combining the gross revenues of the surface and elevated lines for the year ending on Jan. 31, 1930, and deducting the expenses under the proposed financial setup. The gross revenues are given as $84,506,250, and the operating expense—including renewals of $5,871,-771—as $67,418,846. That leaves $17,-087,404 for fixed charges and dividends.

Distribution of Income.

The 5½ per cent interest on the new first and refunding bonds, instead of 4 per cent now paid on first mortgage bonds of the surface lines, will require $2,227,502. The interest charges on the "L" bonds, which vary from 4 to 6½ per cent, will require $2,533,888. The next charges against the remainder is an estimated federal tax of $1,079,015. At this point there remains $11,246,728 available for dividends on stock and for compensation to the city.

The prior preferred 7 per cent stock will call up $2,835,285, the preferred 6 per cent stock will take $3,180,378 and then the city steps in for its three per cent of the gross receipts, which total $5,518,516.

$954,715 for Junior Stock.

The next call upon the cash is for the holders of the class A common stock, which will take $1,759,734; and there remains $954,715 for the class B common stock or other corporate purposes.

Halsey, Stuart & Co. attempt nothing

Every Major Office Won by G. O. P.

Augusta, Me., Sept. 8.—[Special.]—Maine today elected Republican candidates to every major office contested for in the election.

The Republicans won the senatorship, the governorship and the four seats in the national house of representatives.

The majorities in most of the contests were substantial. But because of the fact it was an "off year" contest, the lighter vote reduced the numerical majorities. Two years ago the Republicans gave their ticket better than 82,000, but this year they were content with the much reduced turnout and the majorities are expected to range about 15,000 to 30,000.

Gov. Gardiner Reëlected.

Gov. William Tudor Gardiner of the city which bears the family name was reëlected to the state's highest office. Edward C. Moran Jr. of Rockland, defeated two years ago, again faced Gov. Gardiner as the Democratic aspirant.

Gardiner	67,561
Moran	52,146

Congressman Wallace H. White Jr of Lewiston was named Republican successor to Senator Arthur P. Gould of Presque Isle. White, who has been in the house for 11 years, was opposed by Frank H. Haskell, Portland attorney. The latest figures from 512 precincts, follow:

White	71,313
Haskell	44,569

Congressman White's seat in the lower house was filled by the election of another Republican. This contest was in the Second district, where Donald B. Partridge of Norway defeated Albert Beliveau of Rumford.

Other Congressmen Elected.

The other three Republican congressmen elected were: Carroll L. Beedy of Portland in the First district, John Nelson of Augusta in the third, and Donald F. Snow of Bangor in the Fourth.

The campaign centered on the Hoover administration, with Republican orators, most of them United States senators and representatives, stressing the accomplishments of the administration, while the Democrats blamed the Republicans for the business depression and unemployment.

MORE PRIMARIES TODAY

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 8.—[Special.]—Trend of sentiment on prohibition may be evidenced in several of the states which hold primary contests tomorrow. In the state of Washington the political fortunes of Senator Wesley L. Jones [Rep.], dry leader of the senate and author of the Jones law, may be affected adversely if a fight involving control of the state legislature is won by the wets. Two dry representatives on congress are being actively opposed in that state.

In Colorado the Anti-Saloon league has been under fire because of its methods in support of a senatorial candidate. Two prominent dry representatives have wet opposition in Michigan. There are other scattering wet and dry fights in the eight states where voters go to the polls tomorrow.

Jones Affected in Washington.

While there is no senatorial nomination to be made in the state of Washington Senator Jones has a good deal at stake inasmuch as he must run for reëlection two years hence. The Republican state convention recently declared for modification of prohibition laws and the Democratic state convention had previously favored repeal of the 18th amendment. The wets are pledged to submit a state referendum for repeal of the state prohibition enforcement act if they win control of the legislature.

Senator Jones has taken the position that the modification plank of the Republican convention was not in accord with the sentiment of the rank and file of the party. If the primary results appear to be in line with the platform declaration Senator Jones is likely to have formidable opposition in 1932.

Senator Jones has denied that he intended to declare his willingness to abide by the result of a referendum

"42" GANGSTER SHOT TO DEATH IN AUTOMOBILE

Peter [The Ape] Nicastro, 23 years old, reputed member of the "42" gang, shot three times in the head and once in the body, was pushed out of a moving sedan at 1:10 o'clock this morning in front of the Commonwealth Edison plant at 2246 South Canal street. The shots were heard by Anthony Kostler, an employé of the plant, who found Nicastro dying, and called the police.

Despite an injection of adrenalin by Dr. E. J. Kalal, the wounded gangster died twenty minutes later in the People's hospital without rallying strength to name his slayers. He lived at 1241 Taylor street.

Lieut. Richard Barry of the detective bureau, who assumed charge of the investigation, said Nicastro was suspected, recently, of engaging in the perilous occupation of hijacking alcohol stills. He had an extensive police record, but was never convicted of a crime.

Morton Traub, Broker, Shot in N. Shore Home

Morton J. Traub, founder and president of the investment firm of M. J. Traub & Co. until its dissolution last fall and since then manager of the securities department of Prince & Whitely, New York and Chicago investment house, shot himself in the chest yesterday morning on the porch of his home, 507 North Linden avenue, Highland Park. Friends said the shooting was accidental.

Blood transfusion was performed last night in the Highland Park hospital, but his condition was regarded as still critical. Another transfusion was to be tried this morning, according to Dr. Karl Meyer, chief of the county hospital staff, who was summoned with two other physicians on the case.

Postman Hears Shot.

A postman, Matthew Maiman, passing the residence about 10 a. m., heard the report of a gun from the screened porch. Peering over the rail he discovered Mr. Traub lying on the floor with an automatic shotgun across his body. The postman roused the family and also notified Highland Park police.

Mrs. Traub was shopping in Evanston. The wounded broker's mother-in-law and his 17 year old son, Morton, Jr., carried him into the house. An examination by the family physician, Dr. Donald E. Rossiter, indicated the charge struck him just below the heart, causing severe internal hemorrhage.

All day at the hospital, with his family at the bedside, Mr. Traub, who retained full consciousness, murmured his regret at the shooting. In a statement to the police, Mrs. Traub said she knew of nothing which would cause her husband to attempt suicide.

Accident, He Tells Doctor.

Dr. Meyer, a friend of the broker, announced that the patient had told him the shooting was accidental. Police Chief Edward Maroney of the Highland Park police said he could discover no motive for suicide.

"Mr. Traub left home to spend the morning trap shooting at a gun club," said Dr. Meyer. "Reaching the station, he discovered he had left his gun at home. He returned for the gun and was leaving the house when he stumbled. The jar discharged the weapon."

Prior to the dissolution of M. J. Traub & Co., last November, Mr. Traub had been a La Salle street broker for 15 years, dealing mainly in smaller issues. He is president of the Highland Park club, director of the North Shore council of the Boy Scouts, a vestryman of the Highland Park Episcopal church, and a member of the Exmoor Country club. He is 52 years old, and, besides his son, has a 15 year old daughter, Suzanne.

LINCOLN PARK COP QUESTIONED ON AUTO THEFTS

Fred Dornbeck, a Lincoln park policeman assigned to traffic duty at Michigan avenue and Ohio street, was taken from his post last night by city police to the detective bureau where, for two hours, he was questioned by Chief of Detectives Norton concerning automobile thefts recently occurring on his beat. Chief Norton ordered him detained over night.

Dornbeck was brought in after Nathan Poncher, 21 years old, 3642 Roosevelt road, a confessed auto thief, had declared he operated under the patrolman's direction, turning stolen machines over to Dornbeck and receiving $25 from him for each theft.

A week ago, Poncher said, Dornbeck instructed him to steal the car of Miss Mary Beatty of Glen Ellyn, an employé of the Lake Shore Trust and Savings bank, who parked her car daily at Michigan avenue and Ontario street. Poncher followed orders, delivered the car to a north side garage, and was paid by Dornbeck, he averred. The patrolman denied the accusation, claiming he had never before seen Poncher.

8 KNOWN DEAD AS BLAST ON OIL SHIP FIRES 19 VESSELS

ATHENS, Greece, Sept. 8.—(AP)—Eight persons are known to have been killed and it is feared many others suffered a like fate tonight as a sailing vessel, filled with oil, exploded in front of the Standard Oil depots at Drapetsonias harbor, near the Piraeus.

The vessel was blown to pieces and its flaming fragments set fire to 18 other sailing boats and one steamship, which burned rapidly.

The crews of the burning ships threw themselves into the water, but it is feared many were fatally burned. The Standard Oil depots on the shore apparently were safe.

Illinois Dry Forces Split in Senate Race

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Organized drys in Illinois split yesterday on the U. S. senatorship contest and the wet and dry referendum. The W. C. T. U., declining to follow the lead of the Anti-Saloon league, announced that in concert with six other women's organizations it will express no choice on candidates for senator, but will campaign to roll up a dry vote on the three prohibition questions to be submitted in November.

The group is to make no choice between Ruth Hanna McCormick, Republican nominee, a dry who has announced she will abide by majority rule on the referendum, and Mrs. Lottie Holman O'Neill, dry independent whose petition is to be filed today.

League Backs Mrs. O'Neill.

The Anti-Saloon league last Saturday placed its approval on Mrs O'Neill as its candidate for senator, in a statement signed by F. Scott McBride, national superintendent, and the officers of the Illinois unit of the league. The league also urged Illinois drys to ignore the referendum.

Announcement of the policy of the W. C. T. U. and its allies of "hands off" on candidates and a drive for dry votes on the referendum, was made jointly by Helen L. Hood, Illinois W. C. T. U. president, and Mrs Catherine Waugh McCulloch, president of the Democratic Women's Prohibition Enforcement league.

It was supplemented by an utterance from Mrs. Ella A. Boole, national president of the W. C. T. U., who has arrived in Evanston from Washington. "We would advise the people to vote on the referendum and to vote no," said Mrs. Boole, "as to candidates, we make no recommendations, and are not expressing any choice."

Continue G. O. P. Tour.

The Republican caravan, headed by Mrs. McCormick is to resume its tour today with organization meetings at Bloomington and Peoria.

Organizations announced as participating with the W. C. T. U. in its movement to work for a referendum victory without indorsing a candidate are the Women's City club, the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, the Democratic Women's Prohibition Enforcement league, the Chicago Women's Church federation, the Methodist Women's Home Missionary society, and the Cook County League of Women Voters.

A meeting of these groups is to be held Friday, at which officers are to be elected and a campaign prepared to cover every county.

League Rumblings Continue.

Meanwhile indications of disruption inside the Anti-Saloon league itself over the indorsement of Mrs. O'Neill continued to appear downstate, especially in Egypt, the dryest portion of the state. State Senator A. S. Cuthbertson of Bunker Hill, a dry veteran and a trustee of the league, reiterated his statements, that in its indorsement the league is "contributing to the election of Mr. Lewis, an avowed wet, rather than Mrs. McCormick, a candidate who is dry but willing to abide by majority rule."

The W. C. T. U. also expressed itself on majority rule.

"We already know James Hamilton Lewis is a wet, and that Mrs. McCormick has said she will follow the will of the voters in the referendum," read a statement from the W. C. T. U. "We also know that Mrs. O'Neill is a conscientious dry. With these positions clear it has seemed unnecessary and useless to sponsor a particular candidate, for no matter who is elected, if the people declare in unquestionable terms their dry convictions, they cannot be ignored.

"All our energies and all our money therefore will be spent to get voters to write 'No' on the repeal of the 18th amendment, the Volstead act, and our own state prohibition law, the three propositions which will be on the ballot."

Greater Clothing Values Seen at Chicago Stores

There's extra incentive for being well-dressed these days. The cost of clothing has come down—and to prove it all you have to do is make a little tour of the stores. Examination of the price tickets on the suits now on display in a number of representative stores will force the conclusion that values are the most attractive in years.

It all started months ago with the fall in commodity prices. Decline in the cost of woolens has quickly been reflected in the price of men's clothing.

But the lowering of prices hasn't meant that manufacturers have skimped on style. Far from it. The range of choice is greater than ever. You'll be struck with the variety that goes with the new low prices. And this is true for shirts, ties, hats and socks as well as for suits.

We emphasize it: Now's a great time to buy clothing.

Fires Flare Up All Over City.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 9 (2:20 a. m.)—The first connected account of last night's happenings follows: An excited civilian fired at an infantry officer stationed on the Plaza Mayo, whereupon troops took alarm and began exchanging shots with reinforcements arriving for the Third infantry. In the resulting confusion numerous civilians lost their heads and began promiscuous shooting.

[By Wireless Telephone.]

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 9, 2:30 a. m. [Tuesday].—Buenos Aires was torn last night by a counter-revolution attributed to partisans of the deposed President Hipolito Yrigoyen while the capital was in the midst of a wildly enthusiastic celebration of the swearing in of Gen. José Uriburu as provisional president.

Firing broke out in many parts of the city, apparently as the result of a carefully organized plot.

No accurate estimate of the casualties could be obtained from official sources, but it was certain that a number had been killed and scores wounded. The killed, it was feared, might number as high as twenty. The wounded, it was believed, may run as high as 200.

Put Torch to Armory.

Fires were set here and there about the city and it was reported that a large armory in the center of the capital near the government house was burning.

The forces of the provisional government, reinforced by hundreds of citizens, who voluntarily armed themselves, got the situation under control toward midnight and at that time President Uriburu announced there was no further occasion for alarm.

Orders were issued for the arrest of ex-President Yrigoyen, who has been in the barracks of the 7th infanty at La Plata, 25 miles from the capital, apparently in serious condition from pneumonia. He was to be brought to police headquarters under arrest. His status since his flight at the time of the revolution last Saturday virtually has been that of a guest and orders had been issued that every possible courtesy and comfort be extended him.

Order Old Cabinet Jailed.

Orders of arrest also were out early today for former members of Yrigoyen's cabinet, for many leading members of the senate and the house of deputies under the Yrigoyen régime, and for practically all the leaders of the radical party which Yrigoyen had organized and led until his recent overthrow.

The whole city was thrown into intense confusion when the shooting broke out in earnest at about 8:30 o'clock last night. At first there were reports that shots had been fired into the city from some of the thirteen Argentine warships anchored in the harbor. Other reports were that various army units had revolted and that the military academy had been captured by counter-revolutionists.

Early today these reports were emphatically denied and the fighting was attributed to roving bands of armed enemies of the new government.

Government House Storm Center.

The storm center of the fighting was around government house and in the great Plaza de Mayo, on which the government house fronts and which constitutes the social, political, commercial, and amusement center of this metropolis of 2,000,000 inhabitants.

It was here that there occurred the sudden attack of the army and civilians on the government of Yrigoyen's partisans last Saturday which resulted in the driving out of the old government in a battle which cost a score of lives.

As soon as the situation had been brought under control the forces of the Uriburu government took steps to demobilize the voluntary army which had collected. Citizens were told that the danger was over and were urged to return their weapons to the police stations and the barracks. Sailors from the ships were sent in to give up their arms as an example to the civilians.

Search for Leaders.

Then the newly established government set about to discover the identity of the ringleaders. Orders were sent out for the arrest of ex-President Yrigoyen, his cabinet ministers, the legislative leaders and members of all the radical committees. No announcement was made as to what would be done with them except that the provisional government meant to find out from them who was guilty of perpetrating the attack.

The unexpected violence of last night was all the more a shock to the populace because of the enthusiasm and gayety which had attended the inauguration of the new government into office yesterday afternoon when it had appeared that the Uriburu régime was embraced by the people unanimously.

HOPELESS CONFUSION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 8.—[Special.]—The new administration has found such hopeless confusion in some departments that it hardly hopes to restore order from chaos for many months.

One room in the ministry of the interior is said to contain many piles of documents, each two yards high, which were awaiting Yrigoyen's signature.

While there were many important matters among the documents, there were thousands of petty matters such as the appointment of postmen and custom house clerks. There were also copies of documents ordering the discharge of thousands of nonradical public servants to make way for political adherents.

This same spot was the scene yesterday afternoon of one of the most extraordinary demonstrations in the history of Argentina when 250,000 persons assembled in the plaza to witness the swearing in of Gen. Uriburu as provisional president, along with the members of his cabinet and high officers of the army and navy.

National Holiday Declared.

A national holiday had been declared in honor of the occasion and the streets were thronged with singing, cheering multitudes, shouting their loyalty to the new government. Men, women, and children had paraded with banners through the streets and there had been a colorful and imposing parade of the armed forces of the republic.

It all had ended late in the afternoon, but hundreds of thousands of the citizens had remained in the center of the city, in the theaters and cafés which front on the Avenue de Mayo within pistol shot of the government house, and the crowds had made it a gala night of celebration in every open spot in the center of the capital.

Then, early in the evening, there came the sound of shots, first down by the river front, beyond which lay the warships, then, as if at a signal, in a dozen widely separated points, converging on the Plaza de Mayo and the government house.

Fire On Crowds in Street.

Groups of armed men appeared at strategic corners here and began raking the crowded street with rifle and machine gun fire. Instantly the populace was thrown into the wildest confusion. The partisans of the new government, many thousands strong, had come to the celebration unarmed, and they broke for shelter into buildings and in doorways. Women were menaced along with the men.

On the pavement, after the panic stricken crowds had deserted it, helpless figures of the killed or wounded remained. A few minutes after the first shots were heard ambulances were racing about the streets picking up the victims.

There were many officers and soldiers in the crowds, and these mobilized into defensive groups as swiftly as they could. Gradually the civilians began to overcome their first fright, and many of them went to police headquarters and to the arsenal in the center of the city and drew weapons to repel the counter revolutionists.

Hunt Down Attackers.

Then they formed in patrols and, with policemen and soldiers leading them, set out through the city to hunt down the attackers. According to reports to the government forces, the counter revolutionists withdrew into hiding as soon as they found themselves opposed in force, and the firing gradually died down. By 11 o'clock last night it virtually had ended.

Charles Shore Harper of Chicago, manager of the Buenos Aires branch of the Walkover Shoe company, underwent an exciting experience during the height of the revolutionary frenzy on Saturday when a mob stormed the luxurious El Molino café, which is situated across the street from the congress building.

Chicagoan Holds Mob at Bay.

Mr. Harper occupies a flat on the third floor above the café, and when the mob entered searching for machine guns which were believed to be placed somewhere in the building Mr. Harper undertook the job of saving his friends and neighbors from possible rough usage or worse from the excited mob.

He stood for a long while in the passageway with two guns up in William S. Hart fashion and succeeded in holding the assailants at bay until relief came from the police.

As a reward for his efforts he underwent 36 hours in a police cell pending an investigation as to why he was carrying arms in a threatening manner. Mr. Harper's indignation is taking another 36 hours to cool off.

Braves Guns, Aids Chicagoan.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 8.—(AP)—An American vice consul in Buenos Aires was commended by cable today to the state department for "bravery and devotion" in defying rifle fire during the Argentine revolution to obtain the release of an American citizen.

Informed that Frederik Henry Radel, 22, of Chicago had been imprisoned by the military police, charged with the possession of a revolver, the cable said Vice Consul Ralph Miller of New York City traversed on three occasions streets swept by sporadic rifle fire before obtaining Mr. Radel's freedom.

Report Trouble in Uruguay.

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Sept. 8.—(AP)—The Uruguayan government tonight received official notices of inception of a revolutionary movement in the Brazilian state of Rio Grande do Sul. The government has sent two regiments of cavalry to the frontier to insure neutrality of this country.

There have been frequent reports in the past of revolutionary outbreaks in the state of Rio Grande do Sul, Brazil, but the Rio de Janeiro government always has denied them.

Such advices of actual clashes as have reached the exterior always have indicated that such disturbances as might have existed there were of minor character.

PERU DETAINS YANKEE CONTRACTOR TO PROBE USE OF BUILDING FUND

LIMA, Peru, Sept. 8.—(AP)—J. H. Gildred, American manager of the J. H. Gildred company, an American concern building the new palace of justice and new market buildings, was still detained by agents of the new government today, pending an audit of funds received under former President Leguia's administration. Mr. Gildred was arrested yesterday when he arrived at Callao aboard the steamer Santa Clara. Two other Americans, Lieutenant Commander Grow and Charles W. Sutton were reported about to be released yesterday pending legal action, but are still being held by the revolutionary junta.

The government today ordered two physicians to see the deposed president, Augusto B. Leguia, daily at San Lorenzo Isle, the penal institution, where he is confined, seriously ill with a nervous breakdown. The physicians were ordered to observe his needs "free from any political discrimination, considering him as any other patient who, owing to his responsibility before the nation, is detained in that place."

The governments of Ecuador and Italy today recognized the military junta which was formed by Lieut. Col. Luis M. Sanchez Cerro when he overthrew the Leguia government recently. The Chilean ambassador today denied the report that he intended to retire, though the Uruguayan legation has decided to withdraw.

RIOT FOR FOOD IN SAN DOMINGO; CALL OUT TROOPS

Starving Victims Storm Ship Landing Supplies.

SANTO DOMINGO, Sept. 8.—(AP)—Only the coolness of officers of the Dominican army and of the United States mine sweeper Grebe saved hurricane stricken Santo Domingo from a food riot today.

Hundreds of men, women, and children, many of whom have not had any food since the city was destroyed by a hurricane last Wednesday, tried to seize provisions which were brought by launches and other light craft to wharves along the banks of the River Ozama. The Dominican and American officers quickly posted their men in strategic positions so as to hold back the crowds until speakers could assure them that rations would be distributed as soon as possible.

Food Is Doled Out.

Government authorities and Red Cross workers took up the difficult task of keeping the hungry people orderly while food was doled out at impromptu canteens set up in churches, government buildings, and old Spanish stone houses. Rolling kitchens cooked the food, which was brought by several vessels that had to anchor in the Caribbean, being unable to dock at the wharves because the Ozama has been on a rampage since the storm of last week.

Foodstuffs, medical supplies, nurses, doctors, and relief workers were brought today by the S. S. Ruth Lykes from Ponce, Porto Rico. The S. S. Tryton arrived with a cargo of rice from Europe. The Genevieve Lykes was expected tonight with provisions and medical supplies.

Gangrene Attacks Victims.

A hospital survey completed today revealed that more than 1,200 seriously injured patients are receiving treatment in 13 hospitals. Many of them suffer from gangrenous affection. Almost all have infections of some kind. Those in the hospitals are in addition to the hundreds of injured who are receiving treatment in churches, schools, homes, and public buildings. Doctors say the number of injured outside of hospitals far exceeds the 1,200 shown in the survey.

Water, the city's greatest immediate need, probably will be available before morning. An aqueduct has been repaired for bringing water from inland sources, and tonight President Trujillo was informed that the water was flowing toward the city and that a plentiful supply could be expected within 15 hours. Instructions were immediately issued for the closing of all water taps in the city.

U. S. Surgical Aid Sent.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 8.—(AP)—Prompt response was given by the navy today to a call from Santo Domingo for surgical instruments, "especially those used in amputations," for use in treating thousands of gangrenous cases reported spreading over the disease threatened city.

The American Red Cross received reports that 1,000 patients had been examined for gangrenous infections and that medical supplies from adjacent regions had been exhausted.

Within five hours a navy plane had hopped off for Philadelphia for a load of anti-tetanus serum and antitoxins, and two others had been ordered to depart for the naval station at Norfolk, Va., at dawn tomorrow to take on a cargo of bandages and medical supplies. Present plans were for the planes to meet at Norfolk tomorrow, interchange cargoes and take off immediately for Santo Domingo.

ASK CHICAGO TO AID.

Chicagoans may aid the storm torn area of Santo Domingo through the Chicago chapter of the American Red Cross, 616 South Michigan avenue. James T. Nicholson, manager of the Chicago chapter, made the announcement yesterday after a telegram from the national headquarters of the Red Cross. Owing to the type of relief supplies needed, contributions of supplies are not being solicited. Checks should be made payable to the Santo Domingo hurricane relief fund.

COUNTY G. O. P. CAUCUS PICKS JUDICIAL SLATE AND DRAFTS PLATFORM

Planks calling for a national constitutional convention to repeal the eighteenth amendment and opposing the state income tax amendment are to be presented to Cook county Republicans in their convention this afternoon at the Sherman hotel. The platform was drafted yesterday at a caucus, which also framed a slate of candidates for the six vacancies in the Superior and Circuit courts which are to be filled in November.

The judicial slate, as it stood last night, subject to changes today, follows:

James W. Breen, first assistant corporation counsel.

Howard Hayes, municipal judge.

John F. Haas, municipal judge.

For the vacancy on the county ticket caused by the resignation of Ald. Arthur Albert [43d] from the county commissioners' race, the caucus tentatively decided on Samuel R. Ballis.

The Democratic county organization meets Thursday to pick its judicial candidates. Leaders say the slate will not be completed until the Republicans have chosen their ticket. A tentative Democratic slate last night was as follows: Walter Stanton, ex-Judge Charles A. McDonald, Municipal Judge Joseph Burke, Ross C. Hall, and Joseph Graber. For the sixth place several were spoken of, among them Leo Doyle, Municipal Judge James F. Fardy, and Municipal Judge Donald S. McKinlay.

DUNCAN, CAUSE OF PANAMA CABINET UPHEAVAL, QUITS

PANAMA CITY, Sept. 8.—(AP)—A reliable source reported tonight that Jeptha B. Duncan, secretary of public instruction, the storm center of the cabinet, had resigned tonight and thus followed three other cabinet members who had resigned in protest against Señor Duncan, who is President Florencio Arosemena's cousin.

The same source said that R. F. Clement, minister of agriculture, would be the fifth of the cabinet to resign.

Girl Held to Grand Jury for Plot to Kill Chief

Seventeen year old Lucyle Wilkinson, 329 West 106th place, was held to the grand jury in bonds of $5,000 yesterday by Magistrate Frank Stewart in the Midlothian police court, when arraigned on a charge of assault and attempted murder. The intended victim was Chief of Police A. A. Terry of Midlothian. The girl and her sweetheart, Emil Kleckner, 19 years old, lured Terry to a lonely swamp to rob him "because we needed the money to get married," according to Lucyle's confession. As Terry stepped from his car, Kleckner swung a club at him, Terry being saved only by the fact that he made a misstep, spoiling the youth's aim. Kleckner has evaded the police since.

U. S. WILL APPEAL LIQUOR CHARGES AGAINST DENISON

Government Will Push Congressman's Case.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 8.—[Special.]—United States District Attorney Leo A. Rover today announced his intention of appealing to the District of Columbia Court of Appeals the government's case against Representative E. E. Denison [Rep., Ill.] on the charge of liquor possession.

Denison, who was listed by the Anti-Saloon league as a "dry Republican" and indorsed by that organization last March for reelection, was indicted last November, eleven months after prohibition agents found a trunk containing liquor in his office in the house office building. The representative declared that the trunk had been shipped to him through error by an express company.

Justice Peyton Gordon of the District of Columbia Supreme court last June 30 sustained a demurrer to the indictment on the ground that it failed to specify the time of possession or accurately describe the nature of the contraband in the trunk. At that time District Attorney Rover filed notice of appeal, but it was necessary for him to obtain permission from the department of justice before taking further steps. He said today that he has received such an authorization.

The district attorney has until Sept. 10 to file the record in the case in the appeals court. He will do so probably tomorrow.

In asking permission to appeal, Rover pointed out that every indictment reported by the grand jury in a case for sale of liquor has a possession count in the identical language to which Justice Gordon took exception.

BULL AND SPECTATOR ARE KILLED BY SAME SWORD; JAIL MATADOR

MADRID, Sept. 8.—(AP)—A spectator and a bull were killed by the same sword a few seconds apart at a bullfight today.

After the matador stabbed the bull fatally, the infuriated animal made a desperate thrust with its horns and hurled the sword over a wall. The falling weapon killed a man who had been watching the sport.

Matador Is Gored.

BARCELONA, Sept. 8.—(AP)—Fausto Barajas, a bull fighter, was gored today. A bull lifted the matador with its horns, forking him through the chest with one horn and through a thigh with the other.

CUBA UNEARTHS REVOLT PLOT; OCCUPY CITY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, Sept. 8.—Military occupation of the city of Palma Soriano, Oriente province, was decreed this morning in an order by Secretary of the Interior Delgado, following the discovery of a plot to attack the military garrison and start a revolution. Members of the Nationalist party are alleged responsible.

Secret service operators have been trailing the activities of the Nationalists here and in other communities for some time, and, according to plans revealed today, a series of surprise attacks on military garrisons were to be carried out.

It is believed that the attacks were to be made with the idea of starting a campaign of dissatisfaction among the officers and enlisted men against the present administration. Street meetings have been prohibited and cavalry is patrolling the streets while the police are engaged in arresting the leaders of the seditious movement.

Council to Get Revised Building Code on Nov. 5

Building Commissioner Paschen yesterday announced that the revision of Chicago's building code will be ready for submission to the city council Nov. 5. The revision work has taken three years. The new code will make possible a savings of 18 per cent in construction costs. The Illinois Society of Architects and the Society of Western Engineers have appointed committees to review the revised code.

Press Vagrancy Charges Against Gangsters.

$55,725 IN REWARDS.

Rewards totaling $55,725 are offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the slayer of Alfred Lingle. Of the $25,000 reward offered by The Tribune $10,000 will be paid to any person who will give confidential information identifying the slayer of Lingle. All information should be sent to the headquarters established by State's Attorney Swanson in room 303 Temple building, 77 West Washington street, Telephone State 3729.

Chief Justice McGoorty of the criminal court yesterday gave freedom to two gangsters who had been sentenced by Judge John H. Lyle in the Municipal court to serve six months' imprisonment at hard labor and fined $100 each for vagrancy.

Within five minutes of their release, however, both hoodlums were rearrested by Sergt. David Levin of the staff of Pat Roche, chief investigator for State's Attorney Swanson, on charges of vagrancy.

Prosecution to Be Pressed.

Charles F. Rathbun, special assistant state's attorney in charge of the investigation of the murder of Alfred Lingle, stated after the hearing that the two gangsters, Izzy Alderman and Joe Condi, would be prosecuted with every resource of the law.

"We shall continue this prosecution of Alderman and Condi," Mr. Rathbun said. "We believe that the vagrancy law covers hoodlums like these two outlaws, and that it can be used to imprison other gangsters who have believed themselves above the law.

"The case against Alderman and Condi will be fought through the courts. If the vagrancy law cannot be invoked to curb gangsters, as we feel confident it can, we want some judge to say so."

Taken Before Judge Lyle.

After their rearrest by Sergt. Levin, the two hoodlums, both of whom have police records, were taken before Judge Lyle, who signed the new complaints against them, and ordered them held in bonds of $20,000 each. At first he had fixed the bail at $10,000 each, but when it was suggested to the judge that the gangsters might be able to supply such a bond he doubled the amount.

"If I thought they could raise these bonds, I'd make them still higher," Judge Lyle said.

Despite the increase in the bonds, however, the two men were able to give them, and early this morning they were released from custody. The bonds were signed by Gaetano Anselmo, 1100 North Austin boulevard, who scheduled $140,000 worth of real estate. The bonds were approved by Municipal Court Judge A. O. Erickson.

The gangsters will be arraigned before Judge Lyle at 2 o'clock this afternoon, when it is expected a continuance will be granted the state, pending an investigation of the law to determine whether action should be taken to compel Chief Justice McGoorty to expunge his release order from the record or to try the gangsters again on the new charge.

The hearing before Chief Justice McGoorty was on a writ of habeas corpus obtained by Attorney Benjamin Feldman, counsel for the gangsters. It was after the issuance of this writ that the two prisoners were sentenced by Judge Lyle.

Policeman on Stand.

Lieut. Frank Johnson, who arrested the two hoodlums, was put on the stand by Assistant State's Attorney O. J. Chott, habeas corpus expert of the state's attorney's office.

He testified that he had arraigned the two prisoners before Judge Lyle after he had been informed by Assistant State's Attorney Rathbun that Chief Justice McGoorty had promised to dismiss the writ of habeas corpus if the two men were booked by 3 o'clock on the afternoon of the issuance of the writ.

Prosecutor Rathbun then took the witness chair. He testified to the conversation between himself and the chief justice, saying that Judge McGoorty had stated over the telephone that there was no need for the prisoners to be produced before him if they were booked before 3 o'clock, and that he would dismiss the writ.

Chief Justice McGoorty intervened to say that there was no question as to the conversation described by Attorney Rathbun having been held.

Prosecutor Chott then argued for dismissal of the proceedings before Judge McGoorty.

"It is traditional in law that applicants for the court's mercy must themselves have clean hands," he said. "These men have defied the rights of the people. They have been lawless felons, preying upon the good citizens for whom our constitution was written.

"These men were arrested in connection with the investigation of the murder of Alfred Lingle. They are charged with vagrancy and they should be made to answer to that charge and to suffer the consequences according to law. If your honor dismisses them they will not be made to answer."

McGoorty Reads Opinion.

Attorney David Silbert then advanced to the bar and, introducing himself as a friend of the court, attacked the state's attorney and Judge Lyle. He was stopped by the court before he got far, however, and Judge McGoorty then read his opinion, which had been prepared before he heard the evidence and arguments in the case.

"While it is true," the chief justice said, "that the Criminal court of Cook county has no general authority to review the judgment of the Municipal court of Chicago, it is equally well settled that when a prisoner is held under the sentence of that court in regard to a matter wholly beyond or without the jurisdiction of such court, it is not only within the authority of the Criminal court of Cook county, but it is its duty to inquire into the cause of commitment, when the matter is properly brought to its attention, and if found to be as charged, a matter of which such court had no jurisdiction, to discharge the prisoner from confinement. This is the doctrine of the Supreme court of the United States."

Judge Discusses Agreement.

Judge McGoorty then discussed the agreement he had made with Prosecutor Rathbun to dismiss the writ, asserting that it was not considered in the agreement that the gangsters would be delivered to the Municipal court, or that the writ could be dismissed without the consent of the defendants' attorney.

"It is contended," Judge McGoorty said, "that the relators are public malefactors. In such event they may be proceeded against, upon the termination of this proceeding, by lawfully constituted authority."

The chief justice then dismissed the two prisoners. They hurried from the courtroom with Attorney Feldman, and, evidently sensing that they might be rearrested, dashed down the stairways of the Criminal court building. At the street, however, they were met by Sergt. Levin, who collared a man with each of his long arms, and announced they were under arrest for vagrancy.

Attorney Feldman protested that Levin was in contempt of court, and declared the policeman couldn't take his clients prisoners unless they took him also. So Feldman was loaded into the van with the two gangsters.

Prosecutor Rathbun indicated last night that he will request a continuance today when the case against Frank Foster, indicted for the murder of Daniel P. Trude, is called before Judge Daniel P. Trude. The state wants to investigate additional phases of the murder before revealing its evidence against Foster.

Tommy Abbott, Chicago gangster, failed to appear in Rockford yesterday when a case against him was called. He is charged with stealing $8,000 worth of jewelry from Ralph M. West of Milwaukee. The gangster's wife, with his bondsman, Solly Friedman, appeared and informed State's Attorney W. D. Knight she believed Abbott had been killed by gangsters.

CONVICT DOORMAN OF AUTO THEFT.

Rudolph Weaver, 23 years old, 348 East 49th street, Negro doorman at the Cinderella café, 6353 Cottage Grove avenue, was sentenced to 6 months in jail yesterday by Judge Max Luster in Grand Crossing court. John L. Buckner Jr., manager of the Corn Products company at Argo, testified Weaver tried to steal his car when he left it at the café last Saturday.

Interest Pays

A fund that had its origin back in 1866 still was working yesterday for the Chicago Home for the Friendless, 5059 Vincennes avenue. Every child in the orphanage received a new pair of shoes to wear during the school year just starting. Seven years after the home was founded, in 1859, Mrs. Mancel Talcott left as a memorial to her husband a fund to be known as the "anniversary fund." Each year the interest provides new shoes for boys and girls between a year and a half and 13 years old.

BOY GETS $100 FOR HELPING TO CAPTURE ROBBER

Clarence Schulz of 2221 North 75th avenue, Elmwood Park, a 15 year old messenger boy for the Western Union Telegraph company, was given a check for $100 yesterday for bravery in helping to capture a robber who had held up one of the company's branch offices.

Herbert Brown, superintendent of the company, who presented the check, said that on Aug. 28 a gunman held up Frederick B. White, manager of the Western Union office at 166 East Grand avenue, and obtained $22.80.

The robber warned all employés to remain quiet, but Clarence ran out and obtained the license number of the car, Mr. Brown said. The police were called in and the holdup man was captured in thirty minutes.

Clarence's mother saw him receive the check and the commendations of the company officials. The boy goes to continuation school.

TWO WOMEN VICTIMS IDENTIFY BERWYN KILLER

Berwyn, Cicero, and Chicago police were exultant yesterday over their capture of Rudolph Hegovic, 21 years old, 2503 South 58th court, Cicero, the young purse snatcher who confessed the murder of Mrs. Marie Pelletier in Berwyn last May 22. Two other women shot under identical circumstances yesterday identified Hegovic as their assailant, and a third, who was crippled for life by the bullet that struck her, is expected to identify him later.

Hegovic, who technically was in custody of Capt. Hugh McCarthy of the Town Hall district, where he was captured fleeing from another robbery Thursday night, yesterday reënacted for police from all three departments the hitherto mysterious shooting of Mrs. Pelletier. He admitted shooting one other woman in Berwyn, but said he could not tell who she was.

Disputes Police on Details.

As the pallid faced, sharp featured youth walked about the scene of the Pelletier murder at 2521 South Ridgeland avenue, Berwyn, his hands clasped behind his back in the manner of a person in deep study, he paused frequently to dispute pettishly with Capt. McCarthy the trivial details of his story. He grew snappishly argumentative time after time.

As his story unfolded police began to entertain the theory that he probably is responsible for other major, unsolved crimes. He was therefore taken to 5835 West 57th street, scene of the murder of Emil Schwartz, a butcher, but denied strenuously that he had ever seen the place before.

Compare Lavender Case Clews.

Both Assistant State's Attorney Ditchburne, who accompanied the police, and Capt. McCarthy said an effort will be made to connect Hegovic with the slaying of Mrs. Agnes Lavender last February. His footprints will be compared with those found in the mud near the Forest Glen station of the Milwaukee line, where Mrs. Lavender was killed while she waited for a train.

Hegovic completed three years of study at the J. Sterling Morton High school in Cicero with excellent grades, police learned in their study of his career.

Town Hall police captured Hegovic on an elevated station as he fled after shoting into the air when Mrs. Hans Dose of 1315 Argyle street resisted his effort to rob her of her pocket book. Capt. James Mikes, Lieut. J. Cihak, and Sergt. Joseph Pilot of the Berwyn police heard of the arrest and questioned Hegovic because of the similar methods used in the Pelletier murder. The youth confessed.

Then came Sergts. S. Ficht and A. Vanek of Cicero, bringing Miss Esther Zavboch of 2708 South Lombard avenue, Cicero, who was shot in the arm by a robber on April 23, between 22d and 23d streets on 62d avenue, and Mrs. Zablokrtsky of 5507 West 23d place, shot just above the heart on April 22d in a robbery on 59th avenue between 21st and 22d streets. Both declared Hegovic had shot them.

Arrested, Gun Returned.

Mrs. Catherine Picha, 2217 South 59th street, shot in the hip on May 12 on 61st avenue between 23d and 24th street, has been bedfast since but will be given an opportunity to see whether she can identify the prisoner.

During June Hegovic says he went to New Orleans and on his way back was arrested by police at Jackson, Miss., under the name of Henry Ware. The revolver with which he killed Mrs. Pelletier was taken from him and confiscated by the police, he asserts. A telegram from the chief of police at Jackson yesterday stated that the weapon had been returned to him when he was released.

Hegovic appears to have been a lone wolf personality all his life. He told interviewers he never had had a chum, either boy or girl, which was corroborated by his family. His grades at school were unusually high in subjects such as history, spelling, and mathematics.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Louis Dean, James Johnson and Oscar Williams, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years each in the penitentiary by Judge Joseph B. David.

Edward Walz and Michael Rozelick, robbery [changed to petty larceny], sentenced to 1 year each in the Bridewell; James C. Williams and Roy Ralston, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life each in the penitentiary by Judge Phillip Finnegan.

CLERK ADMITS $640,000 THEFT OVER 25 YEARS

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, Sept. 8.—A 57 year old clerk in a Paris notary's office confessed today that over a period of twenty-five years he had robbed his employer of $640,000.

The elderly clerk, Pierre Lasternas by name, said he had always managed by some means to make his books look satisfactory and had evaded detection by numerous other employés.

This entire sum, he said, he had squandered in attempts to recoup and repay. He had tried various kinds of investments and lost thousands on race horses.

$10,000,000 Claims Filed Against Valueless Estate

More than $10,000,000 in claims against the estate of Elbert R. Robinson, colored, who for a number of years fought street car companies and railroads for royalities on the grounds that he had patented the electric trolley, were filed with Mitchell C. Robin, clerk of the Probate court yesterday. Robinson died in 1924, leaving practically no estate.

CUTMORE WARNS ASSESSORS OF FINANCE PERIL

Hits Failure to Increase Assessments.

Declaring that the failure of the board of assessors to place proper valuations on real estate in the 1929 assessment is laying the foundation for further increases in tax rates and is endangering the whole system of local finances, Harry S. Cutmore, director of the board's staff of appraisers, yesterday served notice on the assessors that he will assume no responsibility for the board's action.

Twice within the last ten days the assessors have ignored the recommendation of Cutmore's technical staff for increases in valuations over the 1928 reassessment figures. Cutmore was instructed to forget about raising the assessment of the small property owners, but to "bring in the big fellows, the fellows with the money."

Assessor Charles Ringer asserted that figures on properties underassessed by error should not be corrected because there were only two more taxes to be collected before the next quadrennial reassessment.

Cutmore Serves Notice.

Cutmore made his stand known in a written communication to the board. He pointed out that the board recently approved unit maps for all of Chicago, providing for increases to preserve uniformity in the assessment roll. And yet when the property owners appeared before them the assessors refused to uphold the recommended increases, he said.

Cutmore emphasized that each increase was supported by figures on sales and leases and other data. His statement follows in part:

"I am advised that a substantial reduction in the total assessment roll for 1929 will have very serious consequences to the city, county, school board, and other local governments. I wish to clear myself of any responsibility for such a result.

Sees Danger to Finances.

"To permit these underassessments to continue throughout the remainder of the current quadrennial period is a very real danger to the whole system of local finances, besides being extremely unfair to the large majority of taxpayers who must pay 1929 and 1930 taxes upon the proper and uniform level."

The only comment on Cutmore's warning came from Assessor Ringer, who said: "We ought to vote for increases where they belong."

After Cutmore had stated his position the board confirmed increases on the 17 cases remaining on the docket of land parcels on south side streets.

To Sell Land for Taxes.

An application to sell at public auction between 300,000 and 400,000 parcels of real estate in Cook county for default of payment of 1929 taxes was filed by County Treasurer George F. Harding yesterday with County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki. The judge announced that property owners who have failed to pay all or part of their taxes will be given until Saturday noon to file objections. A total of 286 objections was filed yesterday. More than $25,000,000 in taxes is involved in the delinquent list.

BLACK ANSWERS REPORT ON I. N. G. FUND SHORTAGE

Denies He Heard of Case Early in '29.

Adjt. Gen. Carlos E. Black of the Illinois National Guard yesterday denied reports that he was apprised of irregularities at the Broadway armory, involving Col. Charles J. Kraft, former commander of the 202d coast artillery, as early as April of 1929.

"The first time I heard about the charges against Col. Kraft was when the state auditor made his report, and that was some time last fall," said Gen. Black.

Black Makes Statement.

The adjutant general made this assertion when asked about reports current at the federal building that an army investigator met him in the offices of the 33d division, which then were at 10 South La Salle street, in April, 1929.

The investigater was reported to have informed Adjt. Gen. Black of alleged irregularities in the handling of funds in Col. Kraft's regiment and to have told him the government was conducting an inquiry. Gen. Black was told that state funds as well as federal were involved, according to the reports.

Gen. Black, it was reported, announced that he would immediately order an investigation. No action was taken by state authorities for several months. The government's inquiry was continued, and last October the case was turned over to the United States attorney's office for prosecution, which resulted in the indictment of Col. Kraft and the disclosure of a $200,000 Illinois National Guard shortage.

Report Governor Informed.

It also was reported at the federal building that Gov. Emmerson was apprised of the government's inquiry by the United States attorney's office last October, and that the governor declared himself in favor of a thorough investigation.

Last March, according to the reports, the charges against Col. Kraft assumed such weight as to warrant the belief that Col. Kraft should be relieved of his command. At this point, the reports say, a federal investigator went to Gov. Emmerson and expressed this opinion. The governor, it is reported, immediately ordered the commanding officer, Maj. Gen. Roy D. Keehn, to attend to the matter.

Adjt. Gen. Black, who is second to Gen. Keehn in command of the guard, was ill, and Col. Richings J. Shand issued the orders relieving Col. Kraft, pending the investigation. At the same time a board of inquiry was appointed to ascertain whether Kraft was "morally fitted" to resume command.

Col. Kraft Resigns.

The board of inquiry permitted Kraft to resign with his rank and the announcement that the resignation was accepted came the next day after the return of the federal indictment in July.

The relieving of Col. Kraft and the appointment of this board of inquiry constituted the only action taken by state authorities in the guard scandal. There were persistent reports that the guard officials exerted pressure to obtain the demotion of Arthur R. Johnson, the army investigator who exposed the swindle.

Johnson, who was transferred from his position as an investigator, was reinstated by the war department last week.

ILLINOIS LOSES 10% OF ITS FARMS DURING DECADE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 8.—[Special.]—Nearly ten per cent of the farms in Illinois, abandoned or swallowed up by growing cities, disappeared during the last decade, the census bureau reported today in announcing the results of farm enumeration in the state.

In 1929 Illinois had 237,181 farms and in 1930 only 214,871, a decrease of 22,310, or 9.4 per cent. Between 1925 and 1930 the decrease was 4.8 per cent, showing that the trend away from the farms apparently is growing stronger.

The inroads on agricultural lands were heaviest in the Chicago metropolitan region, where several thousand farms went out of existence. Within the limits of Cook county there were 5,305 farms in 1920. These diminished to 3,352 in 1930, a decrease of 1,953, or 36.8 per cent.

GARY POLITICIAN GETS 2 TO 14 YRS. FOR POLL FRAUD

As an aftermath of the primary election in Gary, Ind., last May, when Chicago waitresses were taken to Gary to vote as repeaters, Owen O'Malia, Gary politician, was sentenced to two to fourteen years in prison and fined $1,000 for violating the Indiana election laws yesterday by Judge Horton Smith in Lake County Criminal court. O'Malia was campaign manager for William J. Fulton, Republican county commissioner and candidate for renomination, who committed suicide two days after being defeated in the primary.

Joseph Carlson, convicted with O'Malia, failed to appear for sentence. His $5,000 bond was forfeited and he was declared a fugitive. William Marquardt and Charles Parker Jr., who pleaded guilty on the same charge, testifying for the state, received suspended sentences.

BRIDE GETS WRIT FOR CHILD BORN OUT OF WEDLOCK

Baby's Father Helps Her and Her Husband.

A 19 year old mother, her husband, and another man, who is the father of her illegitimate baby, joined forces in legal proceedings yesterday to obtain the custody of Dolores Irene March, 18 months old. The details of this strange case were told to Superior Judge Gentzel, who was asked to issue a writ of habeas corpus to compel Mrs. Ella M. Novak, the baby's grandmother, to surrender the child.

The mother is Mrs. Helen March Farwell of 330 North Austin boulevard, Oak Park, an artists' model, who says she frequently has posed for illustrations used in the advertisements of a popular make of toothpaste.

Says Mother Holds Baby.

With her husband, Clifford Farwell, 24 years old, and their attorney, Jay J. McCarthy, Mrs. Farwell went before Judge Gentzel and declared that her mother, Mrs. Novak, has held the child for five months and refuses to give it up.

The writ was granted without notice, but when a deputy sheriff tried to serve Mrs. Novak it was found she had disappeared with the baby. Roomers at her home, 5519 South Throop street, reported that she had packed the baby's belongings and left hurriedly in an automobile. Additional deputies were ordered to aid in the search and the hearing was continued until today.

Mrs. Farwell said the baby was born March 4, 1929. The baby's father, she said, is Walter Real, 21 years old, a commercial artist for whom she had often posed as a model. Soon after the baby's birth, she said, she went to live with her mother. Last April she moved from her mother's home, she said, leaving the baby behind. She married Farwell on June 20.

Would Adopt Child.

"I told my husband everything," Mrs. Farwell said. "He sides with me in my determination to claim my baby. He wants to adopt Dolores and give her his name. Mother has no real love for Dolores. She wants the baby merely as a boarder."

According to Attorney McCarthy, Mrs. Farwell has paid her mother $30 a week for the baby's support. Mrs. Novak has contended that her daughter owes her for the baby's support and refuses to give her up for that reason.

Mrs. Farwell's petition charges that her mother is unfit to care for the baby. It alleges that when Mrs. Farwell called at her mother's home last week to claim the baby Mrs. Novak refused to let her see the child and declared that she would leave the state with her if court action was begun.

After Mrs. Novak made repeated demands upon Real for money for the child's support, the attorney said, Real got in touch with Farwell. As a result, a conference was held last Saturday. It was the first time Farwell and Real had met, the attorney said. Real volunteered to appear in court and testify in behalf of the baby's mother and her husband.

Real and Farwell did not speak to each other when they went before Judge Gentzel in the morning. Neither would Mrs. Farwell recognize the father of her baby.

A settlement of $1,100 was made by Real after the baby's birth, Mrs. Farwell said. This is being turned over to Mrs. Novak in annual installments of $100.

SIX POLICEMEN ARE SUSPENDED PENDING INQUIRY

Acting Police Commissioner Alcock yesterday suspended six policemen pending an investigation into charges against them. According to statements made to Alcock, Policeman Harry J. O'Connor of the Stanton avenue station shot at his wife during an argument, Policemen John H. Donlin, Albany Park, and Stephen Howard, Cragin, were disarmed by holdup men in a robbery of a soft drink parlor; Policeman Theodore J. Kettman of the North Damen avenue station permitted a motorist to escape after an accident, and Policemen Emmett J. Irwin, Kensington, and Victor Sherhart, Englewood, who are assigned to the 79th street beach, spent some of the time they were supposed to be on duty in riding in a car rented by Mrs. Elizabeth Deubel, 8924 South Bishop street. Mrs. Deubel charged that the policemen should have paid a portion of the car rent.

BANDITS LOCK BANKERS IN VAULT AND TAKE $8,300

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 8.—[Special.]—Abandoning their plan of kidnaping the cashier when they found the president, another employé and two customers in the First National bank at Boswell this afternoon, three young unmasked bandits instead herded them into the vault and took $8,300. They escaped in an automobile bearing Illinois license 651,003.

SHOT EXAMINING RIFLE.

NEGRO LYNCHED AS SLAYER; CALL GEORGIA TROOPS

Police Chief Slain in Fight with Pair.

Darien, Ga., Sept. 8.—(AP)—This village was under military rule tonight after an exciting day when a band of armed men lynched a Negro in his jail cell following upon the slaying of one policeman and the wounding of three others.

The militia, under Col. W. R. Neal of Savannah, took charge of the situation under a proclamation by Gov. L. G. Hardman, who acted at the request of the civil authorities.

Negroes Fire on Posse.

Police Chief Robert L. Freeman was killed and R. J. Anderson, deputy marshal; John Fisher, special officer of Darien, and Deputy Sheriff J. H. Collins of McIntosh county were wounded when they engaged George Grant and another Negro in a gun battle in nearby swamps. The Negroes were wanted for shooting at a night watchman who attempted to arrest them for loitering near a bank last midnight.

Grant, captured in the swamp, was shot to death in his cell by the men, who disregarded pleas of Col. Neal that the Negro not be slain. Grant's companion, said to be Fred Bryan, escaped and was believed surrounded in a 150 acre territory of swamp.

Col. Neal, with a unit of guardsmen, hurried here today shortly after news of the shooting of the policemen was received in Savannah. Later, approximately 150 men of the 118th Field artillery, Savannah, were sent here, but tonight all except 50 men and officers had been returned.

Armed Civilians Dispersed.

Under the governor's proclamation, described by Col. Neal as "martial law," civilians who, throughout the day, searched the swamps and gathered in groups on the streets were ordered to take their arms home. Only a select unit of civilians were allowed to bear arms after 5 p. m.

Meanwhile the town was peaceful, guardsmen and possemen searching the area where the Negro is believed to be hiding. Bloodhounds were being used.

Sheriff Poppell said the lynching of Grant occurred immediately after the Negro had been locked in the jail. A band of men, armed with shotguns and other weapons, rushed into the place and fired a load of buckshot into the Negro's body. Grant was said to have been identified by Anderson as one of the Negroes he attempted to arrest near the bank. Officers believed the Negroes intended to rob the bank.

The sheriff said he had been lured away from the jail by a ruse, some one having told him that Deputy Collins had just died. When he learned of the plan to kill the Negro, he said, it was too late to act. The band acted before the guardsmen could interfere, as they had gone away after placing the Negro inside, the sheriff said.

JOFFRE TOO WEAK TO ATTEND RECEPTION BY GOLD STAR MOTHERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Sept. 8.—Gen. Joseph Joffre his friends are worried. Realization of the situation came today when Capt. Border, chief of staff at the Invalides, announced that the aged marshal was physically unable to accept the gavel the gold star mothers brought from America to present to him, and Gen. Gouraud must receive it in his behalf tomorrow.

GEN. JOFFRE.

"Marshal Joffre is not ill, but is beginning to show extreme old age, and he is gradually weakening so that it is doubtful if he will be able to appear at public functions again," an intimate friend said.

"The marshal is living in his old home at Auteuil, spending his time reading or slowly walking in the garden, retiring early and eating the plainest of food. His doctors order him to take the greatest care of himself, fearful that even a slight cold might develop into pneumonia."

BANKERS SUBMIT 263 MILLION CAR FINANCIAL PLAN

Exchange of Securities Is Proposed.

ing further in the way of a forecast in the section of the report so far made public. These earnings will be drawn upon for interest for the $200,000,000 new capital to be utilized in extensions and improvements during the first 10 years.

Offsetting at least part of that added expense is to be a reduction in the cost of hauling long distance patrons upon the elevated, and other economies in operation. On these factors there is no forecast, although operating officials and bankers have previously expressed favorable views.

The interest of the car riders in the earnings lies in the claims of the company's officials that a profitable transportation company can be more readily and easily compelled to give high class service than a corporation with meager returns.

What Holders Will Get.

The tens of thousands of security holders in the present companies are interested in learning what it is proposed to give them in exchange for their present holdings. For first mortgage bondholders the answer is simple. They will get half of the value of the bond in a new bond, first and refunding bond issue, and the other half in a preferred 7 per cent stock.

The exchange process for other securities is more complicated. In the new company each is given shares and fractions of shares outright, and then, in most instances, there is attached a right to buy certain securities at a set price. If this right is exercised, then more shares or fractions of shares are given the purchaser.

In the financial plan, summarized in table form in an adjoining column, securities in the new company have been set aside to fill out the orders of those who exercise their rights.

Values to Be Quoted.

Presumably these rights will be listed on the exchange so that they will have a cash value, like the rights of old established companies. To make that scheme effective to a successful degree would probably require an underwriting of the financial setup.

Interest has been paid on all first mortgage bonds. It is proposed to pay interest due on all other bonds, the payment to be made in securities.

That every security holder in each existing company may know exactly what it is proposed to give him in exchange, THE TRIBUNE prints the Halsey-Stuart statement on exchange of each existing security below. On the first mortgage bonds of the north and west side surface lines 15 per cent has been paid while the properties have been in receivership under Judge Wilkerson. That means $150 on each $1,000 bond. On the south side surface lines, 10 per cent has been paid on each bond.

The Halsey-Stuart Statement.

Starting with the security holders of the west and north side surface lines, the exchange proposal for each security is as follows:

"The holder of each bond with an unpaid principal amount of $850 of Chicago Railways company first mortgage twenty year gold bonds will receive in exchange therefor four hundred twenty-five dollars principal amount of first mortgage and refunding gold bonds, series A, 5½ per cent, due Feb. 1, 1961, and four and twenty-five one hundredths shares of prior preferred stock, series A [$7].

"The holder of each bond of one thousand dollars principal amount of Chicago Railways company 5 per cent consolidated mortgage twenty year gold bonds, series A, will receive in exchange therefor ten and twenty-one hundredths shares of preferred stock, series A [7], seventy-one hundredths shares of common stock, class A, and a warrant evidencing the right to buy at one hundred dollars per share and accrued dividend two and one-third shares of prior preferred stock, series A [$7], and to receive therewith without additional payment fifty-four one hundredths shares of preferred stock, series A [$6], and five one-hundredths shares of common stock, class A.

Exchange of Securities Under Proposed Transit Finance Plan

The following table lists the various classes of transit and street car securities now outstanding in the hands of the public with their rates of return, gives the adjusted face value of each class under the proposed financial setup of the consolidated transit company, and tells what securities of the new consolidated company will be given in exchange for the old securities:

It is not expected that the advisory board, Messrs. Traylor, Harris, and Reynolds, will conclude their consideration of the plan within a week.

SUSPECT AGAIN ARRESTED FOR APPEL MURDER

Relatives of Victim Are Questioned.

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 8.—[Special.]—The first decisive action in the case of 8 year old Marvine Appel, kidnaped, raped and murdered here a week ago Thursday, was taken by the authorities tonight when Jack Stamfer, a friend of the family, was locked up in the city jail without being booked after he had been questioned for more than six hours.

Coroner Chester Crumpacker of St. Joseph county ordered the action after interrogating various witnesses, particularly Mrs. Eula Appel, the child's mother. He learned that Mrs. Appel had kept many roomers and that Stamfer was a frequent visitor at the house.

Of late he has been living at the Y. M. C. A. here. The day following the kidnaping, and before Marvine's body was discovered, he called on Mrs. Appel and asked her, "Have you heard anything?" When she said she hadn't, he said to her, he told the police, "Don't worry: The girl will be back with you tomorrow."

He was questioned then, but was released. However, tonight on information which he refused to divulge, Coroner Crumpacker asked that Stamfer be arrested. He was questioned secretly, and then locked up. The coroner would make no statement.

Another angle of the investigation has been pursued by the police, who have been checking with Mrs. Appel on all her acquaintances and roomers since she came here five years ago. She has been asked to give the names of all the men she knew. The police have questioned her sister, Miss Virginia Lynch.

YOUNG ROBBERS KILL BRIDE IN STORE HOLDUP

Pair Flee Without Taking Money from Till.

A bride of two months, working as a clerk in a chain store so that she and her husband might have more money with which to set up housekeeping, was shot and killed yesterday by two young bandits.

The slain woman was Mrs. Erma Krasnansky, 22 years old, who with her husband, Alex, 29 years old, lived with the latter's mother at 3326 North Kimball avenue. She was shot while at work in the National Tea company store at 5300 West Division street, when it was empty of customers at the noon hour. Miss Jennie Erickson, 18 years old, the store manager, was in the rear room at the time, preparing a lunch for Mrs. Krasnansky.

See Youths Leave Store.

The assailants fled after the shooting without touching an open till containing about $100. Bystanders in the street said they saw two youths about 18 or 20 years old leave the store about 1 p. m., turn east, then north into an alley. Austin police were scouring the neighborhood last night in the belief that the pair were amateur stickup men living in the vicinity.

Police believed the youths took a ginger ale bottle into the store and asked for a refund of five cents. This amount was found to have been rung up on the cash register, and a five cent piece was lying on the floor. Mrs. Krasnansky had been shot in the mouth with a .25 caliber automatic pistol. The police believed that nervousness had caused one of the robbers to fire the shot.

Finds Clerk Dying.

"I heard no one enter the store," Miss Erickson told the police. "I heard a slight thud like a package falling from a counter. It must have been the muffled report. I rushed in and found her there. She said, 'I'm shot,' and then she died."

The husband of the slain woman, who is a butcher in the shop of his brother Stephen at 1907 Foster avenue, became hysterical when he was notified of his wife's murder.

"There was no reason for any one to kill Erma," he said over and over at the Austin police station. "We were so happy. She and I had been keeping company for two years. I can think of no one who was her enemy."

Mrs. Barbara Krasnansky, wife of Alex's brother, said she was sure that Erma had not been shot by a rejected suitor, because she had had no other than Alex.

Chaplin's Leading Woman Jumps from Actor's Car

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 8.—[Special.]—Virginia Cherrill, ex-wife of Irving Alder of Chicago and at present Charlie Chaplin's leading woman, today told how she jumped from the moving car of her ex-fiancé, Buster West, film actor, with injury to herself.

"There was nothing like an attempted abduction about it," Miss Cherrill said. "We had a little argument and I wanted to get out of Mr. West's car, but he did not see it that way and attempted to drive on. I jumped and took a tumble. The argument was over something personal."

LEGION PARADE OPENS LARGEST STATE SESSION

About 100,000 persons, officials estimated, jammed the streets, clung to roof tops, leaned from office windows, and took possession of any other available vantage point during the triumphal march of the Legion and its allies—20,000 strong.

This parade, consuming the entire afternoon, was the premier event on the program.

Attracts Record Crowd.

The Illinois department claims the largest membership of any state. Aurora city official said the convention had attracted the largest number of visitors in the city's history.

There were martial music of nearly 100 drum and bugle corps and unnumbered bands, unfurled flags, gay uniforms, the bursting of firecrackers, cheering throngs.

Business was suspended during the afternoon.

Awards of prizes were as follows: Bands—Jacksonville post, No. 279, first place; Bellville, second; Peoria, third. Drum and bugle corps—Rockford post, No. 60, first; Kankakee post, No. 85, second; Evanston post, No. 42, third; Chicago Board of Trade, fourth.

Wilmette Post Wins.

In class B, Wilmette post, No. 46, was first in the drum and bugle corps competition. Homewood won the novelties parade with its "Leaping Lena," and the Decatur post was awarded a prize for its clown band.

The Gen. Miltorr J. Foreman cup for the highest percentage of attendance in 1930 went to the Edgar A. Lawrence Highway post of Chicago. For numbers and appearance the Chicago Police post was declared winner.

Forges post of Chicago was first in the male quartet singing competition.

During the morning the legionnaires and visitors were addressed by Gov. Emmerson and others. The governor prophesied an early return to prosperity.

Mayor Charles Greene, who was a colonel during the war, officially surrendered the city to the legionnaires, informing them that "no taps would be blown, nor orders enforced."

Other speakers were Maj. Milton J. Foreman, past commander of the Illinois legion and Maj. Gen. Roy D. Keehn, commanding the 33d division. The latter urged closer coöperation between the National Guard and the legion. Still other speakers were Rear Admiral Walter Crosley, commandant at Great Lakes Naval Training station; Col. George Seaman, president of the Illinois Reserve Officers' association; Congressman Frank R. Reid, Victor A. Olander, secretary of Illinois Federation of Labor, as well as representatives of other war veterans' organizations and affiliated groups.

Hold Committee Meetings.

The delegates also held committee meetings and caucuses in preparation for the business sessions today. A new candidate entered the campaign for state commander. Maj. Hamlet C. Ridgway of the Woodlawn post, Chicago, announced his opposition to Pence B. Orr of Joliet and Capt. Arthur Poorman of Chicago Heights.

Capt. Poorman is the present senior vice commander. Yesterday he appeared to have the strongest support.

Among the cities seeking to be named as the 1931 convention choice, Peoria virtually was assured of selection, delegates said, although Springfield, Joliet and Champaign were making bids.

Besides the pending resolutions to demand not only repeal of the 18th amendment, but that of both the Volstead act and the Jones law, there is one seeking a state law requiring public school teachers to take an oath of allegiance to the flag and to take a pledge to teach patriotism.

The Lakes to gulf waterway is the subject of another resolution which would have the American Legion name a committee to work with a committee of Canadian veterans in supporting the lakes to gulf water route.

Another resolution concurs with the Pennsylvania Legion in asking that an audit be made of the income and disposition of the $2,000,000 Legion endowment fund established for veterans' relief work.

100 Vets Hoot Dry Raiders During Aurora Convention

Approximately 100 ex-service men jeered and hooted yesterday afternoon while federal prohibition agents raided a saloon at 113 New York street, Aurora. The Illinois division of the American Legion is holding its convention at Aurora. The legionnaires offered no physical resistance, but expressed resentment of the intrusion like seasoned troopers, according to the agents. Jacob Bury and A. F. Luedtke were arrested and nine barrels of beer were seized.

POLICEMAN HURT AS MOTORCYCLE STRIKES AUTO

Motorcycle Policeman Thomas Locashio, 30 years old, 4546 North Clark street, father of two children, was critically injured last night when his motorcycle collided with the automobile of Charles Goldstein, 17 years old, 5126 Irving Park boulevard. The crash occurred in the outer extension drive near Barry avenue. He was taken to Columbus Memorial hospital, where physicians said he suffered a broken neck, fractured skull and internal injuries. Goldstein, who is being held, said he was just turning west off the drive at Barry avenue when Locashio, going south, hit his car.

Auguest Sievert, 40 years old, owner of a bicycle shop at 3520 Lincoln avenue, died in the American hospital of injuries suffered Sunday when his motorcycle collided with an automobile on the Dundee road, two miles west of Wheeling.

Struck by a hit and run driver while crossing Kedzie avenue at 54th street, John Labuda, 19 years old, 4829 South State street, died of a fractured skull at the county hospital.

Joseph Barnes, 55 years old, 2732 South Turner avenue, died at the county hospital of injuries received on Aug. 11 when he was struck by the automobile of Fred Purcell, 4317 Berkley avenue, at Kedzie avenue and 28th street.

Mrs. Jacob Greenebaum, 52 years old, 3754 North Sawyer avenue, crossing the intersection of Grace street and Kedzie avenue last evening, was struck by an automobile driven by Mark Feldman, 4656 North Spaulding avenue, and died at midnight at the Welles Park hospital. Feldman was held.

27 NATIONS PUT U. S. OF EUROPE SCHEME 'ON ICE'

Vote Smooths Way for Future Action.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GENEVA, Sept. 8.—There will not be any United States of Europe this year, but the disunited states of Europe may be less so, as a result of this afternoon's meeting of the European conference convoked by the French foreign minister, Aristide Briand.

During the meeting, which followed the session of the league of nations council, representatives of 27 European states voted to put M. Briand's scheme for a European federation on the agenda of the league assembly, which opens Wednesday. This means that it bears their adhesion in principle and that it will be referred to at least one standing committee, and then turned over to a subcommittee, which will report next year.

May Revive Scheme Later.

A few days ago it was freely predicted that the league would quietly bury M. Briand's plan, if it ever got its hands on it, but the general belief tonight is that the plan will not be definitely deferred—just laid on ice for a while, perhaps to be revived when conditions are better.

Today's meeting was not a crushing defeat for Briand nor a triumph for his enemies. It was a compromise that left everybody happy and feeling better. Arthur Henderson, British foreign minister, in a short speech stressed the importance of Briand's contribution to peace, proposing his colleague for the chairmanship of the meeting, which was applauded.

It was decided that M. Briand himself should formally present his proposal to the league assembly shortly after the opening. Furthermore, it is understood that the French foreign chief was informally assured that the league will appoint a special subcommittee to study the plan and that this committee will make a serious investigation, instead of just pigeonholing it.

The non-European members of the league will probably be included on the committee, but the troublesome question of inviting Russia and Turkey to join the federation, as proposed by Italy, was sidestepped today.

Germany Not "War Minded."

Following the European conference, which lasted until 8 o'clock tonight, the German foreign minister, Julius Curtius, told newspaper men in an interview that Germany would never resort to arms in seeking a revision of treaties, and would depend wholly upon the policy of ententes and collaborations to gain its objectives.

Germany's representative even went further, saying that two-thirds of the reichstag and a solid majority of the population favored a continuation of the present foreign policies, and any government which might arise in the approaching elections would be obliged to adhere to them.

This was a direct repudiation of the fiery speeches of Gottfried Treviranus, minister of occupied territories, and the turbulent campaign of the German Nationalists for treaty revisions which so alarmed the French. Well informed circles here believed this carefully worded "interview" was calculated to appease the French Nationalists, who have been attacking M. Briand for his pacifism, and thereby compensating the veteran diplomat for the cool treatment given his pet dream.

Dr. Curtius also paid tribute to M. Briand's work, and said that he had pioneered the way to the eventual unification of Europe.

Clears Up Threatening Clouds.

Since M. Briand arrived in Geneva, knowing in advance that there was no chance for a speedy action on his project, observers say that he got the most that he could expect out of the conference. The general atmosphere has been relieved of the tension which prevailed before the meeting.

It now appears that this conference, together with the league assembly, may do much towards clearing up the clouds which have been hanging over Europe for the last few months.

The cause of harmony received aid during the morning's meeting of the council, when the mandates commission adopted a "softened" report on the delicate question of British responsibility for the Palestine disorders. Mr. Henderson made a conciliatory reply refraining from attacking the commission for its previous criticism, giving assurance that his government would do everything possible to prevent a renewal of trouble.

The situation was settled "with peace and honor for all," according to the council's statement.

Two Seized on Charge of Passing Counterfeit Bills

Federal operatives under Capt. Thomas J. Callaghan yesterday arrested Douglas Wallace McMurtrey and Austin Mott, of 4861 Magnolia avenue, accused of passing $1 and $2 bills raised to $10 and $20 bills. According to Capt. Callaghan, McMurtrey, who also uses the name of Dennis W. Moore, is an old offender, having been paroled in 1928 from a ten year sentence to Leavenworth on a counterfeiting charge.

REDS RUN 40,000 FROM CHINA CITY TO SAVE ON FOOD

Government Planes Bomb 3,000 Communists.

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Sept. 8.—More than 40,000 men, women and children out of a total population of 60,000 have been evicted from Nanning, capital of Kwangsi province, to conserve the diminishing food supply occasioned by the long siege of the city by government troops.

Nanning is defended by a Kwangsi rebel force numbering about 3,000.

More than 200 wealthy Chinese residents who had taken refuge in the compound of the Standard Oil company, are reported to have been robbed, the women being stripped of their jewelry and brutally treated. Chinese government airplanes from Canton are daily bombing the rebel positions within Nanning, and have caused havoc both among the military and the civilians. Foreign missionaries are planning to evacuate.

U. S. Warship Battles Reds.

HANKOW, Sept. 8.—(AP)—A sharp encounter between the American gunboat Tutuila and a band of roving communists occurred on the Yangtze river eighty miles from Yochow, Hunan province, late today. Dispatches said the American vessel suffered no casualties.

The Reds fired upon the Tutuila as the warship cruised along the river, using machine guns and trench mortars. Returning the fire with three inch rifles and machine guns, the gunboat quickly silenced the attackers, destroyed their mortars and dislodged them from their position.

The British gunboat Ladybird also was attacked by the Communist raider Shasi near the city of Shasi, Hupeh province. The Ladybird shelled the red ship with six inch guns, exacting a heavy toll. The British ship also raked the shore with three inch rifles and machine guns. Naval advices stated the Ladybird forced the Reds to abandon positions outside Shasi, thereby preventing them from reentering the city, a portion of which they burned and looted last Friday.

Communists Capture Shasi.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 8.—(AP)—The state department was informed today that communists had captured the city of Shasi, in Hupeh province, where several Americans are known to reside.

Among the Americans known to have resided there were the Rev. and Mrs. Elmer Zimmerman, 900 Brown street, Alton, Ill., and one child, and Miss Gertrude Simon of Zachow, Wis., of the Evangelical Lutheran mission.

9 DIE OF CHOLERA IN MANILA; 30 NATIVES ARE ILL

MANILA, Sept. 8.—(AP) — Thirty cases of cholera have been reported in Manila among natives, with nine deaths in the last ten days. No Americans or Europeans have been stricken. Virtually all of them have been vaccinated.

The disease has been prevalent some time in the provinces, but is reported diminishing there. Authorities expressed considerable concern because the Filipino public was refusing to cooperate in the cholera suppression campaign. Some of those stricken have been hidden by relatives, and officials admit there have been more cases than reported.

A Filipino sanitary inspector was mobbed after causing arrest of three women for violating food vending regulations. He lost an eye and suffered a fracture of the skull.

65 POSTMASTERS FROM CALIFORNIA VISIT LUEDER

Three of the postmasters, Harry L. Todd of San Francisco, William Nat Friend of Oakland, and Harry M. Hammond of Alameda, came by airplane. The party included Mrs. Gladys B. Evans, postmistress of Knight's Landing, Cal.

Postmaster Todd said the convention was expected to indorse a new 5 cent stamp to popularize the air mail business.

Every Major Office Won by G. O. P.

on the prohibition question. What he did say, he has told people of his state, is that if the state through the legislature should petition congress for a constitutional amendment to vitiate the 18th amendment, he would vote in the senate to submit such an amendment to the states but would retain the right to oppose its acceptance by the states.

Representative John F. Miller [Rep., Wash.], who has represented the Seattle district for 14 years and supports the Jones prohibition policies, is involved in a hot fight. His opponent is Ralph A. Horr, Republican county chairman, who stands on the party's anti-prohibition plank. Representative L. H. Hadley [Rep., Wash.], another dry, is opposed by Frank E. Hammond, a wet.

The Anti-Saloon league is an issue in the Colorado Republican senatorial contest. Even both candidates claim to be dry. The league endorsed William V. Hodges, who according to friends of George H. Shaw, the rival contender, bought oil stock from its state superintendent.

Fitzgerald Quits Race.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 8.—(AP)—John F. Fitzgerald, former mayor of Boston, announced from a hospital bed tonight his retirement from the race for the Democratic nomination for governor of Massachusetts. Fitzgerald's retirement leaves only Joseph B. Ely of Westfield and John J. Cummings of Boston in the field for the Democratic nomination to oppose Gov. Frank G. Allen, or Mayor John J. Devir of Malden, who seek the Republican nomination.

SCHOOL PROJECTS TO COST $2,500,000 URGED BY BOGAN

Two building projects, to cost $2,500,000, were recommended to the board of education yesterday by Superintendent of Schools William J. Bogan. An addition to the present Senn High school, to cost $1,850,000, will furnish 1,800 new seats, enough for all pupils. For the last fifteen years, Mr. Bogan said, this school has been overcrowded. The school has been using portables and operating some departments on a two-shift basis.

Modernization of the Gresham Grammar school, 8510 South Green street, was the other project. Both improvements were on the 1929 building program but no money has been appropriated for their completion. The proposals will be considered by the building and grounds committee this afternoon.

Girl Shoots Man for Holding Her in His Apartment

Washington, D. C., Sept. 8.—(AP)—Barbara Walker, a 25 year old dancing teacher, was held today by police, who said she admitted shooting Russell Prince, 23, when Prince refused to let her leave his apartment last night. No charges have been filed. Physicians said they thought Prince, wounded in the abdomen and wrist, was not in a serious condition.

DIVIDED FIGHT MAY LET BOWLES WIN IN DETROIT

Vote for Mayor Dims State Election.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 8.—[Special.]—A city torn by political strife, which has brought about the collapse of the municipal government, goes to the polls tomorrow, either to select a new mayor or to return to office the present chief executive—the cause of all the trouble.

Mayor Charles Bowles, recently recalled from office, asks the people of Detroit to return him. By a majority of close to 31,000, they repudiated him seven weeks ago.

Bowles goes to the voters without any hope of obtaining a majority of the ballots to be cast, but with the chance that unless the people concentrate upon one man he may get back into the city hall by a minority vote because of the divided vote.

Four Candidates for Mayor.

There are four men from whom the next chief executive must be chosen. They are:

George Engel, city controller under the late Mayor Oscar B. Marx; commissioner of public works under former Mayor James Couzens; and civil service commissioner under former Mayors John W. Smith and John C. Lodge.

Smith himself who served as mayor for three years.

Frank Murphy, a former judge, who was also for a short time assistant United States attorney, and who is the candidate of the newspaper which formerly supported Bowles.

Mayor Bowles, who went into office Jan. 14, 1930, and was recalled July 22, last.

The vote is expected to be the largest at any primary or special election in Detroit's history. The electors will also vote on senator, congressmen, county and state officers.

The "wet and dry" issue will play a part throughout the state, especially in the votes for congressmen and United States senator. Senator Couzens, a liberal, is opposed by former Gov. Chase S. Osborn, Congressman Grant M. Hudson, in the sixth district, who was listed as a director of the Anti-Saloon league in 1929, is being given a battle, with Seymour H. Person, his chief opponent. Person is a "wet." Congressman Robert Clancy, Detroit, is running on a wet platform, while the remainder of congressmen who are up for reëlection are either dry or liberal.

The fight for governor is between Attorney General W. M. Brucker and former Gov. Alex J. Groesbeck.

Girl Enjoins Doctor Who Seeks to Sterilize Her

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 8.—[Special.]—Although Dr. Neal Wood, superintendent of county hospital, and Dr. R. Smith informed the court that an operation was necessary to save the life of 15 year old Alma Hatch, the girl, through her guardian, asked and obtained a temporary injunction preventing surgeons from operating to sterilize her. Mrs. Hallie Holmes, mother of the girl, filed a written consent for the operation. The girl was married at the age of 13, but the marriage was declared illegal because of her youth. She now desires to marry again and today said she would prefer to forfeit life rather than her chance for maternity.

GUARD GOV. LONG, CANDIDATE TODAY FOR U. S. SENATE

Primary Eve Spent Under Armed Protection.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 8.—(AP)—Gov. Huey P. Long spent the night before tomorrow's primary election, in which he opposes Senator Joseph E. Ransdell for the United States senate, under armed protection after he had testified in Federal court about the disappearance of two men who were planning to bring suit for slander against him.

He was guarded by a detail of state militia when he went to the federal building today in response to a subpoena to testify in a writ of habeas corpus proceeding against Sheriff Frank Clancy of Jefferson parish. The writ demanded the delivery of the two men, Samuel Irby and James Terrell, who were seized in a Shreveport hotel and kept in seclusion by state police since last Thursday.

Battery A of the state National Guard artillery was ordered out tonight for "overnight" duty, but Adjt. Gen. Ray Fleming denied the militia was being "mobilized."

Battles with Reporter.

The governor called for state troops to add to his bodyguard after he had been struck on the nose and mouth by William G. Wiegand, reporter for the New Orleans Item. Wiegand had resented an epithet used by the governor.

Bodyguards of the governor seized the reporter but the governor struck him in the face with his hand. Later the governor and the reporter apologized.

Kidnaped Pair Still Missing.

The whereabouts of Irby and Terrell remained a mystery tonight. The governor testified today he believed they were in Jefferson parish, adjoining New Orleans. Later the sheriff testified that he did not have the men in custody but that they were in Jefferson parish. The sheriff said Deputy Sheriff Arthur Sartis served the papers, and had gone on a fishing trip. Judge Wayne G. Borah ordered Sartis brought into court tomorrow.

Gov. Long testified that Irby was in his hotel quarters last night and talked over the radio, saying, "Gov. Long was the best friend he had in the world and that he had not been kidnaped."

TINY PRINCESSES START DYNASTIC POSER IN BRITAIN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 8.—Fear that the English throne will be without a definite heir has brought the royal family face to face with a modern dynastic problem which is understood to have caused King George to ask for a new settlement in the line of succession. This has arisen out of the birth of a second daughter to the duke of Lork, who stands next in line for the crown after the prince of Wales. It was generally accepted at the time of her birth that she ranked fourth in line of succession, being preceded by her 3 year old sister, Princess Elizabeth.

But a conflict of opinion has arisen in court and legal circles over the contention that no sister has ever been given precedence either in an inheritance of a peerage or a crown. Therefore the unnamed princess born two weeks ago, some contend, has an equal right to the throne with Elizabeth so long as the prince and duke are without male heirs.

The knotty question is being gone into by the authorities on regal succession, and a report will be made to the king.

CANADA TO BOOST TARIFF AS RELIEF TO UNEMPLOYED

OTTAWA, Can., Sept. 8.—(AP)—Upward revision of the Canadian tariff as a measure to relieve unemployment and economic depression in the dominion was forecast today in the message from the throne which opened a special session of the Canadian parliament.

The session, convened specifically to deal with unemployment, heard the governor general read a four-sentence speech, in which amendments to the customs act and the customs tariff were mentioned as being expected "to meet the unusual conditions which now prevail."

As the enunciation of the Conservative party, recently come into control of the government, the governor general's speech was regarded as conforming with the party's traditional advocacy of a high protective tariff.

The first day's session was adjourned after Capt. George Black, member from the Yukon, was elected speaker of the house of commons.

Gray Veteran Dead for 20 Years Still on Pension Roll

Apartment Dwellers are demanding ELECTROLUX, the SAFE AUTOMATIC REFRIGERATOR

TENANTS want automatic refrigeration. No mistake about that. But just any automatic refrigerator isn't enough. They demand safety, silence, and economy of operation. That's exactly what Electrolux supplies.

It provides the perfect uninterrupted kind of service that only a machinery-free refrigerator can give. No moving parts to wear or go bad. Not a whisper of sound. No alternate stopping and starting—just constant unvarying cold, with all the ice cubes you need, delicious frozen desserts and crisply chilled salads.

4. Refrigerant never needs renewal—hermetically sealed within rigid steel.
5. No mechanism to wear, vibrate, or need oil.
6. Free from trouble.
7. No stopping and starting.
8. Unvarying low temperature.
9. Plenty of pure ice cubes.
10. No radio interference.
11. Lasts indefinitely.
12. Finest cabinet construction.

THE GRANVILLE APARTMENTS, 6241 WINTHROP AVE., CHICAGO. "We took the greatest care in choosing an automatic refrigerator for our Granville Apartments. Our investigation convinced us that Electrolux was not only noiseless, but the most economical and dependable refrigerator we could find." From a letter from the manager of the Granville Apartments, in which 67 Electrolux Refrigerators are installed.

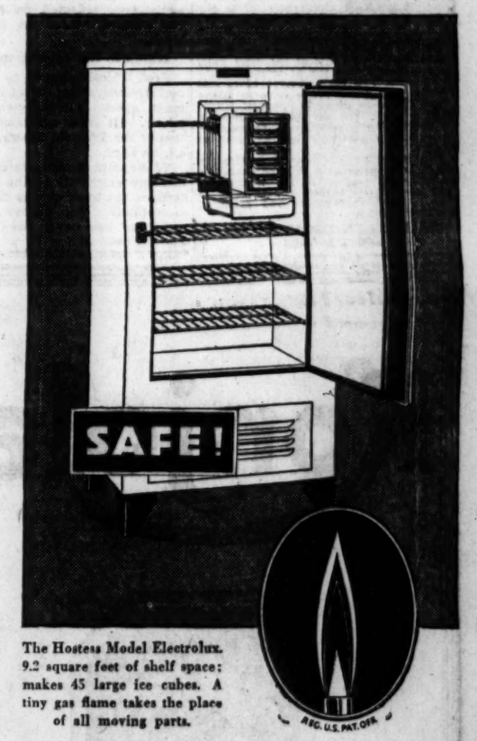
All for the ridiculous sum of less than five cents a day. That's what Electrolux costs to operate. A tiny gas flame and a trickle of water do all the work. Very little gas and water are used. The Chicago Bureau of Water, for instance, has set a flat rate of $2.50 per year for each Electrolux installed in homes without water meters.

Is it any wonder that the finest up-to-date homes and apartments, not only in Chicago but all over the country, are turning to Electrolux by scores of thousands.

Absolutely safe

And along with all its exclusive advantages, you have the comforting assurance that Electrolux is absolutely safe. Its refrigerant is merely three and a half pints of ordinary harmless ammonia, not much stronger than household ammonia. You could breathe the entire contents in a closed room with no harmful effects. Furthermore, this refrigerant is hermetically sealed within rigid steel—no openings or valves of any kind; no renewal ever necessary. Even the tiny gas flame is protected by an automatic shut-off, which prevents any gas from flowing, should the flame ever go out!

Electrolux is on view at any of the display rooms listed below. See it, and if there is any possibility of your apartment being equipped with automatic refrigeration, you will insist that it be Electrolux. Prices are $205 to $430, with liberal purchase terms. Come in today, or use coupon to bring complete illustrated information.



The Hostess Model Electrolux. 9.2 square feet of shelf space; makes 45 large ice cubes. A tiny gas flame takes the place of all moving parts.

Physicist Plans to Rise 52,000 Feet in Balloon.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

AUGSBURG, Germany, Sept. 8.—In old Augsburg a weird adventure, worthy of the imagination of Jules Verne, is about to take place. Two scientists will attempt to soar 50,000 feet above the ground to wrest the secrets of the clouds and skies surrounding our world.

Prof. Augusta Piccard, a Swiss born member of the faculty of Brussels university, is ready to start into space in a hermetically sealed gondola suspended from the largest balloon ever built, as soon as weather permits. The gondola is a hollow aluminum ball, weighing 220 pounds.

Prof. Piccard's assistant, Charles Kipfer, will go with him to help with the complicated scientific tests he is planning. Both deny that they are going for adventure.

Expects to Rise 52,000 Feet.

"The ascent is purely a scientific expedition and is carefully calculated," Prof. Piccard stated. "We will rise for an hour and a half, after which we will reach the height of about 44,000 feet. During the next half hour the ascent will slow up, but I am confident the balloon will reach the height of 52,000 feet.

"I am a family man. I have four children and have no intention of playing with my life for mere sensationalism. We are set for all emergencies. One of the greatest dangers is the possibility of our balloon catching fire. I am certain our parachutes would save us. The air in the gondola will be renewed by two machines, one operating liquid air and the other compressed oxygen. We have 1.8 cubic meters of oxygen, which will be sufficient for the ten hours we will try to stay aloft."

The expert expects a critical moment when he tries to return to earth. He intends to master the cold, which he expects to reach 68 degrees below zero, by exploiting the warmth of the sun's rays reflected on one side of the balloon, which he has painted black.

Wants to Get Into Thunderstorm.

Prof. Piccard hopes to get into a real thunderstorm to enable him to make special measurements of electricity. He seeks additional confirmation of the Einstein theory, but, above all, he says:

"I want to investigate cosmic rays, measure electricity in the air and determine the ionic charge of the upper atmosphere. The energy of the atmosphere has never been measured. The transformation of atoms in the higher regions would be a bigger source of energy than all the world's coal mines by a million times. We know something of this transformation from aluminum, which changes under the influence of active radio rays. The upper strata will teach us more about it."

The gondola is equipped with a special parachute, which will land the scientific instruments smoothly on the earth without being damaged.

His Thirteenth Ascent.

This is Prof. Piccard's thirteenth scientific ascent. The giant balloon was manufactured at Augsburg. It has been christened "F. B. N. R. S.," standing for "Fonds Belge National de la Reserve Scientifique," or National Belgian Funds of Scientic Reserve, which has subscribed $56,000 to help finance the enterprise.

German, Swiss and Austrian authorities are in readiness to coöperate with Prof. Piccard, when he takes off. He will land within a radius of 300 miles. The German Lufthansa will dispatch an airplane from Munich to search for the balloon if it fails to return within ten hours.

KIDNAPED IOWA MAN RELEASED? REPORTS DIFFER

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 8.— (AP) —The Omaha Bee-News says that friends of James Sheridan, kidnaped Des Moines man, who has been reported released upon payment of $10,000 ransom, reduced the original ransom figure of $50,000, by kidnaping a "go-between" and holding him pending outcome of negotiations for Sheridan's release.

May Have Been Taken for Ride.

Des Moines, Ia., Sept. 8.—(AP)—The fate of James Sheridan, missing Des Moines cigar store proprietor, remained a mystery tonight while reports persisted that negotiations with kidnapers either were under way or had been completed.

Mrs. Sheridan reiterated her denials that she had been approached for ransom money, but numerous reports, some apparently well grounded, indicated that her husband would be released when ransom negotiations were completed.

The failure of Sheridan to return home has indicated a possible hitch in the negotiations. In view of the failure of Mrs. Sheridan to make any admission of kidnaping, speculation extended to possibility that Sheridan might have been "taken for a ride."

Senator H. J. Allen Enters Johns Hopkins Hospital

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 8.—(AP)—Senator Henry J. Allen of Kansas arrived here today from his home at Wichita, Kas., and entered Johns Hopkins hospital. An operation, it was said at the hospital, may be performed tomorrow for a glandular trouble. Senator Allen first was taken ill while visiting Mexico recently as the guest of Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow. Upon his return to Wichita he had a minor operation at a hospital there. With him were his daughter, Miss Henrietta Allen, Dr. E. H. Gerton, his physician, and a nurse.

NEW YORK CITY HAS 1,300,000 BACK IN SCHOOL

New York, Sept. 8.—[Special.]—Another school year began today for New York City's 1,300,000 school children. Over 1,079,000 trudged back to the public schools and about 200,000 to the parochial schools.

For thousands in public schools classes began before 9 o'clock because overcrowded schools summoned their early session groups back at 7:40 and 8 o'clock.

More than 60,000 pupils were on short time or special schedule.

The high schools of the city broke all registration records, the advance enrollment being 180,018, a gain of 10,640 over last year. The board of education opened three new high schools with 12,144 sittings, one in Brooklyn, one in Queens, and the third in the Bronx.

another record Companion climaxes a record year

WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION enters the last quarter of a record-breaking year with the fourth issue to carry over a million dollars in advertising.

February broke all of the Companion's previous advertising records—March topped February—April in turn became the largest issue in the magazine's history.

And now October, fourth of the peak issues, sets a new all-time record for that month.

The first ten months of 1930 show an increase of 11.6% in linage over the corresponding period of last year. Nine out of the ten issues have established new advertising records over the corresponding issues of previous years.

And with a paid circulation of *2,606,123 the Companion not only sets a new record for six-months average circulation in women's magazines, but takes its place as the largest single circulation unit in its field.

Such a record, coming at a time which calls for the most careful buying, can have only one cause: value received by reader and advertiser.

THE WESTERN INDIANA CASE.

The Illinois commerce commission will open hearings in Chicago today on the petition of the Western Indiana and associated railroads "to maintain and operate certain railroad tracks, structures and terminal facilities at Chicago." The case will be followed with great interest.

The Western Indiana is concerned especially with the rights granted it under the ordinance of 1915 which permitted it to use portions of Taylor street, Plymouth court and the alley between State street and Plymouth court. The permit expired five years ago, in 1920, and has not been renewed. Under the ordinance the railroad was to pay $3,953 each year as compensation to the city, and these payments were continued, after the expiration of the contract, until this year. Since July 14 of this year the railroad has not compensated the city, though no doubt it would be willing to pay if the city would accept the fee.

The city's refusal to do so is an evidence that it proposes to grant no more favors to railroads which refuse to coöperate in building modern terminals. The petition appears to be aimed at forcing the city government to consent whether it wants to or not. If the petition is granted, the city's bargaining power in negotiations for new terminals will be by so much reduced.

It is interesting to observe that the railroads which have questioned the right of the commerce commission to require terminal improvements do not hesitate to turn to the commission for authorization of terminal facilities which the public authorities do not regard as essential but which the railroads ask in the name of the public convenience. The railroads seem to be taking the position that they alone may suggest to the commission what the public is entitled to by way of service and convenience. This is a familiar formula. It accounts in large part for the failure of the railroads to electrify their terminals and build modern stations worthy of the city and the railroads which enter it.

MINIATURE GOLF IN THE AUDITORIUM.

Wagnerian thunder and the airs of Italy have departed from the Auditorium, no doubt forever, and the great stage, a city lot or so in size, will house a chorus of hot dogs and other native agencies of pleasure, according to recent plans. A country club of stucco will rise where fame, from Patti to Mary Garden, has trod passionately; arias in pop and ginger ale, in true American rhythm, will float out over the golf course on the main floor. On the bonds for $834,000, issued 40 years ago and due and payable some time since, grand opera never made much headway. Now the receivers will see what miniature golf can do.

The Auditorium, in fact, has gone Lilliput. Years of fiddling about the courts of Europe, alien operas, and romantic interludes in the driving times of America have petered out, so far as the Auditorium is concerned. The voice of Europe, of culture and prestige and of imported romance, was bought and paid for there for many years, but the resale value, it would seem, hardly justified the venture commercially. Now the Auditorium has gone American with miniature golf, peanuts, and hot dog stands.

The situation has its pathos, but the overture to the new world, phrased in terms of buns and mustard, popcorn and chewing gum, and the language of the middle west, may well have more artistic hope in it than have the alien colored tunes of the Mediterranean. Some day art in America will turn to the materials at home—as it has, indeed, already in many vital fields—and when it does no external subsidies will be needed. The bondholders will not need to hold the bag. Art will be no longer "highbrow" or "culture," but an integral part of the American's imaginative life.

ABATING A NUISANCE.

Soliciting rides from privately owned vehicles is unlawful, says the Wisconsin traffic code.

This law has been in the Wisconsin drivers' code for nearly a year, yet no attempt has been made to enforce it. There is probably no practice more dangerous both to pedestrian and to driver than hitch hiking, nor one easier to stop.

A Milwaukee reader writes that any morning during vacation time Milwaukee's Lake drive all the way to Fox Point and beyond has been lined with youngsters, caddies at the various golf clubs north of Milwaukee, hitch hiking their way to the courses. This is a nuisance in other communities throughout the country.

It would seem a simple thing for the officers of the clubs to provide a bus or other private conveyance to get these youths off the roads and add to the peace of the motorists and the safety of the highways. No one wants to work a hardship on the boys, but it does seem an imposition on the part of the clubs to pass the problem of transportation for their caddies on to the general public.

Fast on the heels of assault and robbery of generous motorists by hitch hikers come warnings from the police against the practice of picking up hikers, yet enforcement is slack. Three states besides Wisconsin—Maine, New Jersey, and Minnesota—and the District of Columbia have laws against hitch hiking.

THE EXPULSION OF YRIGOYEN.

The developments following the successful revolution or military coup d'état in Argentina will be watched with great interest, especially in the United States. The fact that several Hispano-American republics have had forcible overturns of government within a few months suggests conditions of political instability and methods of political action which we have been told in recent years were obsolete, at least among the more important South American republics. Apparently the assurance is premature, and, considering the already large and growing American financial commitments in these countries, to say nothing of trade and cultural relations, we cannot but have some concern. It is gratifying to note that, although the revolt in each case has been carried out by force, there has been small loss of life or property destruction, and the new régimes have been established with surprising ease and little disturbance of order and normal civil activities.

This is the reassuring aspect of the situation. Nevertheless, it is difficult for us to understand why in a country like Argentina, which has had a century of republican government and has attained a considerable wealth and culture, it should be necessary to resort to an armed revolt to dispose of an administration which is found or is believed to be unfaithful to its trust. It is only two years ago, as THE TRIBUNE'S correspondent at Buenos Aires has noted, since the president was greeted by the people of the city with the greatest enthusiasm. Yet he is now a fugitive. We know that Argentina has been suffering from a severe attack of business and financial depression. The peso has had a hard fall and there is much unemployment. But depression is world-wide, and includes even the United States. What have Yrigoyen and his associates done which calls for such swift and drastic measures? Why is the army the apparent source and instrument of his overthrow in a republic whose citizens possess the ballot? We are implying no criticism. We are only inquiring.

Meanwhile we cannot be unmindful of the fact that Señor Yrigoyen was no friend of the United States, and we hope we may without offense express the hope that his successors will be more disposed to cultivate with us those friendly relations which ought to exist between Argentina and the United States and which would be substantially profitable to both. The enmity or excessive suspicion cherished in Argentina against the United States has never had any substantial foundation. It has been largely the result of a persistent propaganda which we believe has not had its main source in Argentina or regarded the interests of Argentina, although it has found a field in Argentine politics and public opinion and has been able to make use of an understandable and even commendable patriotic pride and sensitiveness. But reason ought to assure Argentine nationalism that there is nothing in American policy or intent which gives ground for apprehension or enmity, whereas there are substantial elements in the relations of the two countries for the maintenance of a mutually profitable exchange of benefits. Such competition in foreign markets as exists between American and Argentinian trade is not of a nature or extent to be seriously injurious to either country, while there are promising opportunities of mutual benefit which ought to be developed.

In any case, since the days of Sarmiento, the feeling toward Argentina in the United States has been friendly and the appearance in recent years of unfriendliness toward us in Argentina has been puzzling, in spite of our knowledge of some of its sources, and certainly disappointing. The cultivation of the myth of Yankee imperialism has been a perversion of Argentine patriotic sentiment, and Argentine intelligence should repudiate it.

FIVE DAYS FOR WORK.

From the five and one-half day week to the five day week is a short step that numerous industries have taken in recent years without regret. In America 650,000 men are now employed on the five day basis. Of these, 150,000 are in the building trades in New York City, 200,000 are in the Ford factories, and the others are distributed among 300 other factories. The American Federation of Labor supports the five day system. Many employers are finding it an advantage.

In England an increased production and a reduced overhead have been found in some instances where the five day week is accepted, and the royal commission on the coal industry has suggested that a five day week may be of value in the collieries. The five day week is no longer feared and opposed as it once was. When conditions warrant, it is coming in without dramatics or excitement.

Increased consumption without lowering production is the key to western economic stability in the future. More leisure for the workingman means more consumption, so long as his productivity is maintained. A five day week or any other schedule that can give people more leisure and free time will add economic strength to the community. So long as production can be maintained, added leisure is more consuming power.

Editorial of the Day

THE DIRECT PRIMARY.

[The Detroit Free Press.]

Calvin Coolidge says that a serious weakness of the direct primary is the cost of campaigning to the candidate. This is close to an admission by the ex-President that the big political expenditures now worrying a senate committee and a good many other people also are unavoidable and inevitable, and, of course, they are. None the less, the large outlay of money, more and more becoming a commonplace of the typical primary election campaign, is a distinct evil even where it is honest and there is no effort to corrupt. The situation is dangerous and in the end is bound to have seriously pernicious effects.

But it is strikingly demonstrative of the inherent viciousness of the whole primary system that the swollen expenditures incident to its operation are, after all, a relatively minor evil among those that have arisen from its adoption.

Things much worse are the breaking down of party organization, the destruction of party authority and party responsibility with the substitution of personal demagogy and minority factionalism, and a deterioration of the quality of public service to a point which threatens the peace of the country and even imperils continuance of a republican form of government.

The only road to safety for the United States is through the extirpation of the primary and a general employment of some form of the convention system.

SOME UNITED FRUIT COMPANY METHODS.

RAIN WATER.—This is a very satisfactory source of drinking water, but it is difficult to keep mosquitoes from breeding in it. Rain water barrels and tanks must be well screened and the screens must be kept in good repair. These people do not seem to have used minnows in such barrels and tanks, the method which Drs. Gorgas and Connor used so effectively in Ecuador. A water tank should have only one faucet and one overflow tube, and the drip from both should fall at the same place. In the area of ground where this drip falls they dig a hole four feet wide and two feet deep and fill it with rocks—coarse rocks at the bottom, finer rocks in the middle, gravel on top. In some locations it is necessary to dig a hole fourteen inches in diameter down to the gravel or sand or seep water level and to fill this hole with rocks.

The company rarely uses rain water. It either puts in a water system or digs bored wells. Driven wells, properly placed, properly drilled, and properly protected, furnish safe water for small camps.

Mosquitoes.—To keep down mosquitoes this company sees that no unsmashed cans are allowed to lie around and allows no uncut untrimmed grass in or near a camp. Moist spots of ground are dusted with diluted paris green or oiled. If the camp is near water, the vegetation in the water near the banks is kept cut below the water level and minnows are stocked; diluted paris green and oils are used.

Mosquitoes breed in horse and cow tracks in a country where the rainfall is heavy. Therefore animals are kept out of camp. Horses and mules are kept in corrals located on ridges. The corral should have a cement floor unless it is on gravelly, sandy soil or on the top of a hill. Sometimes corrals are drained by means of holes fourteen inches in diameter, dug down to the gravel, sand, or seep water, and filled with rock; in some instances they are drained by tile deeply placed or by cement lined ditches.

Sanitation.—The best type of latrine is a hole 12 to 14 inches in diameter and 18 to 20 feet deep. This can be dug with a post hole digger. It is well to line such a hole with cement or old cans or something, and then to cover the surface of the ground around it for, say, one foot with cement. This method was worked out in the Dutch tropical possessions, and there they use bamboo for lining the holes. The use of fine screens against mosquitoes is advocated. The screens must be kept in order; otherwise a screened house accumulates an overload of hungry mosquitoes. If wire gauze is not available, they advocate the use of mosquito bars.

Whitewashing.—The fruit company believes in using whitewash freely. Mosquitoes do not like whitewashed houses. As a rule a whitewashed house will be kept clean or effort in that direction will be made.

CAUSE OF CANKER SORES.

Mrs. W. M. G. writes: I have a message for S. B. and others who suffer from those nagging pests, canker sores.

It does little good to tell such persons to change their diets unless you tell them how. I have finally studied out, to my own satisfaction, the cause of canker sores. It is not indigestion nor disordered stomach in the usual acceptance of those terms. It is due to a deficiency of calcium and vitamin C. Milk and oranges added to the daily diet will prevent canker sores. Neither will do it alone, but together they are effective. One or two glasses of milk and one or two large oranges daily will be required. Of course, it is assumed that the diet is normal in other respects. This discovery has been of great importance in my life, and I should like to have others share its benefits. The constant nagging of canker sores warps both judgment and disposition.

2. Can the swelling be remedied?

"NO PARKING" SIGNS.

Chicago, Sept. 4.—[Friend of the People.]—Can you tell me how to get "no parking" signs for my terrace? I live on 52d street and own a house on a 25 foot lot. It has become impossible for me to even park in front of my house. The place is used as a repair shop and garage for obsolete models of cheap cars. N. N.

It will be necessary for the writer to have the alderman of the ward introduce a council order authorizing the placing of a "no parking" sign at this location.

Chicago, Sept. 4.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Can you advise me what to do in the following circumstances: I was living in Minnesota and owed a bill there, leaving without paying same, nothing being said about interest, and now seven years later they send the bill to me with interest. Can they make me pay this bill or is it outlawed, and if not can they make collection in another state? F. A.

The Illinois limitation period is five years on contracts not in writing. If you have been here over this length of time, the creditor could not collect here.

SCHOOLS OF JOURNALISM.

NEWSPAPER men frequently are asked by young people who wish to become writers whether they should take courses in college schools of journalism. They receive varying replies, but the majority opinion is that the better schools of journalism give a foundation which later proves of value. The Wake-Line subscribes to that viewpoint with the reservation that the value obtained depends, of course, upon the student himself or herself. Certainly every practical subject on a college curriculum gives background or has cultural value.

We once heard a noted city editor say the trouble with most reportorial candidates was that they didn't know "anything." He didn't mean they couldn't write, but that they lacked the fundamental knowledge of American history, modern and ancient literature. His argument was this lack of knowledge would at some time or another show in their writing in references or allusions.

Granting, then, that education is a valuable prerequisite for newspaper work, either in the newspaper field or as a novelist or short story writer, or in the advertising field, schools of journalism offer opportunities. Certainly they are more valuable than subjects which a student takes because he has to "take something" to obtain a degree.

Northwestern, Illinois, Missouri, and Iowa have highly rated schools of this character. There are more with which we are less familiar. Perhaps the school at Iowa City is more nearly conducted like a newspaper, although at all those mentioned there is practical work as well as theoretical work. It so happens that the Wake-Line inspected the Iowa school when presenting THE TRIBUNE Silver Football to Bill Glasgow last season.

There Student Publications, Inc. (not for profit), publishes all the student publications, of which the most important is the Daily Iowan with a circulation of about 4,000. It is the only morning newspaper in Iowa City and has an Associated Press franchise. Profits are applied to retirement of bonds issued when the School of Journalism took over the course formerly supervised by the English department, and occupied its own building. All the work, except mechanical or union labor, is done by students. This includes not only reporting, copy reading, and makeup, but also advertising and administration. Students number about 200, of whom an average of 40 or more are graduated annually. At the time of our visit all previous graduates had been placed with newspapers or periodicals.

Onetime prejudice against college students by city editors practically has disappeared. We well remember our first application for a job to one of the old school who asked, "Been to college and absorbed a lot of college junk?" We confessed, but explained that our stay had been brief, owing to faculty intervention as well as lack of funds. "Well, if it was short, you can get over it if you're all right otherwise." We told him we thought we had a "tip." He took it, let another chap verify and write it, paid us $2 for the tip, and later offered a job. The college man no longer suffers rebuffs just because he is a college man. In fact, most recruits now come from college ranks, which may be partly because so many more young people go to college than formerly.

If a person has a yen for newspaper work and takes good background courses, which we assume are required, anyway, he should obtain benefits at any recognized school of journalism.

SUFFICIENT.

A little house, a bush, a tree,
A laughing child to play with me.

A task that fills the fragrant days,
But leaving time for prayer and praise.

A garden bright with pink and gold,
Full harvest as the year grows old.

For every day some bookly gain;
For twilight, music's sweet refrain.

And love, more tender year by year.

With these, and Autumn at the door—
What mortal man could ask for more!

DOING A RUSHING BUSINESS

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

SEPTEMBER 9, 1914.

LONDON.—News has reached here that the North German Gazette of Berlin, the official organ of the German government, publishes a statement that Emperor William has sent an important message to President Wilson. It is not known whether the message deals with the subject of peace proposals.

PARIS.—Gen. Gallieni, military governor of Paris, announced that the allies had thrown back the German invading army along the whole line extending from Meaux, near Paris, to Chateau Senlis, in Lorraine. He said the Germans were retreating over the whole front and the allies were taking the offensive. The Germans asked for an armistice of 24 hours to bury their dead and care for their wounded. The plea was refused. The battle appears to be the most important of the campaign and those in positions to know say the casualties have been terrific. All agree the Germans have suffered more heavily than the allies.

WASHINGTON.—In his solemn proclamation calling on the people to devote Sunday, Oct. 4, to prayer for the restoration of peace in the eastern hemisphere, President Wilson again has demonstrated his earnest desire to end the terrible conflict. So long as the war continues the President will continue to strive to exert influence to end the conflict.

CHICAGO.—The primary campaign—the most acrimonious and spectacular in the history of Chicago and Illinois—closed last night with the air aquiver with the cry of "Watch the ballot crooks." From every corner of the political map of Chicago came rumors and charges of sinister plans of the "short pencil" crowd to tamper with the ballots today.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

SEPTEMBER 9, 1900.

HOUSTON, Tex.—Serious havoc, as yet impossible to estimate, was wrought by a tropical storm which has been sweeping in from the gulf during the last twelve hours, and tonight the gravest fears are felt for the fate of Galveston, Rockport, and other cities along the shore. That most serious havoc has been wrought by the hurricane is certain.

HERMOSILLO, Mexico.—News has reached this city of a disaster which has overtaken the Wells expedition, fitted out last June to explore the island of Tortugas, in the Gulf of California. There were twelve men in the expedition, and, according to news from the Isla del Guardia, there are but three left. The party was attacked by a wild cannibal tribe. More than a dozen expeditions have been annihilated on this island.

NEW YORK.—James J. Corbett, former champion pugilist and recent conqueror of Kid McCoy, has run away. His wife declared he fled to Europe because the facts in connection with his recent fight with McCoy were soon coming to light. She asserted that the fight was a fake and that a deal by which Corbett was to lose was arranged in her presence.

CHICAGO.—Lake Shore drive is to be invaded by the flat building. Harry Raymond of Raymond, Pynchon & Co. has purchased the lot at the southwest corner of the drive and Walton place. The apartment building he will erect upon it will be eight stories high and will cost $175,000.

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

SEPTEMBER 9, 1865.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Letters received here from reliable parties in the interior of North Carolina show a sad state of affairs existing there. The whites, as a general class, are too indolent to work, and compel their late slaves, by a free use of the lash, to labor for them without compensation.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Col. Chipman read to the Wirz commission a letter from the prisoner asking, although he was conscious of his innocence, that he might have religious comfort. The letter will be referred to the war department. Lieut. Tracy testified to the Andersonville commander's cruelty, among the acts mentioned being the killing of a man who had ventured over the dead line while trying to obtain water.

Washington, D. C.—A tournament having for its object the glorification of the guerrilla Moseby came off at Leesburg, Va. The notorious Col. White acted as chief marshal. Moseby was, however, deterred from being present by the knowledge that if he appeared he would be arrested.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, The Tribune.

EXTRA FARES.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 1.—The recent investigation of extra fares upon so-called extra-fast trains between Chicago and New York City overlooked one salient point. This is that the basic 28 hour schedule, below which a charge is made for every hour saved, should be reduced to 24 hours.

The railroads have doubled the speed of their freight trains in the generations that have elapsed since the 28 hour basis was fixed, and have made no request for a premium for this increase in the speed of the freight trains. The tracks, signals, cars and locomotives in use today make it easier to move a train from Chicago to New York in 24 hours than to make it in 28 hours when Grover Cleveland was getting along without a safety razor in the White House.

It would be an excellent thing if one of the railroads equipped to move fleets of fast trains between Chicago and New York were to try out a fast train, at least 24 hours, and preferably lower, between Chicago and New York without charging an extra fare. Such a train should include day coaches and merely Pullmans and a diner, none of the jazzed up luxuries such as lounge cars, observation cars, barber and bawth; just sheer, peppy transportation for people who are neither overstuffed millionaires nor expense account racketeers. MIDWESTERN.

A CHICAGO MURDER IN MOVIES.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—In your issue of Aug. 23 I noticed a picture on the last page of two men who have come to Chicago to take a movie of murder on the streets of Chicago, one of the men to be the "victim." Cannot THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE use its good offices to prevent such a movie being taken? Chicago's reputation is bad enough now without having such a picture shown about the country, and the taking of it ought, in my judgment, to be prevented. E. J. RANDALL, S. T. D.

A HILL OF BEANS.

Chicago, Sept. 5.—In your cartoon of 4th inst. you use the phrase "a hill of beans" in its common acceptation signifying something of no value. It should be manifest that in a country inhabited by a vast number of energetic bean consumers a "hill" of the right kind of beans might be a valuable asset. The correct expression is a "hull" o' beans. The "hull" means a pod and all the beans, even of the famous or infamous Boston variety, that one can extract from a hull, would certainly not be very valuable. P. A. VAILE.

BURKE ON REPRESENTATION.

Chicago, Sept. 7.—In last Friday's issue your correspondent, J. D., raises the following question: "Should a congressman or senator be elected to represent his own convictions or those of his constituents?"

In the year 1774 this same question was raised by the electors of Bristol, when Edmund Burke was a candidate for a seat in parliament in one of the Bristol districts. Here is Burke's answer to that question:

"Certainly, gentlemen, it ought to be the happiness and glory of a representative to live in the strictest union, the closest correspondence and the most unreserved communication with his constituents. Their wishes ought to have great weight with him; their opinion high respect; their business unremitted attention. It is his duty to sacrifice his repose, his pleasures, his satisfactions to theirs; and above all, ever and in all cases to prefer their interests to his own. But his unbiased opinion, his mature judgment, his enlightened conscience, he ought not to sacrifice to you, to any man, or to any set of men living. These he does not derive from the law and the constitution. They are a trust from Providence, for the abuse of which he is deeply answerable. Your representative owes you not his industry only but his judgment; and he betrays instead of serving you if he sacrifices it to your opinion."

The voters of Illinois at the coming election will have a chance to choose between the opinion of party leaders and of Edmund Burke, whom Macaulay calls "the greatest man since Milton."

S. C. IRVING.

IS THE EVIDENCE ADEQUATE?

Chicago, Sept. 5.—Regarding the letter from an official of the gas company, stating that no raise in rates is contemplated, I want to say that it may not be contemplated, but the raise has already gone into effect. My bill for the last month is 35 per cent higher than previous month, and it cannot be accounted for by a larger consumption.

I have seen also the bill of another gas company customer, and it is much higher than it had been. R. F. LOEB.

TO EXPEDITE RECOVERAGE.

Chicago, Sept. 6.—I should like to suggest that every business man for one day refrain from thinking or saying that business is bad, poor or rotten. Fear is holding back the wheels of commerce and industry.

PICK JURY TO TRY LANGGUTH AND GIRL CASHIER

New System of Choosing Jurors Speeds Case.

The jury to hear the charges against Miss Laverne Lindgren, former cashier, and Elmer P. Langguth, former president, of the People's State bank of Maywood was selected quickly yesterday in Judge Otto Kerner's Criminal court. The trial was started yesterday despite the objections from the defense, which asked for one more continuance. Five continuances had previously been granted to the defendants, who are charged with embezzlement in connection with a $173,000 shortage in the bank discovered last fall.

Miss Lindgren, a former merchandise demonstrator, who was said to have been sponsored in her position of bank cashier by Langguth, chatted with her former employer while attorneys were selecting the jury yesterday. Previously it had been reported that the friendship of the pair had ceased after their indictment. Miss Lindgren was attired in black.

Rules with Prosecution.

Assistant State's Attorneys Charles J. Mueller and Leonard M. Rice decided first to try the charges that Langguth and his cashier made false statements of the assets of the bank to the bank examiner. This carries a penalty of one to ten years in the penitentiary. The defense objected to trial on these charges, saying it had prepared to go to trial on the charge of embezzlement.

Judge Kerner, however, ruled that the prosecution might choose any of the charges and that defense should have been ready. After the jury was selected the case was continued until tomorrow morning to give the attorneys an opportunity to prepare opening statements and the evidence.

Credit New Jury System.

Inauguration of the new jury system as recommended by the Cook county judicial advisory committee and adopted by Chief Justice John P. McGoorty and his associates, was given credit for the fact that a jury for so important a case was selected in a day. Previously it would have taken at least a week to complete the task.

Under the new system the undesirable veniremen are weeded out by the judge impaneling the jury. Only those having proper jury qualifications are retained, and it is expected that this method will not only speed the selection of juries but will save money for the county.

FOUR OF FAMILY, CLEANING A SILO, KILLED BY FUMES

Neighbors Overcome Trying Rescue.

Hebron, N. D., Sept. 8.—(AP)—Four members of one family are dead and a fifth is near death from asphyxiation caused by foul air in a silo which they intended to clean today on a farm near here. The dead are Tony Neidhardt, 55 years old; his two daughters, Freda and Martha, and a son, John. Another son, George, is in a serious condition and efforts were being made tonight to resuscitate him with a pulmotor.

Neidhardt and his four children went to the silo early in the afternoon. Several hours later, Mrs. Neidhardt went to investigate when she failed to see them. Discovering their plight she summoned help by telephone.

There was two feet of slushy refuse at the bottom of the silo. The pit is ten feet deep and 40 feet wide. Neidhardt had failed to take off the roof, and as they entered all were overcome by gas.

Several persons were overcome while attempting to rescue the victims.

Heroism on the part of Waldo Bolke, 16, was responsible for saving of his father's life. The elder Bolke entered the silo and was overcome. Waldo dragged out his father.

CAPITAL HONORS FRENCH ACES IN STRENUOUS DAY

Coste Delivers Speech Over Radio.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 8.—[Special.]—President Hoover and the highest officials of the nation paid tribute today and tonight to the flying prowess of Capt. Disudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte, the first aviators to negotiate a westward nonstop flight across the Atlantic from Paris to New York.

The President, in the quiet of a White House rose garden, this afternoon complimented the flyers on their courage and asserted that their brilliant flight had brought new glory to the whole human race. At a civic banquet tonight Vice President Curtis and other Americans hailed the modest Frenchmen as "daring ambassadors of the air" whose achievement rivaled that of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

Capt. Coste, stockily built, sun tanned warrior, whose demeanor won the admiration of the capital, spoke twice during the festivities given in honor of the flyers—once in response to the congratulations of President Hoover, and again at a banquet given by the Washington board of trade tonight.

Coste on the Radio.

On both occasions he voiced gratitude for the honors showered upon him and M. Bellonte, expressing the hope that their flight to the United States might prove the means of bringing about closer friendship and better relations between the two nations.

The reply of Capt. Coste to the speeches of welcome tonight was delivered over a world wide radio hookup in French and translated by an interpreter.

"I am very grateful for the great reception we have received tonight," said Capt. Coste. "This morning we had the pleasure to express to the President our gratitude for the honors accorded us by the American people. This evening our thoughts turn to the city of Washington which gave us a reception so spontaneous and cordial.

"Nothing would make us happier than to think our presence here tonight may serve to draw closer the bonds which tie America and France together."

750 at Banquet.

The banquet, a stag affair, closing the list of functions given the flyers, was attended by 750 guests, among them being Vice President Curtis, Gov. John D. Pollard of Virginia, several cabinet members, diplomats, and two of America's greatest aviation heroes, Col. Eddie V. Rickenbacker, world war ace, and Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, conqueror of the north and south poles. Col. Lindbergh, who had participated in the White House ceremonies, was not in attendance tonight.

In the longest address of the evening Col. Rickenbacker described the flight of Coste and Bellonte as showing what the future holds in store for aviation. He called for faster planes and predicted the development of giant planes capable of shortening the distance to Europe to fifteen hours.

The flyers' program during the day included a luncheon at the White House and congratulatory exercises on the White House grounds. On each occasion members of the cabinet, diplomats, and some three of this country's aces of the air joined in praising the latest aerial exploit. Sandwiched in were a reception this afternoon at the French embassy, a trip by the flyers to Arlington National cemetery.

Capt. Coste and Lieut. Bellonte will take off for New York tomorrow morning.

WHITE HOUSE GUARD BARS ADMIRAL BYRD, BUT NOT FOR LONG

Washington, D. C., Sept. 8.—[Special.]—A modest, youthful man in a navy blue suit found himself confronted by a guard when he attempted to enter the White House offices today shortly before the time set for the President's luncheon in honor of Capt. Coste and Maurice Bellonte.

"You will have to identify yourself," said the guard.

Before the caller could bring out papers of identification, if any, however, a newspaper man standing near the entrance noticed him.

"How do you do, Admiral Byrd?" he called.

BARGES HELD UP UNTIL OLD RIVER GETS ITS STRIDE

Lower Mississippi Not Navigable.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 8.—[Special.]—Five stern wheeler steamers are lodged at the St. Louis wharf. A score of barges line the water front. All these vessels are held up because of reports that the lower Mississippi is not a navigable channel.

Admitting that the lower river at present is not the commercial waterway success that optimistics have prophesied, Maj. Gen. Thomas Q. Ashburn, executive chairman of the board of directors of the inland waterways corporation, which operates the government barge line, today discussed some of the problems which he hopes to solve when Secretary of War Hurley and staff resume tomorrow their cruise down the Mississippi to New Orleans.

"We have 569 delayed hours between here and Cairo, Ill., alone," said Gen. Ashburn. "There are two places in the channel which are extremely dangerous to navigation. Between St. Louis and Cairo, the river bed has shifted until steamers and barges grope their way and often are grounded. The other bad place is about fifty miles south of Memphis, Tenn. With these two spots made safe for navigation the Mississippi will take its place as a water highway constantly safe for shipping."

Chicago a Sugar Market.

With the completion of the lakes to the gulf waterway along the Illinois river, Chicago has an opportunity to become one of the great sugar markets of the United States, Maj. Gen. Ashburn pointed out.

"There are two landings in the Louisiana district already completed which permit the sugar cane to be shipped directly on barges after passing through factories," he said. "Formerly, sugar was shipped from this district by railroad to New Orleans. Now, by reason of the terminals erected by the sugar factories themselves, there can be a saving of $12 a carload in addition to the 20 per cent saving that river transportation effects.

Arkansas Town's Good Move.

One of the cities to be visited by the secretary's parties is Helena, Ark., a town of 9,000 people.

"This town built a $450,000 terminal," said Gen. Ashburn. "Other cities in the same area poked fun at this seemingly extravagant expenditure. Now freight shipments through the terminal have increased to such an extent that the city has almost paid off the debt incurred through construction of the terminal."

This terminal opened up grain districts in south Missouri, Oklahoma, and Kansas that had never been able to sell products before because of excessive rail rates, according to Maj. Gen. Ashburn.

"Similarly the terminal at Vicksburg, Miss., opened up a new market for tobacco, soy beans, and cotton piece goods in parts of Georgia, Florida, North and South Carolina," Maj. Gen. Ashburn declared.

FLYER, PLANNING SEA HOP, TO FLY TO N. Y. TODAY

Capt. Roy W. Ammel will take off from Curtiss-Reynolds airport early this morning for New York. He plans to start from New York on a trans-Atlantic flight, the goal of which will depend on the severity of the weather during the crossing and the performance of his special Lockheed monoplane.

The flyer spent yesterday in grooming his ship for the flight. He will carry a half capacity load of about 400 gallons when he takes off this morning. Capt. Ammel made several short trial flights yesterday.

Capt. Ammel hopes to be able to cross the Atlantic, fly over Paris and on to Berlin or Rome, he said, but he has set no definite objective.

One of 2 Police Chiefs in Franklin Park to Resign

The political squabble in Franklin Park over who is chief of police was settled yesterday by Assistant State's Attorney Robert M. Donigan. Chief of Police Samuel Otto, appointed by the mayor, agreed to relinquish his post to Ralph Gorsch, appointed by insurgent village trustees. Otto agreed to resign in return for the payment of $350 back wages. The trustees charged he was not a resident of the village and therefore not qualified.

KING'S DOCTOR HONOR GUEST AT CHICAGO DINNER

Sir St. Clair Thomson, personal physician to the late King Edward VII. of England, was the guest of honor last night at a dinner given by the Chicago Laryngological and Otological society at the Drake hotel.

Dr. Thomson is completing a tour of the cities of western America after having attended the meeting of the British Medical association in Winnipeg.

Dr. Thomson, who was formerly physician to the Royal Italian opera and has held numerous medical and educational positions, spoke of his impressions of America and recalled incidents in the life of King Edward.

"I refuse to make comparisons," he said, "but will say that I am greatly impressed by the opportunity for growth in Chicago. I was warned about your gangsters, but have not even seen one, much less experienced any trouble. It is my first visit to Chicago in 25 years, and I can only marvel at the great change."

EVANSTON GUN TOTER FINED.

Horace Gundy, 40 years old, a Negro, living at 1832 Dodge avenue, Evanston, was fined $200 and costs yesterday by Magistrate Harry H. Porter of that suburb for carrying a revolver. Unable to pay the fine he was sent to the Bridewell.

DENIALS FLY FOR 'INSIDE STORY' BY EX-DRY DIRECTOR

High Officials Accused of Using Influence.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 8.—[Special.]—A new prohibition controversy broke out in Washington today as high government officials retorted to charges made against them in the first of a series of articles on dry law enforcement by Maurice Campbell, former prohibition administrator in New York.

Vice President Charles Curtis said he was "greatly amazed" at Campbell's statement that he influenced the issuance of alcohol permits. Seymour Lowman, assistant secretary of the treasury, accused of ordering a relaxation of brewery supervision in New York during the 1928 campaign described Campbell's story as "the greatest romance of the century."

First of Series Published.

The first of the Campbell articles copyrighted by the New York World and published locally by the Washington Post, purported to start telling the "inside story" of dry law enforcement. Campbell declared that he proposed to demonstrate that treasury officials were "not sincere" and that "prohibition could not be enforced, chiefly because of politics."

The Vice President's influence, Campbell asserted, caused him to issue one permit against his better judgment to a concern soon afterward caught illegally diverting alcohol. He stated further that Mr. Curtis' campaign managers made life miserable for him with pressure to issue permits to companies "which in my view were dubious."

Attacking Lowman, who before July 1 was in charge of prohibition enforcement in the treasury and still supervises customs and the coast guard, Campbell said the treasury official "frankly declared that the voters of New York should have beer to soothe their parched throats," before the 1928 Hoover-Smith election.

"I have read chapter one," commented Lowman in a formal statement, "and would judge that the story is the greatest romance of the century."

"Maj. Campbell was a horse doctor in the army. The horses died. He was a moving picture magnate. The company went bankrupt. As prohibition administrator he failed to dry up New York. He had a free hand. As an author, his imagination beats that of Dante. I have nothing further to say now."

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon was out of the city today and could not be reached for a statement in reply to Campbell's charges involving him.

During the campaign year 1928, the former dry administrator said, his agents raided the Ritz-Carlton hotel in New York. The next day, he said, James M. Doran, then prohibition commissioner, informed him that Mr. Mellon "was greatly displeased because of the raid on the Ritz-Carlton and that his hand had trembled when he spoke of it."

Says Permit Caused Transfer.

Col. A. J. Hanlon, former administrator at Newark, N. J., was transferred to Porto Rico, Campbell said, after he refused a permit to the National Grain Yeast company, the attorney for which was David E. K. Bruce, son-in-law of Secretary Mellon. After Hanlon left for Porto Rico the permit was issued, he said.

Maj. Campbell resigned from the prohibition unit last June after four years in executive positions.

INSURANCE ON JOBS ONLY A STEP FROM DOLE, GREEN AVERS

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 8.—(AP)—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, said in a statement today, "It is only one step from compulsory unemployment insurance to the dole."

Mr. Green's statement foreshadowed the official report to be made by the executive council to the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor in Boston on Oct. 6.

"The best, the real remedy for unemployment is employment," he said. "The obligation rests upon industry to provide employment for men and women willing to work. The dole system embodies a vicious principle, in that it attempts to provide relief by supplying only the minimum of subsistence.

"Besides the dole system develops a paternalism that is demoralizing and destructive. It stifles ambition, destroys initiative and blasts hope."

NEW RCA RADIOLA SUPER-HETERODYNE
"a great advance in radio reception" says MARCONI
Sensational new instrument ... thrilling new performance ... at a remarkably low price!
The greatest compliment a radio ever received ... Marconi calls the new RCA Radiola Super-Heterodyne "a great advance in radio reception ... a splendid contribution to the art!"
As the inventor of radio ... as the courageous pioneer who first made it practical ... as the brilliant leader of the science for 36 years, Marconi's judgment must indeed be respected.
After seven years of scientific development ... after seven years of RCA sponsorship of the Super-Heterodyne principle ... after an investment of millions of dollars in research ... the world's most brilliant radio engineers now bring out the new RCA Radiola Super-Heterodyne!
A radio so far advanced ... so skilfully engineered ... so highly perfected that even Marconi, himself, was moved to praise it!
This new Radiola is not merely twice, not merely three times, but four times more sensitive than any recent model ... three times more selective in getting the one station you want ... without interference from others ... without hum!
It reproduces the broadcast superbly ... voice for voice ... instrument for instrument ... tone for tone ... note for note!
The greatest value in Radiola history! In 1926, the Radiola Super-Heterodyne cost $570. Today, this highly perfected Radiola comes to you for the unheard of low price of $142.50, less Radiotrons.
Hear its thrilling tone ... see its exquisitely designed, well-built cabinets ... you'll agree that only the world's greatest manufacturer of radio could offer so much for so little ... Since the best now costs no more, why not own the best?

Thus the world has changed since the outfits pictured here distinguished the well-dressed man of the whirling decades. In these thirty exciting years the world has been twisted out of shape and remodeled in countless amazing ways. Styles, customs, traditions have been passed up and forsaken for newer, more modern ways.

One custom from these other days still flourishes.

Chicago still looks to the Chicago Tribune as the style medium.

"Comrades since we were boys"—that is the relationship which has existed between the men of Chicago and the Tribune through these years.

Chicago men today turn to the Tribune for style news, for here they find by far the greatest variety of clothing offerings of merchants and manufacturers. During the first eight months of 1930 the Tribune carried 382,000 MORE lines of men's clothing advertising than any other Chicago paper.

To men: Your guide to fashions for the Fall of 1930 is the Chicago Tribune.

To advertisers: Your greatest audience of able-to-buy prospects for 1930 Fall merchandise is in the Chicago Tribune.

STATE ASKED TO DIG TO BOTTOM OF GOTHAM GRAFT

Citizens' Union Demands Governor Act.

New York, Sept. 8.—[Special.]—The Citizens' union called upon Gov. Roosevelt today to instruct Attorney General Ward to investigate alleged office buying in all five boroughs.

Soon after their statement was issued it became known that federal officials are investigating the appointment of another member of the bench, in addition to former Magistrate George F. Ewald, in connection with an inquiry into the income of Martin J. Healy, Tammany district leader.

The federal authorities, it was learned, also are investigating a charge that Healy received cash presents from successful aspirants for plumbers' licenses and have subpenaed a witness who has admitted the payment of $500 to "a go-between."

The statement of the Citizens' union was issued by Leonard Wallstein, its counsel. He pointed out that none of the investigations ordered thus far by the governor were sufficiently comprehensive to include "all the charges, suspicions, and intimations that public offices are bought and sold" in this city.

United States Attorney Charles H. Tuttle continued to ignore reports that his investigation of Healy's income tax status has produced sensational evidence. From other sources, however, it was established that federal agents are checking up on large deposits to Healy's credit in the Corn Exchange bank in connection with another judicial appointment besides Ewald's.

Thomas Penney Jr., first assistant attorney general, spent most of the day questioning witnesses.

Mr. Penney said that he had received no reply from Mayor Walker or George W. Olvany, former leader of Tammany hall, to his request that they present themselves for examination by the grand jury on Sept. 16.

HARBORD, OVER RADIO, HITS ROOSEVELT AND SMITH FOR N. Y. GRAFT

New York, Sept. 8.—[Special.]—Former Gov. Alfred E. Smith in his capacity as national leader of the Democratic party and Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt were coupled with Mayor James J. Walker in a general condemnation of Democratic misrule and corruption in the administration of New York City in a radio address delivered tonight on a country-wide hookup and under the auspices of the Republican national committee by Gen. James G. Harbord, chairman of the Republican advisory committee of New York county.

Democratic politicians have plundered the city treasury; they have exploited the judiciary and have even formed alliances with the underworld, Gen. Harbord said. The result has been the theft of and debauchery of public life thrpugh the sale of appointments and special privileges.

New York, Sept. 8.—[Special.]—Announcement that Miss Manette Guilford, often spoken of as the "Baby Prima Donna" of the Metropolitan Opera company, has obtained a Mexican divorce fr m Max Rosen, violinist, was made today by her attorney, Roberto Haberman, of this city.

Incompatibility and non-support were the grounds and decision was rendered in Sonora last Wednesday, Mr. Haberman said.

WOMAN KILLED BECAUSE SHE'S 'AN OLD WITCH'

New York, Sept. 8.—[Special.]—Bent in two, with the head resting between the knees, her head crushed in and a tie drawn tightly around her throat, the body of Mrs. Delphine Ryan, a widow, 73 years old, was found on top of a dumb waiter leading from the ground floor to the basement of her apartment in a tenement house in West 112th street, today. She had been missing since last Thursday morning.

Police believe she had been strangeld after being struck with a brick. The brick wrapped in blood stained toweling, was found in a room in the basement serving as a kitchen.

The police are looking for a man named Robert Allison Armstrong, a chef, who had been residing with Mrs. Ryan as one of three boarders and whose initial was signed to one or two notes found in his room.

Armstrong is believed to have committed the murder out of revenge. According to neighbors he had been taunted by Mrs. Ryan for failure to find work and for drinking.

The note addressed "P. D." presumably to the police department, read:

"This is a murder of revenge. This woman is a witch. She beat the world for eighty years. If she had lived in the days of the thirteen states she would have been burned at the stake."

The other note, addressed "To the Newspapers, to the snoopers, the $35 dollar a week guys, to everybody," was as follows:

"I suppose all the newspapers are looking for my demise. For all I know I could have been a great poet, a great congressman, a great senator, even President and I would be all right. Russia has the system, Germany has the government and the United States has the graft. If you can't make a living starve."

The police withheld certain portions of the note on the ground that their publication might impede the search for Armstrong.

More Dentists have recommended Colgate's than any other toothpaste ever made

ARE you confused about which toothpaste to use? Do all the claims and counter claims confuse you? Then be guided by the recommendations of highest dental authority. The statement that more dentists have recommended Colgate's than any other toothpaste is a fact that will stand the light of closest investigation.

And here are more facts—equally important.

THAT Colgate's has healthfully and completely cleansed more people's teeth than any other dentifrice the world has ever known.

THAT Colgate's has done this for more years and more people than any other dentifrice ever made.

THAT Colgate's has been more universally recommended by dentists than any other dentifrice ever made.

THAT Colgate's is the biggest seller because it gives the maximum result in thorough, healthful cleansing of the teeth.

COLGATE'S is advised by leading authorities who have been retained to make analytical tests and render expert opinion. Such eminent authorities as Dr. Shirley W. Wynne, Commissioner of Health of New York City, Dr. Hardee Chambliss, Dean of School of Sciences, Catholic University of America, Washington D. C., and others agree Colgate's has cleansing properties found in no other dentifrice.

THAT the great demand for Colgate's, created over all these years, has enabled the company to manufacture this superlatively fine dentifrice and to sell a generous full-size tube for 25 cents.

For 30 years—toothpastes have come and gone. Today—as 30 years ago—and all the years between—Colgate's is still the biggest seller.

THE NEW PACKARD EIGHT

WE MOST cordially invite you to come in and look over the new Packard cars now on display at our showrooms.

You will find them as fine gold refined—as one of the world's finest cars made still finer.

A Wide Choice of Beautiful New Models

The new Packard Eight includes more notable improvements and refinements than any Packard of recent years. It is available in thirty-two beautiful models ranging in price from $2385 for the ever-popular Standard Eight Five-Passenger Sedan to $6075 for the finest Individual Custom creation. (At the factory.)

Improved carburetion and manifolding have increased the power. With added power, performance, especially in traffic and at the "red light", has been bettered. The advantages which only a four-speed transmission can give have been retained, with the transmission converted to the "short-shift" type. Longer and softer springs and new shock absorbers provide more riding comfort. An entirely automatic lubrication system now takes the human element out of daily chassis care and protects the long life resulting from fine engineering and precision manufacture.

Bodies made in Packard's own factories are the finest in every way that Packard has ever offered. Traditional appearance has been retained and beauty of line refined. Interiors have been beautified and made more luxurious. New color combinations have been provided.

Thirty years of building for the most discriminating clientele has taught the Packard Motor Car Company what such a clientele demands. And year by year—and again this year—new luxuries, new refinements and new improvements have been added.

An Investment in Luxurious Transportation

Today when nearly everyone is thinking in terms of investment instead of speculation, and buying more carefully, we ask you to view refined and improved cars—cars without a single speculative or untried feature. With Packard the car has always been greater than any one feature. You could not buy, expecting to keep your car four or five years if it were otherwise.

We shall be delighted to have you visit our showrooms and, as our guest, you will not be urged to buy. You will be extended every courtesy and desired attention in return for your own kindness in calling.

LAST CAMPAI
AT BROOKL

Bruins Snap Out Hero Roles.

The first two games of the series will be played on the grounds of the American league club on Oct. 1 and 2. This was decided yesterday at a meeting of baseball officials. If a western club wins the National league pennant, the third, fourth, and fifth games will be played on the National league winner's field on Oct. 4, 5, and 6. (Details on following page.)

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Brooklyn, N. Y., Sept. 8.—It was a sourfaced troupe of Cubs that straggled into the Grand Central station at 4:20 o'clock this afternoon. This applies especially to the boys who all are registered as pitchers, though goodness knows it's been a long time since they've showed anything to justify the title.

We would not say that the Cubs as the Pilgrims were rattling as they took the ordeal of playing the Robins tomorrow as the inaugural of their final eastern invasion. No one seemed especially pale. Just a sour bunch of athletes, trying bravely to keep themselves together that they might again engage in the pursuit of baseball, which they are paid to execute, and play something better than .333 ball.

Pat Malone has been in Altoona, Pa., at rest for the Brooklyn opener. He will be opposed by Ray Phelps, who has been an able performer this year against almost everybody except the Cubs.

Too Many Ovations.

It may be that the Cubs in the last nine games, of which they won three, were worn out from autographing baseballs and attending too many community suppers. They were a dampered lot when they concluded their successful home stay. It is easy to bear up under the town's pleasure indefinitely.

But they are not town heros on their return seaboard after the way they repeatedly blew six and seven runs last week. Many folks are saying things about the courage of Cubs that no athlete likes to hear about himself. An athlete likes to think himself at his best when things is tough. And no man who makes a living out of his supposed physical skill and mental fortitude likes to be accused of curling up before the onslaughts of his rivals, especially if said rivals have been humbled on occasions.

But don't turn on the Cubs because they have been in a pennant race they have shown in the past they have wonderful recuperative powers. Each is in his hotel tonight, fighting with himself to restore the battling mental attitude that has brought them through many a crisis.

Through with Waners.

The Waner brothers of the Pittsburgh club are great athletes, two of the best that ever played baseball such as they, when they really start bearing down, can bring fear and trembling to most any pitcher. But Waners can play on only one team. If they frightened the Chicago pitchers out of their wits and proceeded to maul them, it is a matter of no particular concern. The Cubs will not see the Waners again this year, but the Cardinals will.

There is the big hope of the Cubs. If the pitchers now can settle down and regain their composure. It is fortunate that the season will end up with the Cubs playing Pittsburgh, as they may next year. That was a terrifying thing it would be if Mr. McCarthy's pitchers had to go through this vital eastern trip. We thought that they still had a chance now to the little Waner boys.

Once the confidence of the pitching staff is restored, some of the support cast who also cracked last week would also return to normalcy. There is the comforting thought during all last week's balloon ride Jack Wilson, Gabby Hartnett, Hal Cuyler had their feet on the ground at times when there was a crying need of panic quelling.

Kelly Keeps Cool.

George Kelly was among those who showed no signs of buckling under last week's strain. In fact, most of the panic was among the pitchers. Rogers Hornsby on Saturday pitched one of the worst games of his career. Danny Taylor, Bell, and Wilson contributed errors plainly attributable to a panicky state of mind. Surely no fan will be too severe on the Rajah in view of this. But the ranging summer he's just passed through. And the others will be as lively as ever, once the pitchers settle.

Manager McCarthy did not accompany the club to Brooklyn, stopping in Buffalo for the night. It is believed, however, he probably will be back on the bench and confer on Kelly's resumption of the old job that had Blair at second and Kelly out of the batting order.

Nine of Next 14 Games Will Satisfy Cubs

The Cubs today open a 14 game in- vasion of the east, which will make or break them in so far as the 1930 National league pennant is concerned. Three games at Brooklyn starting this afternoon, four at Philadelphia, three at New York, and four at Boston prob- ably will decide the fate of last year's title holders, although they have a four game series with the Reds begin- ning at Wrigley field Sept. 26.

Thus far Brooklyn, the immediate enemy, has contributed to the Cubs' welfare to the extent of 14 victories as against five losses. The champions are hoping to get more help in the current series.

Pennant hopes of the Cubs are ex- pected to soar when the club visits Philadelphia Sept. 12, 13, 15 for four contests, which include a double head- er Sept. 13. The Phillies have pound- ed Cub hurlers all year, but the cham- pions have abused the Quaker hurlers even more, with the result that rec- ords show 14 Cub victories in 18 starts against the cellar occupants. Nothing less than three victories in four con- tests will satisfy McCarthy there.

Then will come a visit to the Polo grounds for a series of three with the Giants Sept. 16, 17, and 18. The young men of Manhattan hold a 10 to 9 edge for the season.

Four games in Boston, starting Sept. 19, are expected to fatten the Cubs' victory list, for haven't the Braves been obliging this season? The Chi-

BASEBALL'S OLD HEROES COME BACK FOR DAY

Cy Young Beats Ed Walsh in Old Timers' Game.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 8.—(AP)—Back from the farm and fireside came al- most two score of baseball's heroes to engage in an old timers game here today which a team composed of old Boston players won, 8 to 4. The oppo- nents of the Boston Immortals were an aggregation of some of the out- standing stars of baseball history play- ing under the name of All Stars.

Cy Young, one of the greatest of pitchers, got credit for the victory after holding the stars hitless during the one inning he pitched. The loss of the game was chalked up to Ed Walsh, former White Sox star, who now has two sons in the national pas- time, although Walsh was but one of five pitchers who hurled for the All Stars.

Brings Back Memories.

The activity on the playing field brought back memories to 30,000 fans who saw Tris Speaker, Harry Hooper, and Duffy Lewis pulling down flies in the outfield for Boston and it seemed like old times when, in the opening innings, Lewis galloped to the left field wall to pull down Home Run Baker's drive. One incident carried back further than the memories of many of the fans as Patsy Donovan, an outfielder in 1890, singled when he batted for Bill Dinneen.

The old Athletic infield was there, Stuffy McInnis, Eddie Collins, Jack Barry, and Baker. Even Candy La- chance, whose moustache was the envy of the other big leaguers back in 1903, was back at first base for Boston.

Ty Cobb in Center.

Ty Cobb played for both teams, holding center field for the All-Stars for seven innings and then switching sides to bat for the genial Hank Gowdy in the eighth. The once de- mon hitter either grounded or flied out on his four trips to the plate.

PAT CARAWAY OR FABER TO FACE RED SOX TODAY

When the White Sox resume busi- ness operations this afternoon at Comiskey park, their pitching will be handled either by Pat Caraway, the right handed southpaw, or Red Faber, rising young southpaw pitcher. Manager the 42 year old spitballer. Manager Donie Bush will flip a coin at noon to decide which of the pair should la- bor against the Red Sox in the first of a three game series. The tail enders, who have been troublesome for Bush's men all season, will put Dan MacFayden, the bespectacled right hander, on the firing line.

After the series with Boston the pale hose are slated for four with Washington, four in three days with the Athletics, and three with the Yankees. The latter series will close Comiskey park for the year. The Sox end their season with four games at Detroit.

BRITISH POLOISTS TO RETAIN LINEUP IN SECOND GAME

BY TOM PETTEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 8.—The British polo squad which went down to defeat on Saturday in the first match of the international title series will stand pat and send the same lineup against the Americans in the second tilt on Wednesday.

This bit of definite information, while not officially announced, nevertheless became known in inside polo circles following a war meeting of the British team members "behind the stables" at the army polo center at Meadow- brook this afternoon.

Will Use Same Four.

There was a long and serious dis- cussion by members of the British squad, but at its end it was evident that the challengers will stake all on the same four which lost to the Ameri- cans in the opening game.

Immediately following Saturday's 10 to 5 victory for the United States players there was considerable talk of a shakeup in England's team. There was a report that Lewis Lacey, the Argentine star, would be shifted from No. 2 to No. 1, to replace Gerald Bald- ing, who was playing below his regu- lar form. There was another story that Capt. Richard George, the regu- lar No. 1, who dropped out because of illness, would be back on the team. But it was learned tonight that none of these changes will be made, al- though the official announcement of the lineup was withheld until tomor- row.

No Change Among Yanks.

Likewise, there appeared little like- lihood that the Americans would shift any of their players.

Among Long Island polo players the ruling opinion was that the Ameri- cans did not need to change and that the British had better let their lineup stand and hope for Balding to hit his stride.

Polo authorities conceded that Lacey could play anywhere he might be placed, but that with one cham- pionship game behind them in Satur- days' formation it would be courting trouble to again shift the players. The British team has expressed con- fidence in being able to put up a hard- er fight next time. If they do, the series may go into a third game Sat- urday. The betting, however, is that Wednesday's game will see the cup safely in America for the third con- secutive time.

Should the American team be changed, it only would be to give other star players a chance at inter- national competition. There is little possibility, however, of the game be- ginning with any one other than Ped- ley, Hopping, Hitchcock and Guest in the lineup.

Two of the men who played in Saturday's game were riding again this afternoon. Winston Guest, the American back, and Gerald Balding, the British No. 1, took part in a pickup match at Roslyn Polo club. They only played a couple of periods and took things easy. Guest, who got a couple of bruises Saturday, played to limber up, and Balding, who has been missing a lot of shots, was trying to get his eye on the ball.

Capt. Pat Roark, Lacey, and Earle Hopping watched the Rosyln game from the sidelines. They appeared in good shape, but took no part in the game.

Out at the stables at Mitchel field the mounts of both sides were resting. There was not an injury of any con- sequence reported and the British were of the opinion their horses would be in better shape for the second game than they were for the first.

Here Are Two Fellows Who Think Canzoneri Will Win

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Tony Canzoneri and his manager, Sammy Goldman, have been charged with making a mistake when they agreed to meet Billy Pe- trolle Thursday night at the Sta- dium.

Jack Hurley, Petrolle's mana- ger, made the charge last week while Petrolle was punching his spar mates around the Ar- cade ring.

"Petrolle can hit, Canzoneri presses the at- tack and is a com- paratively easy target. When Petrolle connects with his right Tony will go down, just as Jack Berg did two years ago at Mills' stadium," Hurley pre- dicted.

BILLY PETROLLE.

Manager Gives His View.

Yesterday Mr. Goldman outlined the case for the defense.

"I'll start my rebuttal by admitting that Petrolle is a hard puncher," Goldman said. "I know he has knocked out 12 of his last 14 oppo- nents. Sure, he stopped Kid Berg in five rounds and Kid Berg beat Can- zoneri a few months ago. But when I admit these facts it still doesn't prove I've made a poor match.

"Kid Berg wouldn't meet Petrolle again, but did you knew he also re- fused to meet Tony? And I suppose the Chicago fans believe with the offi- cials of Madison Square Garden that Tony should take it easy until Nov. 14, when he gets his chance at Singer's lightweight championship. Well, we don't do business that way, and we never have.

"I like to know just where we stand all the time. I think Tony is one of the greatest fighters in the division. We both think Tony will whip Petrolle. Tony has been beaten, but it has taken a master boxer to do it. Sammy Mandell did it, but you know how close that fight was. When Tony meets Singer in November it'll be his fourth title fight in four years. He fought a draw for the bantam- weight championship. He defeated Benny Bass for the featherweight title, and then he lost to Mandell for the lightweight honors.

Tony Twenty-one Years Old.

"Tony's young. He won't be 22 until November," Goldman continued.

Goldman grinned. "Well, you see Tony began fighting when he was 17 and somehow or other the New York commission got the idea he was 21. He had to be 21 you know to fight ten rounds. It came out last year at a banquet Tony's New York friends gave him. The dinner was in honor of his twenty-first birthday.

"Yeah, the commission knows about it and everything's fixed up. But they told me a couple at that.

"When Tony's through with Petrolle," Goldman concluded, "we're going down to Kansas City. Meet young Mickey Cohen on Sept. 19. And we may be back here again in Octo- ber."

Boxes Four Rounds.

This conversation indicates Tony is confident of victory. That eliminates the "sucker" match idea in his own mind.

Canzoneri boxed four rounds yester- day at Barry's gym. It was his sec- ond workout in Chicago. Tiger Stew- art, young colored boy, started the warming up. Then came Eddie Speaks for two sessions. Tony and Eddie drew applause for their speedy action. In close Tony played his left to the body and snapped short rights to the stom- ach and head. However, Speaks caught Tony several times with hard rights to the head.

"If Petrolle can do that," one fan said, "Tony will go down and out."

Diegel Shoots 69 to Get Into Select 32.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[SCORES ON PAGE 23.]

New York, Sept. 8.—It may com- fort and console a large number of common suburban plowmen around this country to know that the pro- fessional golfers who are so glib with their instructions to contract the neck and keep the ears back and the head down at the instant of impact also suffer when they attempt to play the game.

The boys of the Professional Golfers' association began their own national tournament on the grounds of the Fresh Meadow club at Flushing, L. I., today, and they enacted some very scrubby golf. Mostly they were trou- bled by irresolute putts which wobbled about the greens, short of the holes and often completely off the line. Johnny Farrell and Horton Smith led the field with 145's.

Gene Sarazen, the resident profes- sional, whose position gave him the right to speak a little more freely than a guest artist might, decided that the greens were a wee mite too thick and ought to be mowed over night with the blades of the mowers dropped down so as to shave the grass about three days under the skin. This doubtless can be arranged, for the Fresh Meadow club seems quite hos- pitable and eager to please.

Playoff Ends Day's Labor.

There were 63 players in the pro- cession which began in the morning and did not conclude until a party of six pathetic maestroes teed up and shot a one hole playoff along toward seven in the evening to determine which of them was to qualify as the thirty- second man in the match competition which will continue until Saturday afternoon.

These six had shot scores of 158 for two 18 hole rounds and the playoff ended when five of them took five shots on a par four hole, to the in- ward malicious pleasure of the cus- tomers, numbering, perhaps 350. It was as though five out of six school teachers were to spell cat with a "K" before a class of seven year old bar- barians, and a number of the pupils could be heard to remark that the good professors had neglected to con- tract their necks, pull in their ears and keep their heads down.

Billy Burke, playing as of Green- wich, Conn., although the addresses of the professionals seldom mean any- thing, was one who spelled it right. His four gave him the last available place in the all-week row over Leo Diegel's title of P. G. A. champion.

Diegel Plays Under Par.

Mr. Diegel himself, crouching over his putter in a cramped and comfort- less attitude, with the shaft imbedded in his middle, achieved the lowest score of the day, a 69, on the after- noon tour of a par 70 course. He did this notwithstanding a six on the home hole, but he had taken 81 cuts in his morning round and his total of 150 was five strokes worse than the best of the day, recorded by Farrell and Horton Smith.

Mr. Farrell was no confident hero himself, however, for he started the last nine holes of the day on a con- ventional golf course without any in- timidating features, with a loss of two strokes. He arched his drive deep into the sand of a trap off to the left of the tenth hole and was forced to gouge it out, even as you and I would, with a loss of one stroke. Then, on the eleventh green, he missed a putt that any fairly skillful patron of the vest pocket putteries which now adorn the vacant lots might have tapped down without looking.

All Under 158 Qualify.

His brother, coach and intructor, James Farrell, was strolling along on burning feet behind him, his gray jacket slung over his arm, chewing a sprig of golden rod plucked from the rough, and muttering words of coun- sel between remarks on the growth of the new street corner golf in which he had become a magnate with a joint on the Boston Post road in New Ro- chelle. The tiny courses, said he,

TAKE 3D PLACE; TRAIL LEADERS BY 3½ GAMES

Phils Beaten Twice, 8-2 and 11-4.

Only four games separate the first and fourth place clubs in the National league race. The Robins yesterday be- came a greater menace to the league leading Cubs by winning a double header from the Phillies and now are only three and one-half games behind last year's champions. The Cardinals remain 2½ games from the top and the Giants, in fourth place, are 4 games back.

The Cubs figure they must win 90 games to clinch the pennant, and in that case must take 10 of the 18 remaining games. To pass last year's champions, the Cardinals would have to win 14 of 19, the Robins 14 of 17, and the Giants 15 of 18. The standing then would be:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Cardinals	91	63	.591

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 8.—(AP)—The National league pennant race was drawn a little tighter today as the Brooklyn Robins won a double header from the Phillies, moving into third place, only three and one-half games back of the pace setting Chicago Cubs. The Brooklyn-Philadelphia games were the only contests scheduled in either major league.

Two big innings in each game and a brilliant hurling exhibition by Ray Moss in the opener gave the Robins the first encounter, 8 to 2, and the nightcap 11 to 4. Moss was the whole show for the Robins in the first game, holding the Phillies to four hits while his mates hammered Hansen and Phillips to all corners of the ball park, scoring five runs in the fifth to take the lead and eventually the game.

The second contest was a close battle until the seventh, when the Dodgers smashed six runs across the plate, driving Willoughby from the mound. Jim Elliott had held the Phillies in check until their half of the seventh, when he weakened and Thurston was rushed to the rescue. The veteran blanked the home team for the remainder of the battle, while Harold Elliott followed Sweetland on the mound for the Phillies. Scores:

SOUTH BEND OR CHAMPAIGN FOR WINNING KICKERS

Victors in Tribune Contest to Have Choice.

The four winners of THE TRIBUNE'S forward passing and drop kicking contests will be THE TRIBUNE'S guests at a college football game. Sectional contests will be held Sept. 12. The champions will be determined in the finals at Mills stadium, Sept. 27.

The Notre Dame game with the Navy at South Bend, Oct. 11, and the Northwestern-Illinois contest at Champaign, Oct. 18, have been named as games the winners might see. They will be given a choice. However, many boys eligible to enter the senior group of contestants—ages 15 to 19 inclusive—may be unable to attend either of these college games because of conflict with high school schedules.

Any Game for Preps.

In the event a member of a high school team wins one of the four championships and he cannot attend either of the college games named because his own team is playing on those dates, he may select any game during the season within a similar radius of Chicago.

All the sectional contests and the finals start at 9 a. m. The preliminaries will be held at Bessemer park, Washington park, Douglas park, Mills stadium, Kelvyn park, De Paul university field, and Loyola university field.

Several hundred boys already have entered. The junior group is 14 years of age and under. The juniors have five passes each at a stationary target 3 feet in diameter from a distance of 15 yards. The older boys throw at the same target from a distance of 20 yards.

Five Kicks for Youngsters.

In the drop kicking tests the youngsters try five kicks 20 yards from the goal posts. Four seconds are allowed for each kick. The seniors kick 30 yards from the goal posts with the same time limit.

Clip the entry blank which is printed daily in THE TRIBUNE and mail it immediately. Be certain you specify the sectional in which you wish to compete.

Why Are Cubs 1st? Timely Hits, Good Leader, Fans Say

Timely hitting and the leadership of Joe McCarthy were among the reasons for the Cubs' first place position in the National league, in the opinion of fans whose letters were received yesterday. Two of the letters follow:

CREDIT DUE McCARTHY.

When a bunch of ordinary ball players with but one consistent hitter, and all the dependable pitching coming from rookies, persists in holding the lead in a major league race as the Cubs have this year there can be but one answer—managerial ability. This is not a knock at the team. The men who have been in the game have played their hearts out, and I am for them, but the fact remains that all year they have been playing with a patched lineup. McCarthy has had some good luck undoubtedly such as the development of Blair into the best second baseman since Evers and the unexpected showing of English at third and the effectiveness of Osborn and Teachout when the regulars went wabbly, but if we knew the inside story very probably these could be attributed to managerial foresight. McCarthy could take any one of the four contending clubs and win a pennant; give him a season to get acquainted and he would make the Phillies hard to catch.

Sincerely yours,
JOHN RAYMOND HAND,
Lanark, Ill.

HIT IN PINCHES.

In my mind, it is the hitting in the pinches that holds the Cubs at the top of the National league flag race. Of late they have won a great many of their games on a few hits due to the fact that they come at the right time.

Time and time again they have been outhit and have still won the game. It is not only Cuyler, Wilson and some of their outstanding stars who have done this, but in these box scores one will notice that Blair, Danny Taylor, English and Farrell have played important parts in some of these games.

Lester Bell's playing the last two weeks have added a great amount of power to the Cubs' attack.

Nisse Ramm, Swedish Champion, Held to Draw

Nisse Ramm, Sweden's heavyweight champion, was held to a ten round draw last night at Shewbridge stadium by Joe Miller of the stock yards. The decision broke Ramm's string of seven victories. He previously had defeated Miller.

Dick Sisk won in six rounds from Johnny Panek. The other results were: George O'Connell knocked out Joe Rehling [1]; Freddie Miller knocked out Johnny Lazar [3]; Mickey Joy defeated Jimmy Ryan [4]; Hamburg Wiskany and Angelo Garlow, draw [4]. Two thousand watched the fights.

South Side Wins Women's Golf Series

An all star team of south side women golfers scored 23 points in yesterday's final intradistrict matches at Olympia Fields to win the championship with a season's total of 59 points against the north side's 58 and the west's 18.

The south siders began the day two points behind their north side rivals, but Virginia Van Wie, Mrs. E. T. Nichols Jr., Mrs. Melvin Jones, and June and Florence Beebe, soon passed the leaders and held on to their narrow margin.

Miss Van Wie was the low scorer of the day, her 44—43—87 making five points out of a possible six. Mrs. Jones piled up six points and in doing so overthrew Virginia Ingram, one of the mainstays of the north side team. Mrs. Nicholas was another to score the maximum six points.

The west siders, who have trailed throughout the season, were handicapped by the absence of some of their best players and were able to collect only three points. Individual scores follow:

SOUTH.	Pts.

EASTERN HORSES SOUGHT FOR RICH GOLD CUP RACE

Joseph A. Murphy, general manager of the Hawthorne Jockey club, leaves for New York Thursday to witness the running of the Futurity and to interest eastern horsemen in the renewal of the $25,000 Hawthorne Gold Cup to be run early in October.

Willis Sharpe Kilmera's Sun Beau, which won this event last season, has already been named for the race, but the Hawthorne association is anxious to bring Petee Wrack, Balko, Marine, Dr. Freeland, Hot Toddy, and other eastern stars into the struggle here against Lady Broadcast, Victorian, Pigeon Hole, Plucky Play, My Dandy, Brown Wisdom, and the other western leaders.

California is to be represented in the Gold Cup this year by Jim Dandy, conquerer of Gallant Fox in the Travers stakes, and by Ervast, which was a sensation at Agua Caliente during the summer season.

FIRST GAME OF WORLD SERIES TO BE PLAYED OCT. 1

Work on determining the ownership of the world baseball championship for 1930 will start the afternoon of Oct. 1 in the park occupied by the American league pennant winner, which in this case undoubtedly will be the Philadelphia Athletics. It is the American league's turn this fall to have the honor of being host at the opening battle.

The four contending clubs in the National league—the Cubs, Cardinals, Robins, and Giants—all will accept reservations for series tickets starting Monday. As in the past all tickets will be sold in blocks of three games each.

The opening date for the fall classic and other details incidental to the staging thereof were decided upon yesterday at a meeting of the interested magnates in the office of Commissioner K. M. Landis.

Arrangements were made so as to provide for the time needed for travel in the event the National league is represented by a western team, two of which now are holding the whip hand in the stretch finish.

First Two at Shibe Park.

Regardless of eventualities in the National league affair two games, Oct. 1 and 2, will be played at Shibe park, Philadelphia, before a change is made.

If the Cubs or Cardinals earn the right to uphold the National circuit Oct. 3 will be an open date for travel. Three games then will be staged in Chicago or St. Louis, Oct. 4, 5, and 6. If a sixth game is necessary, it will take place Oct. 8 at Philadelphia. If, after a sixth meeting neither team has won four games, the seventh and deciding contest will occur in the American league club's park Oct. 9.

Victory for either the Giants or Robins in the National league race will eliminate off days, barring rain after the series once is started. With one of those two clubs involved the scene of the event will be shifted from Philadelphia so that the third game can be played Oct. 3 on National league property. The remainder of a schedule such as this would be Oct. 4 and 5 at Brooklyn or New York, Oct. 6 and 7, if necessary, at Philadelphia.

Prices Up as Usual.

Prices for the series, no matter where staged, will be boosted as in the past. Box seats will involve an expenditure of $6.60; grand stand reserved, $5.50; general admission, $3.30, and bleachers, $1.00. Because of the limited time, ticket applications probably will be accepted by the contending clubs even before the National league race is decided.

Two clubs with a mathematical chance for a pennant spurred the meeting. Washington, trailing the Athletics by six and one-half games, was not represented. Nobody was on hand to speak for the Giants, who are four laps behind the leading Cubs. Those in attendance were President William Veeck of the Cubs, Treasurer Will DeWitt of the St. Louis Cardinals, President Frank York of Brooklyn and President Tom Shibe and Secretary R. J. Schroeder of the Athletics. President E. S. Barnard of the American league and John Heydler, the National league executive, also participated.

THREE MAROON GRID CANDIDATES ARE INELIGIBLE

Three lettermen for the Maroon football squad, two forthcoming from the re- serve team and one added yesterday when the final report of eligibility revealed that the three players would not be available. They are Trude, tackle, one of the four Hausmen, is the most import- ant, for line talent is very thin, and the loss of Trude leaves the Hausmen squad without an experi- enced tackle. Bernard Wien, who was expected to win an end position, and Rudy, a sophomore back, are declared ineligible.

NINE OUT OF NEXT 14 GAMES WILL SATISFY CUBS

cagoans have taken 14 out of 18 from the Bostonians.

If McCarthy's pitchers regain their composure Cub followers expect their favorites to win nine games on the road. The Cubs, they point out, should break even in Brooklyn and New York, and that's conceding either the Giants or Robins two out of three. That would be three victories in six games. The Phils and Braves should provide three triumphs apiece, leaving two games for them to fight over.

It is predicted that 90 games will win the pennant, so after the eastern trip the Cubs then would come home with 89 games won. Four games with the Red should bring the triumphs necessary to give Chicago another league flag.

were luring thousands of victims to the game, and it is his idea that once they are enticed to the putting and driving pitches it will be no problem at all to sell them instructions in the contraction of the neck and so forth at the instant of impact.

All the boys with scores under 153 qualified, but this left the field shy one man, and that was why they held the brief playoff. Tomorrow the lads who made more or less good in this preliminary work will go out in pairs and play matches of 36 holes, eliminating one another after the manner of the tennis athletes in the current tournament over at Forest Hills except that the draw was blind. Thus the good ones in some instances will meet other good ones early in the week, and there is no provision to ease the stars along to the final match for the good of the gate.

Three Chicagoans Survive.

Harry Cooper, Al Espinosa and Laurie Ayton of Chicago and Joe Frank of Kenosha all qualified, but Alex Ayton of Springfield, Ill., and Frank Walsh of Chicago were excused from further participation. Cooper's 146, composed of a 75 in the morning and a 71 in the afternoon, placed him just behind Farrell and Smith. Espinosa shot his day's business in 150. Frank's score was 154 and Laurie Ayton's was 156. Walsh and Alex Ayton took 162.

Tommy Armour, an athlete who was quite seriously scuffed up in the war, arrived with a card of 148, not exactly displeased with himself as he said the fairways were dimpled with sunken lies as a result of the drought which fried the grass in spots and left the ground uneven. Finishing his game, Mr. Armour then pegged away a bucket of balls for the moving pictures, while a number of patrons stood by wondering just how good he might have been if he hadn't been scuffed up. For a reconstruction job, Mr. Armour tugs a golf ball with enviable grace and skill.

Armour will play with, and also against, Dave Hackney in the first match round. Johnny Farrell drew for his opponent a youth in fawn colored slacks named Norman Smith, who came all the way from an Indian trading post called Yakima, Wash., and toured the grounds today with Farrell and Al Watrous. This Smith boy shot 156, and while that score was not very boastworthy, the professors all say he is very competitive and hard to subdue in a match. The other pairings are as follows:

UPPER BRACKET.
Erick Seavall and Al Watrous.
Charles Lacey and Charles Guest.
Harold Sampson and Clarence Ershman.
Leo Diegel and Henry Ciuci.
James Kenney and Bob Shave
Densmore Shute and Joe Frank.

Gene Sarazen and Charles Schneider.
Wiffy Cox and Bob Crowley.
Bill Mehlhorn and Harry Cooper.
Mark Fry and Al Espinosa.
Gunnard Johnson and Joe Kirkwood.
Johnny Golden and John Collins.
Billy Burke and Horton Smith.

CARNERA PUTS PAT M'CARTHY AWAY IN SECOND

New York, Sept. 8.—[Special.]—Primo Carnera scored his twenty-first American ring knockout and his twenty-second consecutive conquest since coming to this country at the Velodrome in Newark tonight.

The giant Venetian knocked out Pat McCarthy, Boston heavyweight veteran, in the second round of a scheduled ten round bout which attracted some 10,000 fans.

CENTRAL STATES HAVE 1,000,000 IN HUNTERS' ARMY

BY BOB BECKER.

An idea of the big bombardment that the fall hunting season brings to the middle western states, and the popularity of the sport of hunting in this territory can be secured from a glance at the number of hunters who take licenses and pay good money to the states for the privilege of using either a rifle or shotgun on game.

Here is the roll call for those states in Chicagoland: Illinois, 300,413; Indiana, 309,191, plus more than 11,000 free permits to honorably discharged soldiers, etc.; Iowa, 173,116; Michigan, 317,622, and Minnesota, 110,536.

Add these figures and you find that more than 1,000,000 outdoor fans like to bear arms in the field against the rabbits, pheasants, ducks, geese, quail, and other game birds and mammals.

These figures do not represent guess work. On the contrary they are from one of Uncle Sam's bureaus in Washington [biological survey]. In some of the states mentioned the figures represent combined hunting and fishing licenses, but in some cases they tell the story of hunting licenses alone. For example, Michigan's impressive total of 317,622 speaks for a great army of wild game hunters in that state.

With more than one million hunters in the upper Mississippi valley it can be said that approximately one-sixth of the nation's licensed shooters is right close to the main migration route of the waterfowl because the last figures on licenses issued in the United States shows a total of 6,425,000 for the entire country.

The number of gunners who like to go afield here in the central states and get an occasional bag of game really is larger than the official figures indicate. A million hunters "springing to arms" at this time of the year is enough to give any conservation department a headache as it tries to figure out how to raise enough game to provide sport for everybody, but to this million must be added many thousands of unlicensed gunners who take their toll of game. This class is found in the fact that some states permit owners of land or tenants to hunt on their property without a license.

WILLIAMS BEATS LOTT IN NATIONAL NET TOURNAMENT

Chicago Star Wins First Set, Drops Three.

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 8.—(AP)—A prey to his own erratic temperament and the hair-trigger strokes of his famous opponent, young George Lott of Chicago went down to surprising defeat at the hands of the veteran, Richard N. Williams, in the second round of the national tennis singles championship this afternoon. The scores were 7-9, 7-5, 7-5, 6-1.

GEORGE LOTT.

Preceded only by Big Bill Tilden and Wilmer Allison on the list of seeded American favorites, Lott had been generally expected to win without difficulty from the Philadelphia sharpshooter, who held this title back in 1914 and 1916. Now 39 years old and long since past his peak, Williams was not even included among the seeded entrants.

In the four sets the iron arm of the great old campaigner, Williams, piled up a total of 14 aces, twice as many as Lott collected, and throughout the match the famous "all or nothing" volleys that have made him one of the most spectacular players were working to perfection. He made more placements than Lott and fewer errors, fairly earning a brilliant victory that set the stadium ringing with the cheers of 6,000 fans.

Tilden Wins Easily.

Lott's downfall came in his first match of the tournament, as he and Williams drew byes in the opening round on Saturday, and it removed an outstanding contender from the path of Big Bill Tilden. Til

CHICAGO STOCK MARKET MOVES AT QUICKER PACE

Profit Taking Acts as Brake to Advances.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Evidence that the stock market is getting out of the professional rut in which it has moved during the greater part of the summer was reflected in the volume of shares traded in yesterday. On the Chicago exchange transactions reached 240,000 shares, the biggest turnover for a single day since the lull which set in last last June.

Just how much of the increased trading originated outside of the professional fraternity is a matter of conjecture. Coming as it did, however, after the busy short session experienced at the close of last week, it is reasonable to suspect that the public is relaxing a bit in its attitude of aloofness.

Popular Issues Slip.

The immediate effect of the larger volume was not, as one might expect, a brisk advance in prices. On the other hand, prices were highly irregular. The market was called upon to absorb considerable profit taking from the short term speculators who were anxious to reap the benefits of last week's advance. The result was that a number of issues which have been popular recently were moderately depressed.

The motor group was the bright spot in the list. Leadership in the group remained with Auburn Automobile, which was in good demand during most of the day. A last minute spurt put the stock up to 34½, representing a net gain of 8 points over last week's final quotation. Sales in the issue approached 5,000 shares, a comparatively heavy volume for a high priced issue on the Chicago exchange.

Improvement shown by other motor shares was more modest. Cord Corporation, which has been quite indifferent to Auburn's recent advances, was in better demand, gaining a point to finish at 9. Houdaille issues gained slightly, while Borg Warner and Bendix were steady around previous closing levels.

Majestic Off 2 Points.

Libby McNeill, Electric Household and Majestic, which were prominent in last week's advance, sustained moderate losses. Majestic was up on early trades but reacted to finish off about two points. FitzSimmons & Connell emerged from the inactive column to run up over four points on sales approximating 1,400 shares. Other specialties to close with small net gains were Process, U. S. Radio and Great Lakes Aircraft.

The heavy dealings in Chicago corporation continued and for a while the common sold above 12, but the final price was unchanged from the previous day. The preferred was less active and slightly higher. Speculators took note of the fact that Chicago common is now selling only slightly under Continental Chicago common, which closed yesterday at 13½. Talk of a possible merger between the two concerns, which are sponsored by the same interests, has been revived by the recent activity in the shares.

EXTENDING FREEDOM OF SALE

THAT INVESTMENT MAY BE UNHINDERED

"Can I sell readily, after I have bought?" This question of marketability has become the very essence of investing today. Without an open market for his securities, the investor quite naturally hesitates to put out his money—possibly needed again shortly and urgently.

Yet of the one hundred and fifty billion dollars worth of securities in this country, full forty billions have hitherto had no public market where open competition might establish a current fair price of purchase and sale.

Many sound corporations under able management have thus lacked economical access to public investment. And the public, although desiring to avail itself of investment opportunities, has frequently turned away because of unmarketability alone.

To remedy this situation, the New York Produce Exchange established a Securities Market where sound securities not listed on other New York exchanges may be openly bought and sold on published brokerage commissions.

To this new Securities Market the Produce Exchange brings 68 years of probity in exchange practice on grains, flour and other vital commodities. World-wide facilities of trade, the largest exchange trading floor in the world, an efficient ticker service to make quotations immediately public, a strong Stock Clearing Association housed under the same exchange roof—these and many other facilities of the Produce Exchange contribute importantly to the high efficiency of its Security Market.

+ + + + +

Investors are cordially invited to avail themselves of these services through brokers qualified under the strict regulations to represent them in buying and selling. At every step the investor's welfare is guarded by regulations in excess of legal requirements, and by integrity of brokers in accord with the long tradition of the New York Produce Exchange.

STOCK RATING REMAINS FAIR, SURVEY FINDS

Earnings Ratios Hold Up Well.

BY O. A. MATHER.

We hear much these days about the stock market dragging on "the bottom." Enthusiastic brokers will tell you that now is the time to buy almost any stock, while the more conservative ones will define it as a "selective buyers' market." While speculators are not primarily concerned with values, it behooves investors in stocks to regard them. For the latter class of stock buyers it should always be a "selective" market.

Where does the stock market really stand at present? Some interesting data along the line of this query have been compiled by the Standard Statistics company, particularly pertaining to common stocks, which are technically known as "equity" shares. Judged by any standard other than those established during the so-called 'new era' of 1928-1929, equity shares in general are still liberally appraised on an earning basis," the analysis says. "A list of 90 stocks, which range in quality from high grade investments to speculations of the most radical type and may be considered thoroughly representative of the market as a whole, are currently quoted, on the average, at approximately 15.6 times estimated 1930 net earnings per share.

Cites Former Ratios.

"Never in the last decade has an important general recession, even of proportions not approaching a major bear market, run its course with average earnings ratios as high as at present. Except in 1922, stocks were not appraised in any post-war year previous to 1927 on a basis exceeding 14.3 times earnings. During the period 1927-'29, however, the mean average price was equivalent to 16.6 times net per share. Last year's peak levels were equivalent to 24 times earnings, and the 1930 high was 21.6 times estimated net per common share.

"At the low levels of the intermediate reaction termined in April, 1926, stocks were available at an average price earnings ratio of 9.8, while both in 1923 and 1921 prices continued downward until these securities could be obtained for approximately nine times net per share.

"Obviously, despite the fact that the trend of the market as a whole has been toward lower levels for more than a year, equity shares generally can be considered deflated only if measured by standards which were not recognized as valid until the late extended period of prosperity approached its final stage. Whether or not accepted yardsticks of 1913—to say nothing of those of 1929—are now logically applicable is open to serious question.

Discusses Outlook.

"During the period 1924-1929 corporate earning power in the aggregate increased more rapidly than in any preceding five years in the economic history of the United States. That this record can be paralleled in the years immediately ahead represents an optimistic expectation which is decidedly not justified on the basis of current evidence.

"It is not difficult, however, to visualize reestablishment of mean average ratios prevailing during the 1924-1928 period and on such a basis stocks now quoted around 15.6 times earnings would be appraised at from 11.6 to 12.3 times net per share. A period in which standards of valuation are being revised downward obviously calls for a policy of distinct caution."

Suggests Readjustment in Florida Bond Defaults

BY SCRUTATOR.

There are in the middle west investors who probably are holding some millions of dollars of bonds of Florida municipalities which are now in default. For a year or more efforts have been made to protect their interests, which are still not determinable in dollars and cents.

A rather gloomy picture is painted for these investors by a bondholders' adjustment committee with headquarters in Florida. It relates that forty-five towns and cities, several counties and a number of drainage districts are defaulting in bond payments because the present populations are unable to obtain money enough to pay the taxes necessary to cover the indebtedness.

It is interesting to note that the people of south Florida are credited with a feeling of resentment against northerners who flocked in during the boom days of five years or so past, inflated values, helped vote the bonds and then left the state. The suggestion is made, not that these communities be allowed to escape from their debts, but that a readjustment of the obligations be made so that they will be able to fulfill their obligations to the bond purchasers.

Readjustment Necessary.

Such readjustment would, of course, mean that some of the bond issues would have to be made smaller at the expense of the holders. This committee suggests that ability to pay under conditions that may reasonably be expected in the future is the governing factor in the reductions that are sought.

That Florida communities are heavily burdened is evidenced by the committee's statement that public debt is in excess of $1,000 per capita in Pinellas county, containing St. Petersburg, Clearwater, and other cities; in Sarasota county, in Charlotte and Okeechobee counties, and in cities like Lake Worth, Fort Lauderdale, and West Palm Beach.

The land boom, which shrank as such things have a habit of doing, tended to make this debt large. Its collapse, bank failures, storms, and the Mediterranean fruit fly all prevented further influx of population, and in fact acted to send away some of the inhabitants. Tax rates, even though they will not cover the bonded indebtedness, are given as a discouraging factor toward present increase in permanent population.

Often Is Speculative.

Land, once regarded as the only safe depository for capital, is oftentimes most speculative. On the Kentucky-Tennessee line is a small city that some forty years ago was laid out and sold in lots which if fully inhabited would make it as great as Chicago. Florida is more stable than that. The bondholders who are holding on are not responsible further to the communities and the only argument that should be put to them is that they will have to take what they can get.

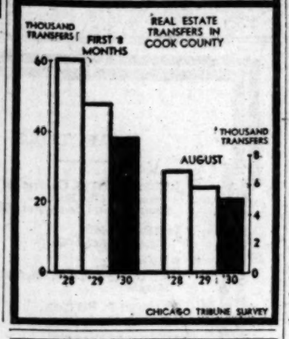
What that amount is needs clarifying. The number of special committees trying to get the matter settled satisfactorily is large. One has been formed by a score or more of investment houses who are anxious to protect the interests of their clients who bought. Another seems divided in its allegiance to Florida and to the bondholders. The purchasers themselves have been urged by competent financial authority to see that their group interests are placed in the hands of those who wish for nothing more than to get back as much as possible of the investments.

Ask U. S. Take Charge

Tampa, Fla., Sept. 8.—(AP)—The United States District court was asked in a suit filed here today by holders of bonds of the city of Sarasota to take charge of Sarasota finances and enforce payment of the city's bond obligations, alleged to be long in arrears.

Alleging that Sarasota had outstanding bonds March 31 of this year amounting to $6,368,300, the complainants charged city officials with deliberate negligence in collection of taxes and with misusing money that should have been held for bond payments to depreciate the value of the city's securities so officials could compromise bond claims at a discount.

REAL ESTATE ACTIVITY CONTINUES WELL BELOW PREVIOUS YEARS



BLAME MAIL ORDER COMPETITOR FOR TIRE COMPANY'S TROUBLES

Jersey City, N. J., Sept. 8.—(AP)—A petition seeking an order to show cause why a receiver should not be appointed for the Kelly-Springfield Tire company of Springfield, Mass., was filed today in Chancery court by William George, lawyer for James A. Kelly of Jersey City and other stockholders. The petition is returnable Wednesday.

The petitioners alleged the company had lost around $6,000,000 since 1923, which was attributed largely to the competition of mail order houses.

The assets of the company on Dec. 31, 1929, were $27,881,712. Liabilities listed included $1,243,805 in fluctuation of stock, insurance and general charges; $32,010,702.75 in liabilities to stockholders; a $5,366,075.43 deficit and $3,500,000 due to preferred stockholders on accrued dividends.

New York, Sept. 8.—(AP)—Receivership action filed in Jersey City, N. J., today against the Kelly-Springfield Tire company was regarded in Wall street as reflecting the troubles which have faced the tire industry for the last two years.

Tire manufacturers have suffered heavy losses in inventory due to the unsettled condition of the crude rubber market following several unsuccessful efforts to restrict crude rubber production. Keen competition and price cutting also have had their effect on the profits of the industry.

The Kelly-Springield company, a New Jersey corporation with corporate offices in Jersey City and general offices in New York, is one of the medium sized manufacturers of automobile tires, with a plant capacity of 17,000 casings per day. The plant is located at Cumberland, Md.

Public Utility Holding Corp. to Absorb U. S. and Overseas

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 8.—The Public Utility Holding Corporation of America plans to acquire, through an exchange of stock, the class A and common stocks of the United States and Overseas corporation. Through this acquisition the Public Utility Holding corporation will enter the circle of utility holding concerns having assets in excess of $100,000,000. Both companies were organized in 1929 by Harris Forbes and American Founders interests to hold investments in public utility systems in this country and abroad.

A new issue of $3 cumulative preferred stock will be created by Public Utility Holding corporation, and this stock, together with the common stock, with warrants and detached warrants, will be exchanged for the common stock and class A stock of United States and Overseas corporation.

The holders of a substantial majority of class A Overseas, who are also holders of a very substantial amount of its common stock, have already agreed to the exchange. For each ten shares of United States and Overseas common Public Utility Holding corporation offers three shares of its $3 cumulative preferred stock of no par value, five shares of its common stock, with common stock purchase warrants, and two of its detached common stock purchase warrants. The offer expires Sept. 30, 1930.

Will Keep Identities.

Assuming the completion of this exchange offer, Public Utility Holding, in addition to its European holdings, such as Union Electrique, Rurale du Triccite du Luxembourg and Westphalia United Electric corporation of Germany, will acquire the extensive contracts which United States and Overseas enjoys with leading European banks and corporations in the conduct of its short term intermediate credit and other operations.

It is understood that the two corporations will retain their individual identities and will operate as in the past under the same executive direction. It is anticipated that under the new setup United States and Overseas will occupy a position in the European activities of public utility holding similar to that of South American Railways company in the South American field, while the American holdings of United States and Overseas, representing approximately one-half of that corporation's assets of $23,000,000, will come under the supervision of Public Utility Holding.

Some Stocks Held.

In addition to the South American Railways company, investments of Public Utility Holding corporation include large blocks of stock in Associated Gas and Electric system, Central Public Service system, Indiana Consumers' Gas and Byproducts company, International Paper and Power company, and the three European public utility companies previously mentioned. Its outstanding capitalization consists of 500,000 shares of no par class A stock and 3,039,209 shares of no par common stock.

At organization Public Utility Holding had assets of $50,000,000. As a result of its domestic expansion and the formation of South American Railways company, total consolidated assets of Public Utility Holding increased to over $81,000,000. With the completion of the second step in its expansion total assets of the company will amount to well over $100,000,000.

Campbell of Price, Waterhouse & Co. testified today in the injunction suit against the Youngstown Sheet and Tube-Bethlehem Steel merger that the terms recommended by his firm were not based on any single mathematical calculation but on figures backed up by conclusions reached in conference.

Rubber Price Hits New Low in London Market

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 8.—There was great alarm in the rubber industry today as the decision of the Dutch East Indies government not to restrict production sent spot prices tumbling to seven and three quarter cents a pound, the lowest ever recorded.

The decrease in American consumption and increased production have resulted in large supplies of unmarketable stocks. British losses during the steady decline of a month have been estimated at around $600,000,000. Many concerns have gone out of business. While the bottom was falling out of the rubber market today, copper strengthened in a sharp rise.

New York, Sept. 8.—They got out the old calliope for another bull parade on the stock market today but the programmed stars wouldn't respond to the ballyhoo, the public refused to get excited, commodity markets wouldn't do their bit and so the thing went flooey.

Most of the pivotals finished the day about where they started it, with the rest of the list irregularly up from a fraction to a point or so. The pace of trading was a little quicker than it has been, volume totaling about 2,241,450 shares, but it must get considerably more lively before measuring up to Wall street's standard for a real stock market.

At that the constructive crowd found grounds for encouragement in today's market, all things considered. There was absolutely nothing in the news to help operations for the rise and the operations were guided almost entirely by technical conditions. Even the cut in gasoline prices made by leading companies here in this section of the east, which was expected to have some influence on petroleum stocks, was regarded as a purely local affair and utterly ignored so far as price movements showed.

Keep Some Issues.

In face of such conditions, the bulls were able to establish most of the leading industrials on new high ground for the recovery before giving way to profit taking and to keep a rather considerable group of specialties pegged up for worth while gains right through to the end.

Some of the individual high scorers were Auburn Auto, Water Works, Columbian Carbon, Diamond Match, Industrial Alcohol, Du Pone and Peoples Gas, the last named shooting up for a gain of 11 points. Auburn Auto

THE sponsors of SELECTED AMERICAN SHARES announce the creation of SELECTED INCOME SHARES—an improved and advanced maximum income type fixed trust that embodies the following distinctive features:

1 Automatic Profit Taking—realizing and paying back profits to the investor as the underlying stocks increase in value.

2 Maintaining Original Balance—by reverting back to Base Values every six months and paying out profits.

3 Reducing Possibility of Loss—from stocks that might turn out less profitably than anticipated through a carefully worked out system of eliminations.

The average annual return on SELECTED INCOME SHARES for the last 9 years (had the trust been set up in 1921) would have been $2.36 per share or 21%. This is a more favorable record than that of any other "A" rated fixed trust accomplished without the sale of stock split-ups.

Disbursements payable twice a year include profits realized, cash dividends, sale of rights and fractional shares, and interest on the Reserve Fund and Accumulations.

THE OUTLOOK FOR THE BOND MARKET

Since the first of the year, six hundred member banks of the Federal Reserve System have purchased over six hundred million dollars of railroad, utility, and other investment bonds. It is probable that the bond purchases of all the banks have amounted to nearly half of our new bond financing this year. Insurance companies, trust companies and other institutions have purchased a large part of the balance.

Due to the nature of this buying, only the highest grade issues—typically institutional investments—have moved up substantially in price. Medium grade issues have not advanced to the extent that their relative credit position warrants. This may be indicated by the spread between the prices of Liberty Bonds and prime industrial bonds at this time and that of two and a half years ago in an active bond market. Early in 1928, the spread was six points while now it is nine points. Obviously, even the highest grade industrial bonds have lagged behind the money market while the issues of smaller companies are relatively even cheaper.

It appears self-evident that during a continuance of the easy money policy of the Federal Reserve Board and during a gradual improvement in business conditions, prices of sound bonds should move up in adjustment to their relative credit standing with institutional issues as they did in 1903, 1907 and 1921.

WHEAT PRICES START TO CLIMB, BUT SOON TUMBLE

Argentine Revolt Effect Is Short Lived.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

A revolution in Argentina proved to be only a twenty-four hour factor in the world's wheat market, and was scarcely mentioned by the trade yesterday. An early advance of 1¾c in December wheat to 92⅝c was due to buying on strength in Liverpool, where prices were ⅞@1⅛d higher for the day, with the October going to a premium of ⅛c per bu over the December. This was the first time since Nov. 1, 1928 that a nearby future had sold above the deferred delivery.

The bulge was short lived, as the Winnipeg wheat market turned weak, with the October there dropping to a discount of ¼c under Chicago September. The trade felt that this practically removed the United States as a competitor with Canada.

Local operators turned to the selling side and prices dropped 3@3¼c from the early high, with the finish at the bottom. There were losses of 1⅛@1⅜c. September closed at 84c; December, 89⅜@89¼c, and May, 96⅛@96¼c. Winnipeg was off 1⅞@2c for the day.

Market Easily Influenced.

Speculative trade in the wheat market was small and it took but little buying or selling to have considerable influence on values. Liverpool reported a lack of pressure of Russian and Canadian offers, and shorts covered freely as stocks of cash grain in the United Kingdom were small. Owing to uncertainty regarding the Argentine situation, North American exporters did not offer wheat abroad freely over the week end and sales were light in consequence.

Refusal of the trade to become enthusiastically bullish on the prospects that exports from Argentina might be curtailed was due to the limited amount of cash wheat remaining for export in that country. In the past four weeks clearances from there have been around 2,000,000 bu, and the bulk of the grain still remaining to come forward is of poor quality.

An increase of 3,583,000 bu was shown in domestic visible supply making the total 191,088,000 bu, against 184,408,000 bu last year. The greater part of the grain during the week was at eastern and gulf ports, suggesting that the grain was passing through for distribution rather than for storage purposes.

Lower Corn Crop Figures.

A sensationally bullish corn crop estimate of 1,750,000,000 bu made by George M. Le Count, who has finished a second inspection of the corn belt for Stein, Alstrin & Co., brought in some buying of futures early, as it was the lowest estimate made so far and compared with an average of 1,961,000,000 bu by Chicago statisticians on Sept. 1. A small bulge was followed by a break of 1⅝@1¾c from the high, with the finish at net losses of ⅝@¾c. September closed at 97¼@97⅜c; December, 91⅛@91¼c, and May, 95⅛@95¼c.

Corn bulls were disappointed over the action of the market, which acted somewhat overbought, and in the past few days sharp reactions have followed all upturns. This has caused some of the local operators to lose some of their confidence, and while the government report on Wednesday is expected to show a low total new speculative buying is regarded as needed if upturns are to be maintained.

RECESSION IN LARD PRICES

There was a little letup yesterday in the speculative buying of deferred futures of lard, with selling of January by a leading packing interest. The break in cotton and grains apparently checked bullish enthusiasm by eastern interests who have been good buyers of late. Prices receded and closed 17½c to 22½c lower. Liverpool was unchanged. Bellies were 10c lower with no trade.

Hog prices were steady to 10c to 15c higher, with receipts less than a year ago.

Exports of lard for the week were 10,050,000 lbs, against 12,706,000 lbs last year. Of bacon they were 1,728,000 lbs, against 6,129,000 lbs last year. prices follow:

COTTON PRICES DROP ON NEWS OF U. S. ESTIMATE

Cotton futures lost $2.00 to $3.00 a bale yesterday following the issuance of the government crop report showing 14,340,000 bales, as compared with trade expectations of 14,000,000 bales. Last year's crop was 14,828,000 bales.

The trade was so surprised at the government showing that it brought liberal selling by holders who had bought in anticipation of a bullish report and an advance in prices. Hedge sales were also heavy while mill interests were good buyers.

The crop report gave the condition on Sept. 1 as 53.2, compared with 55.4 last year. The yield per acre is 153.2 lbs. Estimated ginnings to Sept. 1 were 1,878,000 bales.

At the last prices had a recovery of around 15 points with net losses of 36 to 44 points in Chicago and 36 to 45 points in other markets. Spot cotton lost 40 points in New York at 11.15c, with New Orleans off 45 points to 10.60c, Galveston 10.75c and Houston 10.70c.

Prices are considered low and it is understood that commission houses are advising mills to buy for future requirements. Liverpool closed 31 to 32 points lower with spot sales 4,000 bales. Prices follow:

Every Investor Should Consider Bonds

Debenture bond prices have not advanced appreciably above the levels of 1929—the year of lowest prices since 1925. Present market conditions and low interest rates indicate a strong bond market in the near future accompanied by rising bond prices.

For safety and a good return we recommend Associated Gas and Electric Company Gold Debenture Bonds, due 1968—priced to yield over 5¼%.

The Way we make Loans
—$50 to $5,000

The way we make loans—$50 to $5,000—is the result of the constructive judgment of men of experience and character who believe in the integrity of mankind—who are earnestly interested in the well being of the citizen of character living and working in Chicago and its suburbs.

Faith in the people of this community is well founded, for this bank has made 325,000 loans amounting to $80,000,000 in a few years—these loans, with almost negligible lapse, have been or are being paid—convincing proof that the Chicagoan will do what he promises to do.

Personal Loan & Savings Bank has enlarged its banking quarters, has increased its staff, has still further perfected its way of making loans, and has provided additional capital—that anyone and everyone in this community who may occasionally find it convenient or expedient to borrow, may do so—and they may do so on a dignified, constructive banking basis.

SHEEP—Western range lambs yesterday.....$ 6.75@ 9.25
One month ago..... 8.00@ 9.25
One year ago..... 12.50@13.25

Top yesterday, $9.25; average, $8.25.

Estimated receipts at Chicago today, 8,000 cattle, 17,000 hogs, and 26,000 sheep.

The price of live stock held up well yesterday considering the size of receipts of cattle and sheep. Cattle offerings totaled 25,000, the largest of the year, but the top for load lots equaled the highest in recent weeks at $12.65. Eight yearlings boosted the peak price to $12.65, the highest price paid for any cattle since July 2.

Hog receipts were not large and prices ruled strong to unevenly higher. Sheep receipts at 35,000 were largest since October, 1928, yet the top at $9.25 equaled the highest paid for lambs in nearly two weeks. There was a good clearance of cattle, hogs, and sheep.

Calfs of 10@15c were general in the hog market. The average moved up 15c at $10.25, comparing with $10.10 last Friday, the high day of last week. Small packers, city butchers, and shippers were active buyers at the upturn and some hogs were sold off the late trade in view of an advance estimate of only 17,000 for today.

Pigs Make Sharp Gain.

Light light and pigs, which were a drug on the market last week, showed the sharpest gains yesterday, some of the lightest being as much as 50@75c above the low spot a week ago. Medium and weighty hogs were scarce and topped the market at $11.30, numerous loads averaging 209@275 lbs. bringing this figure.

Activity featured the market for hog futures at steady to 15c higher prices. Volume of trade was about as large as any time in more than a month's time. September light weights sold at $10.50 and mediums for the same month brought $10.95, the latter being highest since Aug. 20.

Prime steers and yearlings held firm in the face of big receipts, while common and medium grades of cattle ruled weak to 25c lower, which was only a mild break considering the immense supply of the latter kinds dumped on the market. Movement from range territory to all points is the largest of the season. Chicago since had 5,000 western "grass" cattle, the steers selling largely at $6.50@7.50, with $8.50 practical top for this class.

Feeding Lambs $7.70.

In spite of the fact that a big share of yesterday's sheep receipts consisted of feeding stock, country demand was broad and top kinds ruled stronger. A load of desirable light weights reached $7.70, which stands 10c above the highest feeding lamb sale last week.

Many plain to good kinds sold at $6.00@7.35, only stock of outstanding quality bringing upwards to $7.50 and more. Fat lambs were mostly steady, although a few during the first hours were 15@25c lower. Top native brought $8.75@9.25, while western sold at $9.10 and below. Aged sheep and yearlings were scarce and unchanged.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 8,000 cattle, 17,000 hogs, and 26,000 sheep, against 20,332 cattle, 37,262 hogs, and 20,714 sheep the previous Tuesday, and 7,179 cattle, 21,884 hogs, and 16,369 sheep a year ago.

BUTTER AND EGGS

More than 400 cars of butter changed hands on the Chicago mercantile exchange today for the first time in history. The size of the futures deliveries started slidership at the opening and declines of ¾c were recorded before the trading ended. The number of cars sold represented 7,800,000 lbs in a total value greatly in excess of $2,000,000. November butter opened steady, with consolidation and short selling worked to advantage, rapidly lower, the close being a shade@¾c off. ¾@¼c from Saturday's close. December kept in line, closing at ¾c off to ¼c. Egg futures were again listless, lacking leadership, November closing off to ¼ to 2¾c.

Heaviness was apparent in the butter market, induced by continued reports that receipts is increasing. This brought about some liquidating on the part of some traders, with a resultant price dip. Liquidation appeared to run its course toward midsession, which encouraged new buying and short covering. A fractional reaction followed, but pressure continued to the close. Storage news was not of great interest during the day. November touched 39c for the first time since July. Sales: Butter—November, 390 cars; December, 20 cars. Eggs—November, 16 cars. Receipts: Butter—2,742 tubs. Eggs—13,297 cases. Prices follow:

BUTTER—Storage standards: November—Firsts, 39¼@39¾c; high, 39¾c; low, 39c; seconds, 38¾@39¼c; previous close, 39¾c. December—Firsts, 39¼c; high, 39¾c; low, 39c; close, 39¾c; previous close, 40c.

PUBLIC RESISTS BULL BALLYHOO IN WALL STREET

Leaders Fail to Hold Gain; Few Specialties Up.

advanced 10 points and the others improved their Saturday ratings anywhere from 2 to 5 points.

Case Threshing Machine, which usually managed to get itself counted in one group or the other, started off with a great display of vigor but folded up around midday and nothing more was heard of it.

Motor Group Perks Up.

A feature of the session was a sudden revival of interest in the motor group for no particular reason that the public could quite make out. General Motors was the leader rising more than a point on some rather good buying. Chrysler, Hudson, Packard and one or two others perked up but did nothing sensational. There was nothing in the news to account for the buying here and nothing much of a favorable character affecting motor shares has come to the public's attention for quite some time.

Reports that negotiations are under way looking toward something of a close working agreement between Radio-Keith-Orpheum and the Shubert theaters stimulated some interest in the amusement shares, but here, as elsewhere, early gains were cut down by late afternoon realizing. In the case of Warner Brothers, sometime leader of the group, the forenoon advance amounting to about a point was replaced with a net loss of a point. Radio-Keith finished with a fractional gain.

Can Stocks Prominent.

Stocks of the leading can manufacturing corporations were prominent by reason of their strength and activity during the day. Both American Can and Continental Can pushed ahead briskly to new high levels for the movement, later going away, and McKeesport Tinplate, which is a factor in the business through its interest in the Metal Package company, was well bought.

An official of Continental Can was quoted as finding business of the company very satisfactory.

PRODUCE MARKETS

No change of consequence was known in the price of fresh eggs or butter. Live poultry sold at former prices. Receipts 12 cars by freight. Potatoes in good demand and shippers took hold freely. Prices higher with bulk of Wisconsin round white stock sold at $2.50 with Minnesota $2.30@2.35. Receipts 163 cars with 269 cars on team track.

DESIGNERS OF NORTH SIDE TO FORM NEW BODY

Plan Unit of Associated Architects.

BY AL CHASE.

As a result of the success attained by the first chapter of the Chicago Associated Architects, formed on the south side a little over a year ago, a second chapter composed of north side architects is to be organized this month, it was stated yesterday. Edgar J. Manning is temporary chairman in charge of a committee arranging for the proposed north side unit. A future chapter is planned for the northwest side as the third unit in Chicago Associated Architects.

The south side chapter was organized at a meeting held in the office of John Hocke in April, 1929, at which twenty architects were present. A temporary organization was set up with Albert P. Dippold as temporary chairman and Blaine B. Gemeney as secretary. Later Mr. Dippold was elected president of the permanent organization, William Lautz, vice president, and Mr. Gemeny secretary. Randolph P. Boehm was made treasurer. The board of directors was made up of the following: Mr. Hocke, George Edward McClellan, Z. Erol Smith, Anders G. Lund and Jacques Kocher.

Sells Jeffery Avenue Corner.

The forty-eight apartments at the southeast corner of Jeffery avenue and East 72d place, lot 130x157, were sold by Alvin D. Blieden, attorney, to Theodore S. Hamer for an undisclosed consideration, subject to $165,000. Urion, Drucker, Reichmann & Boutell were attorneys.

The International Health Resort corporation has purchased the southwest corner of South Park way and 42d street, lot 100x150, from the Bethel African Methodist Episcopal Church corporation and others for an indicated consideration of $20,500.

Buys 19 Flat Building.

The nineteen apartments at the northwest corner of Nebraska and Dickens avenues were sold by August Reimann to Herman Goldstein for an undisclosed price, subject to $76,200. Sixteen flats at the northeast corner of Eastwood and Campbell were given in part payment. The Realty Mortgage company was broker and Leo Wolf was attorney.

Anshel Shambert & Sons report that they have negotiated a lease for the store at 744 North Clark street for five years to the Western Union Telegraph company, with Toby Provus as lessor. The lessee is moving from 811 North Clark to make way for an addition to the Cosmopolitan Bond and Mortgage company's building.

News and Gossip of Stock Marts

Much Interested.

Old Diamond Match stock pays $8 annually. The five new shares of preferred will give the old stockholder a cash dividend of $7.50, and therefore he is much interested in the probable dividend on the new common. If nothing is paid for a while he will suffer a reduction in return. Last year's earnings were the equivalent of about fifty cents a share on the new common, and presumably the outlook is good enough to promise aggregate dividends equal to the old basis.

Pays Dividend.

Payment of the regular dividend by Lerner Stores would seem to indicate improvement in business in the last few months. Stock has recently been somewhat uncertain in price trend.

August Output of Ford Plants Is 99,142 Machines

World production of Ford cars and trucks in August totaled 99,142, compared with 133,035 in July and 205,634 in August last year. Reduced production for August this year was due to curtailed activities of branch assembly plants following the closing of the Rouge plant for the vacation and inventory period.

The MURDER at the VICARAGE

BY AGATHA CHRISTIE

SYNOPSIS.

Mr. Clement is the Vicar of a country village in England. His attractive wife, Griselda, is nearly twenty years his junior. The vicar's young nephew, Dennis, lives with them.

Col. Protheroe, a pompous parishioner, who makes life miserable for his daughter, Anne, and his second wife, is expected at the vicarage at 6:15 one evening. At 5:30 the vicar is called to visit a dying parishioner and leaves word for the colonel that he will be back. On returning at 7 the vicar meets Lawrence Redding, an artist, who is living in a studio on the vicarage grounds, coming out of the house in an agitated state. The door before the vicar had discovered the artist and Mrs. Protheroe in each others arms and they had confessed to him their love for each other. In his study the vicar finds the colonel sprawled across the desk, shot through the head, murdered apparently, as a weapon is found. Dr. Haydock is sent for and he says Protheroe has been dead half an hour and calls the police. A note which the colonel started to write to the vicar is headed 6:20. A clock, overturned when the colonel fell forward, stopped at 6:42, but it was always kept fifteen minutes fast.

Miss Marple, whose house adjoins the vicarage, saw Anne Protheroe going to the vicarage about 6:15. From there she went to the studio. She carried no hand bag and had no place to conceal a weapon. Redding came along shortly after and joined her at the studio. They came out about twenty minutes later and walked towards the village.

Lawrence and Anne admit they had confessed the crime thinking the other had committed it. Lawrence said he had come back to see the vicar after leaving Anne and had found his pistol lying on the floor beside Col. Protheroe and thought Anne must have taken it.

INSTALLMENT XX.

A DEADLOCK.

"And you have not been to the studio since, Mrs. Protheroe?"

"No. I never went there. You see, it would probably cause a lot of talk in the village."

"Doubtless," said Col. Melchett drily. "Where were you in the habit of seeing Mr. Redding, if I may ask?"

Anne blushed.

"He used to come up to the hall. He was painting Lettice, we, we often met in the woods afterwards."

Col. Melchett nodded.

"Isn't that enough?" Her voice was suddenly broken. "It's so awful—having to tell you all these things. And—and there wasn't anything wrong about it. There wasn't—indeed, there wasn't. We were just friends. We—we couldn't help caring for each other."

"I really think, Melchett," he said, "that Mrs. Protheroe has had enough. She's had a great shock—in more ways than one."

The chief constable nodded.

"There is really nothing more I want to ask you, Mrs. Protheroe," he said. "Thank you for answering my questions so frankly."

"Then—then I may go?"

He bowed his head in assent, but I noticed him make an almost imperceptible sign to Slack which that worthy answered with a nod of understanding. Anne Protheroe was not yet completely cleared of suspicion. The evidence of the note was too strong.

"Is your wife in?" asked Haydock. "I think Mrs. Protheroe would like to see her."

"Yes," I said, "Griselda is in. You'll find her in the drawing room."

She and Haydock left the room together with Lawrence Redding.

Col. Melchett had pursed up his lips and was playing with a paper knife. Slack was looking at the note. It was then that I mentioned Miss Marple's theory.

Slack looked closely at it.

"My word," he said. "I believe the old lady's right. Look here, sir, don't you see?—these figures are written in different ink. That date was written with a fountain pen or I'll eat my boots!"

We were all rather excited.

"You've examined the note for finger prints, of course," said the chief.

"What do you think, colonel? No finger prints on the note at all. Finger prints on the pistol those of Mr. Lawrence Redding. May have been some others once before he went fooling round with it and carrying it around in his pocket, but there's nothing clear enough to get hold of now."

"At first the case looked very black against Mrs. Protheroe," said the colonel thoughtfully. "Much blacker than against young Redding. There was that old woman Marple's evidence that she didn't have the pistol with her but these elderly ladies are often mistaken."

I was silent, but I did not agree with him. I was quite sure that Anne Protheroe had had no pistol with her since Miss Marple had said so. Miss Marple is not the type of elderly lady who makes mistakes. She has got as uncanny knack of being always right.

"What did get me was that nobody heard the shot. If it was fired then somebody must have heard it—wherever they thought it came from. Slack, you'd better have a word with the maid."

Inspector Slack moved with alacrity towards the door.

"I shouldn't ask her if she heard a shot in the house," I said. "Because if you do, she'll deny it. Call it a shot in the wood. That's the only kind of shot she'll admit to hearing."

"I know how to manage them," said Inspector Slack and disappeared.

"Miss Marple says she heard a shot later," said Col. Melchett thoughtfully. "We must see if she can fix the time at all precisely. Of course, it may be a stray shot that had nothing to do with the case."

"It may be, of course," I agreed.

The colonel took a turn or two up and down the room.

"Do you know, Clement," he said suddenly, "I've a feeling that this is going to turn out a much more intricate and difficult business than any of us think. Dash it all, there's something behind it." He snorted. "Something we don't know about. We're only beginning, Clement. Mark my words, we're only beginning. All these things, the clock, the note, the pistol—they don't make sense as they stand."

I shook my head. They certainly didn't.

"But I'm going to get to the bottom of it. No calling in of Scotland Yet. Slack's a smart man. He's a very smart man. He's a kind of ferret. He'll nose his way through to the truth. He's done several very good things already and this case will be his chef d'oeuvre. Some men would call it a second Yard. I shan't. We'll get to the bottom of this here in Downshire."

"I hope so, I'm sure," I said.

I tried to make my voice enthusiastic, but I had already taken such a dislike to Inspector Slack that the prospect of his success failed to appeal to me. A successful Slack would, I thought, be even more odious than a failure one.

"She has the house next door?" asked the colonel suddenly.

"You mean at the end of the road? Mrs. Price Ridley."

"We'll go along to her after Slack has finished with your maid. She must just possibly have heard something. She isn't deaf or anything?"

"I should say her hearing was remarkably keen. I'm going by the sound of scandal she has started by 'just happening to overhear accidentally'."

"That's the kind of woman we want. Oh! here's Slack."

The inspector had the air of one emerging from a severe tussle.

"There!" he said. "That's a tartar you've got, sir."

"Mary is essentially a girl of strong character," I replied.

"Doesn't like the police," he said. "I cautioned her—did what I could put the fear of the law into her, but no good. She stood right up to me."

"Deported," I said, feeling more kindly towards Mary.

"But I pinned her down all right. She heard one shot—and one shot only. And it was a good long time after Col. Protheroe came. I couldn't get her to name a time, but we fixed it at last by means of the fish. The fish was late, and she blew the boy up when he came, and he said it was only half past six anyway, and it was just after that she heard the shot. Of course, that's not accurate, so to speak, but it gives us an idea."

"Fine," said Melchett.

"I don't think Mrs. Protheroe's in this after all," said Slack with a note of regret in his voice. "She wouldn't have had time, to begin with, and women never like fiddling about with firearms. Arsenic's more in their line. No, I don't think she did it. It's a pity!"

"May I come with you?" I asked. "I'm getting interested."

I was given permission and we set forth. A loud "Hie" greeted us as we emerged from the vicarage gate, and my nephew, Dennis, came running across road from the village to join us.

"Look here," he said to the inspector. "What about that footprint I told you about?"

"Gardener's," said Inspector Slack laconically.

"You don't think it might be someone else wearing the gardener's boots?"

"No, I don't," said Inspector Slack in a discouraging way.

It would take more than that to discourage Dennis, however.

"Found these by the vicarage gate."

"Thank you," said Slack and put them in his pocket.

BY ROBERTA NANGLE.

"Dancing Sweeties" is a story about the sort of young folks that Vina Delmar understands so well. The characters are girls who lunch on sodas and sandwiches to buy a flimsy, high waisted dancing dress, and boys who patronize the haberdashers offering the loudest masculine apparel on the easiest installment plan. Syncopation is their god and the dance hall their heaven.

The dancing palace in this tale is not exactly a den of iniquity, but it's a place where jealousy, pride, and other dangerous human traits are likely to blossom out with disastrous consequences. Things get going when Kid Cleaver, a handsome sheik who jerks sodas by day and wins dancing contests by night, is smitten with Molly O'Neil, a nice little girl who waltzes beautifully, but can't quite manage the more acrobatic forms of the dance.

The Kid and Molly glide through a waltzing contest and win the prize, a shining loving cup, bestowed on them with a great flourish by the manager of the hall. The Kid accepts the award and the applause with nonchalant grace. He has eleven similar trophies of terpsichorean skill cluttering up the mantel at home.

They sit the next dance out. Here's where we'd use asterisks if we were an Elinor Glyn. Yes, they get married, and all is well until the Kid hears the call of the dance hall. The proprietor is still offering loving cups, and why should the Kid let a rival win them? If you're interested in the outcome you should see the picture.

Sue Carol is youthfully lovely and earnest as Molly, and Grant Withers is quite at home in the rôle of the wise cracking sheik. Sid Silvers, who used to help Phil Baker's act on the stage by interrupting him from a box, is immensely entertaining as the dance hall impresario.

TWO TRUST FUNDS FEATURE OF WILL OF MRS. FRED D. GRANT

Washington, D. C., Sept. 8.—(AP)—The will of Mrs. Frederick Dent Grant, daughter-in-law of President Grant, filed in the District of Columbia Supreme court today for probate, creates two trust funds to continue through the lives of her two children, their children, and for 21 years beyond the lifetime of her youngest grandchild.

Mrs. Grant, widow of Maj. Gen. Frederick Dent Grant, died Sept. 5. No estimate of the value of her estate was made.

The will, executed in 1926, divides her personal estate equally between her children, Lieut. Col. Ulysses S. Grant III. and Princess Julia Grant Cantacuzene, except that Col. Grant is to receive the letters and papers of his father and grandfather, President Grant.

Bonds representing the estate Gen. Grant left his widow are divided equally between Col. Grant and Princess Cantacuzene, with the request that each share be held intact and passed along to their children. The daughter is left $50,000 outright and the son gets Mrs. Grant's Massachusetts avenue home.

The residue of the estate is to be divided equally and the two trust funds established.

Chicago Has Heart, Proves That with Charity Tag Day

With a half again as many tags sold than ever before, and the boxes heavier this year than last, officials of the Chicago Federated Charities were happy last night over the outcome of the annual tag day.

"We fear, however, that the amounts will not be so large although the boxes are heavier," Miss L. Ellen Babcock, president of the federation, said. "But it does show that Chicago really had a heart this year and did its best for the underprivileged children and aged people, and we want to thank them for their response."

The money from 4,000 boxes, gathered by as many taggers on Chicago streets, will be counted at the First National bank, and the total announced the last of the week. This will be divided among 42 institutions according to the amount taken in by the workers for each institution.

The Daughters of the British Empire will hold their regular monthly meeting of the state board at 10 o'clock this morning at the safety deposit vaults of the First National bank.

Young Critics of Parsons Get Some Support

Special Course Planned to Help Preachers.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Recent attacks on the effectiveness of the ministers of present day churches have not been without cause, according to Prof. D. A. McGregor, Western Theological seminary, Evanston, yesterday. He referred to the criticism made last week by a group of a dozen University of Chicago seminary students. Dr. McGregor declared his conviction that many clergymen of today do not understand their jobs.

On the other hand, Dr. McGregor pointed out that but few communities understand their ministers. To meet the situation, the Evanston professor has arranged a two weeks' conference of students in advanced years of seminary training to be held at Richard's Landing, Ontario, Sept. 20 to Oct. 3.

Dr. McGregor holds that seminaries of today are giving students plenty of theoretical work, together with considerable practical instruction. However, he stated that the principal cause of failure on the part of pastors is because of uncertainty as to what their real work is.

"We may as well admit that times have changed," Dr. McGregor said, as he outlined his proposed experiment. "People do not take their religion for granted as they did a generation ago. They took the Bible in those days without much questioning, but today people ask 'What's the Bible all about, and what's it all for?'"

University of Chicago theological students hurled charges of sentimental piety at a large group of pastors who now are in charge of congregations. That charge was confirmed by Prof. O. V. Jackson, Cornell college, Mount Vernon, Ia., when he stated yesterday that "a sort of insincerity, together with inadequate training of ministers, has done great damage to the cause of the churches." Prof. Jackson is head of the department of Biblical literature in the Iowa college and is in charge of the students of that school who are preparing for the ministry.

"Too many ministers impress their troubled parishioners with an unconscious insincerity," said Prof. Jackson. "They often show more concern over the external matters of church organization than they do over the problems which lie at the center of religious life. Too frequently many ministers are satisfied with wordy platitudes and performing religious stunts which no longer have any meaning."

BLOOD TRANSFUSION REVIVES SUFFERER FROM RARE DISEASE

Bay City, Mich., Sept. 8.—[Special.]—Mercy hospital physicians tonight held hope for the recovery of Dr. Michael J. Medvezsky, 33, interne, who is suffering from agranulocytic agina, rare and seldom cured disease. Leo Kauffman, 30 of Garden City, tonight gave up 300 cubic centimeters of blood for Medvezsky.

Kauffman, who has recovered from the malady, drove here tonight. Blood of a person who has been cured of the disease is the only known cure, physicians said.

Agranulocytic angina is characterized by failure of the bone marrow and breaking down of the white blood corpuscles. There are only 400 cases of the disease on record in the United States and few of these have shown cures.

Dr. Medvezswy was graduated this spring from the medical college of Loyola university, Chicago.

A story about the case appearing in yesterday's CHICAGO TRIBUNE brought a number of responses from physicians, offering advice and aid in the case.

Leopold, the 7th Name, Is Quickly Added to Baby Prince's Others

Brussels, Sept. 8.—(AP)—The infant Prince Baudouin, son of Crown Prince Leopold and the Princess Astrid, today received a seventh name, only six having been allotted him after his birth yesterday.

His full name now reads Baudouin Albert Charles Leopold Axel Marie Gustave. Some surprise was expressed when "Leopold" the name of the founder of the Belgian dynasty, was left out of the little prince's original list. After reports to this effect reached his parents, the extra name was quickly added.

The little prince and his mother continued satisfactory progress today.

"The birth of the little prince was officially certified by an imposing delegation of officials, including the premier and the minister of justice, who called at Stuyvenburg Castle. The prince's name was officially entered on the register of the City of Brussels, the same as that of any other new born citizen.

The prince who is in line to reign over Belgium one day, has a fine constitution, and like his mother, is progressing most satisfactorily. Hundreds of telegrams of congratulation and great heaps of flowers were received at the castle.

Son-in-Law and Daughter of Il Duce Chat with the Pope

VATICAN CITY, Sept. 8.—(AP)—The pope today accorded a farewell audience to Count Galeazzo Ciano, husband of Premier Mussolini's daughter, who will retire presently as secretary of the Italian embassy to the holy see to become consul general at Shanghai. The countess also was received by the pope. Before her marriage she was Edda Mussolini.

The pontiff chatted amiably with the count and countess for more than 20 minutes, asking about their respective families, and sending them his best wishes.

The Cianos afterward visited Cardinal Pacelli, papal secretary of state. They leave tomorrow for Brindisi, whence they sail for Shanghai.

The pope's daily schedule is as full as ever, which Vatican authorities consider to belie reports of his bad health. Tonight he will receive a large delegation of sailors from the United States cruiser Chester.

Three Win Scholarships in U. of C. Law School

Dean Harry A. Bigelow of the law school of the University of Chicago yesterday awarded the first of the James Nelson Raymond scholarships, valued at $800 each, which were established last June by Mrs. Anna L. Raymond of Chicago in memory of her husband.

Three students received them. They are Carl N. Howig, 6131 Greenwood avenue, a union lather, member of local No. 74, and who still works at his trade; William Klevs, 5473 Ingleside avenue, who came to America from Rumania in 1923, acquired his high school education in a night school while working days to support himself and a family of two children, and Gerhardt S. Jersild, 336 West 64th street, son of a Lutheran clergyman, the eighth of a family of 10 living children.

THE STAGE

MRS. FISKE is not ready to admit that the drama is dead or that she has reached the age of retirement. She is ready to do her share to enliven an unpromising theatrical season, and on Oct. 1 she will begin a tour which eventually will bring her out into this region.

She will have a repertory of seven plays. Theatergoers will be duly warned of the approach of the First Actress by ballots, asking them to vote upon which of these plays they would prefer to see. The local programs will be arranged according to the choices expressed on the returned ballots.

Here are the wares she will offer: "Ladies of the Jury," by Fred Ballard; "Becky Sharp," Langdon Mitchell's dramatization of Thackeray's "Vanity Fair"; "Miss Nelly of New Orleans," by Lawrence Eyre; "Erstwhile Susan," by Marian de Forest and Mrs. Helen R. Martin; "Mrs. Bumpstead-Leigh," by Harry James Smith; "Ghosts," by Ibsen, and "Hay Fever," by Noel Coward. The latter is the only play on the list that is new to Mrs. Fiske.

Her tour will be sponsored by the Erlanger Amustment enterprises and George C. Tyler.

The Illinois theater will open for the new season on Oct. 26 with the operetta called "Sweet Adeline." Fred Stone and the daughter Stones will arrive there in "Ripples" in time to celebrate the Christmas holidays. . . . The Erlanger theater hopes to be able to receive playgoers on or about Oct. 20, with David Belasco's production of "It's a Wise Child" as the attraction. This comedy ran a full year in New York. . . . Harry J. Powers, chief representative of the Erlanger interests in Chicago, says: "The theatrical season is backward, but later on there will be a plentiful crop of shows."

Tchekhov's "Uncle Vanya," as staged by Jed Harris, is one of the plays that Chicago may expect, some time between Thanksgiving day and Christmas. Lillian Gish, much praised for her performance in this Russian drama by New York critics, will be the featured member of the cast on this tour. The Harris theater will probably be the scene of the engagement.

Last night—

Ivor Novello and his London company began their American tour in "A Symphony in Two Flats" in Toronto.

"The Up and Up," a comedy by Martha Madison and Eva K. Flint, had a New York première at the Biltmore theater. Sylvia Field, who played the heroine of "Many a Slip" here last spring, is leading woman of the company.

Pauline Frederick began a San Francisco engagement as star of "The Crimson Hour," a play by Samuel Shipman and John B. Hymer.

Dario Shindell and Earle McDonald have been enrolled in the Goodman theater repertory company. The former played the rôle of the mulatto bellboy in "Appearances," which was a mild curiosity at the Princess theater two winters ago. The latter has had rôles in "White Wings," "The Love Expert," and "The Undertow." He was also a member of George Arliss' company in "The Merchant of Venice." . . . Friday matinées, to which the members of other theatrical companies in Chicago will be invited, will be added to the Goodman's schedule of performances this season.

Saturday morning plays for children will be given at the Princess theater during the season by the Jack and Jill Players under the direction of Marie Agnes Foley. The series, which is planned for thirty-two performances, will begin Sept. 20 with "Aladdin and the Wonderful Lamp." Other pieces on the program are "The Tempest," "Gammer Gurton's Needle," and "Hiawatha." The curtain will rise at 10 a. m.

J. P. Morgan Gives Beryl Crystal to Science Museum

New York, Sept. 8.—[Special.]—One of the largest crystals of beryl ever found in the United States has been presented by J. P. Morgan to the American Museum of Natural History, where the semi-precious stone, measuring 7 by 4 feet and weighing four tons, is still in its crate. Aquamarine and emeralds are varieties of beryl. The Morgan crystal was recovered from the Bumpus quarry at Albany, Me.

Retail Trade's Gains Hailed as Good Sign

Normal Fall Predicted After 3 Weeks' Rise.

The last three weeks brought a definite improvement in the retail trade which was interpreted yesterday by the State street merchants as a positive indication that the business depression has touched bottom and trade is now well launched on the upward trend. All agreed that the briskness of business with the approach of autumn promises a normal fall.

The return of the pendulum was noted Aug. 15, but advances were for the most part too slight to be accepted as conclusive evidence that a marked return was imminent. With the steady increase in sales continuing in the first week of September, merchants declared that the day of hedging is past and unanimously voiced the opinion that normalcy is well on the way.

The small advance in August was considered as a harbinger of a steadily increasing fall trade, but merchants said that they considered the best policy at that time one of caution. Summer months are seasonally slow so that merchants could not measure depression, but, with the trade indices giving positive pickup signs, they announced that the business of the next quarter may exceed that of the same period for 1929.

Some of the evidence cited by retail merchants to support the conclusions are:

A department store reported the biggest single day of business in its history.

Another reports an increase of 5 per cent in its volume of business as compared with the same period in 1929.

A third hailed an increase of 2 per cent.

A fourth declares a substantial increase in unit transactions and dollar volume.

"In view of the movement of the past three weeks it would be conservative to predict a good fall season in all retail lines," one merchant said. "The steady increase in the last two weeks of August and so far this month have brought the return of prosperity."

The increase was attributed to the demand for fall styles brought by cooler weather and the outfitting of students for schools and colleges. Trade in furniture and jewelry lines was reported slower as compared with other lines but articles of good rather than cheaper quality were purchased.

A more conservative merchant said: "There has been a very substantial improvement which gives indication of a gradual return to normalcy. There is every reason to believe that the return will be complete."

"Now is the time for every one to do his part," a president of a large department store said. "There are hundreds of thousands of persons who have not been affected by the depression, but who are, nevertheless, economizing. These persons should lead their normal lives in order that normalcy may become general.

"In the early days of the war the slogan calling on Americans to exercise most rigid economy to win the war was coined. I was in Washington as a member of a delegation and stated, when my opinion was sought, that all be asked to lead normal lives. The condition holds true today more so because skies are clearing."

"The trade is forging steadily ahead," a department store official said "I am confident that the fall season will be satisfactory to the retail trade. The increase of the last three weeks is not transient, but will mount."

Frozen Gas to Tell Age of Beefsteak

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 8.—(AP)—An ice box of the future which will show up old beef that the housewife has been misled into buying as "fresh meat" was described in a report to the American Chemical society today.

If the "fresh" beef has been stored a long time it comes out of this new refrigerant with its color changed from red to brown. Really fresh beef remains red.

This age finders is an atmosphere exhaled by the refrigerant, solid carbon dioxide, or dry ice. It was presented as a preservative promising some definite improvements in the food supply.

It is not a substitute for present refrigeration methods, said the author of the report, D. H. Killeffer of the Dry Ice corporation, New York, but something which can further increase the length of time farm and ranch products will retain their original freshness and healthful properties.

Expense at present prevents its use in homes he said, but in quantity distribution it is doing things which two years ago even scientists considered an impossible dream.

Solid carbon dioxide is snow white, its temperature is 109 degrees below zero Fahrenheit. It does not melt, but evaporates, filling a closed refrigerator with an increasingly strong carbon dioxide atmosphere.

"This gas," said Mr. Killeffer, "prevents growth of many common bacteria on meat, fish and other flesh foods. It appears that the carbon dioxide is absorbed by the surface of the flesh, creating an acid condition very unfavorable to bacterial growth.

"It is perfectly possible to keep meat or fish in an atmosphere charged with carbon dioxide formed by the evaporation of dry ice for several days without spoiling in a perfectly edible condition, even at temperatures far above those maintained in refrigeration practice."

In temperatures of 40 to 45 degrees, in a carbon dioxide atmosphere, were placed round steak, soup meat, neck bone, sweetbreads, beef kidneys, spare ribs, pork trimmings, pork loins, duck, eggs, and lamb chops.

All of them kept fresh for three weeks, Killeffer said. A duplicate set of edibles was kept in ordinary air at the same temperature. In two weeks a meat inspector threw out as spoiled the pork, spare ribs, soup meat, lamb chops, kidneys, sweetbreads, frankfurters, and pork sausage.

In very heavy carbon dioxide atmosphere meat and fish kept for several days at 80 degrees.

Fruits and vegetables, he said, are not preserved by carbon dioxide in the same way, but experiments under way show that these green things tolerate a not too heavy concentration of the gas.

The "ice" is made by compressing carbon dioxide first into a liquid—the fizz water of soft drinks—and then squeezing the liquid into a solid.

Nature also produces this dry ice, compressing the gas by tremendous pressure deep underground. Last year a western petroleum well was discovered with an estimated production of a trainload a day or solid carbon dioxide.

Numerous tales have been told about grapefruit. One is that it is a Burbankian wonder, resulting from crossing the lemon with the orange. But history disproves this. In the early part of the sixteenth century, some enterprising Spanish adventurers discovered the fruit flourishing in Mexico and brought it back with them to Florida.

Today, however, grapefruit is one of our most popular fruits and we serve it for breakfast, luncheon, and dinner.

In spite of the slightly bitter taste, grapefruit has a high sugar content. One-half of a ripe one sometimes contains more sugar than a sweet orange. This fact is especially important to remember in connection with diabetics who are often misled by the taste.

Grapefruit, in common with the rest of the citrus fruit family, is high in antiscorbutic value or vitamin C. The citric acid present is oxidized in the system, giving an alkaline ash which helps to maintain the neutrality of the blood.

VEAL KIDNEYS A LA NEWBURG.

2 tbsp. butter,
¼ tsp. paprika,
Pepper and salt to taste,
3 tbsp. flour,
1 pint top milk,
Yolks of 2 hard cooked eggs,
¼ cup sherry flavoring.

Remove all fat and sinews from kidneys. Wash them thoroughly and put into a sauce pan with 1 teaspoon salt and enough water to cover. Allow them to come to a boil, then simmer until tender, about one hour. Remove kidneys and cut into small dice. Make a cream sauce of the butter, paprika, salt, flour and milk. Cook until smooth and thick. Add egg yolks, then kidneys, and continue cooking over hot water about ten minutes. Add sherry just before serving.

Humane Education Group Opposed to Rodeo Movies

Disapproval of the showing of motion pictures of rodeos was expressed yesterday by the Chicago Humane Education society through Mrs. Charlotte Hunt, president, at a meeting in the Palmer house.

"The showing of such pictures is a bad influence on the minds of children and adults," said Mrs. Hunt. "There is one north side movie house whose manager I have told outright that I would have our members boycott his place. This society was instrumental in having the yearly rodeo in Soldiers' field discontinued."

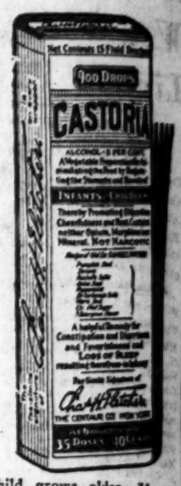
Children CRY for it



It may be the little stomach; it may be the bowels are sluggish. No matter what coats a child's tongue, its a safe and sensible precaution to give a few drops of Castoria. This gentle regulation of the little system soon sets things to rights. A pure vegetable preparation that can't harm a wee infant, but brings quick comfort—even when it is colic, diarrhea, or similar disturbance.

And don't forsake Castoria as the child grows older. If you want to raise boys and girls with strong systems that will ward off constipation, stick to good old Castoria; and give nothing stronger when there's any irregularity except on the advice of a doctor. Castoria is sold in every drugstore, and the genuine always bears Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper.

SOCIETY WOMEN'S KNITTED GOWNS ARE AMONG AUTUMN SIGNS

Society women have discarded the sheer, sleeveless dresses that they wore for outdoor sports during the summer, and for early fall days are donning jersey and knitted suits and ensembles in light colors.

The hand knitted suit worn by Mrs. James M. Hopkins at the children's gymkhana at Onwentsia on Saturday afternoon had a skirt and jacket of jade green, and a blouse of white with zigzag stripes of green. Her white panama hat was trimmed with ribbon of the same hue. Mrs. Philip D. Armour III also wore a three piece knitted suit with a black and white checked coat and skirt and a tuck-in blouse of white jersey.

Mrs. John F. Jelke Jr. appeared in a yellow jersey jumper and white plaited skirt with a yellow felt hat to match. Mrs. John H. McIlvaine wore a pale blue crêpe frock with a slightly flared skirt under a matching jersey cardigan jacket with silver buttons. Her hat was of blue felt with the brim draped upward in front and flaring at the sides. A heavy Indian necklace of silver and turquoise and a crêpe bag figured in blue and gray harmonized with the ensemble.

Mrs. John Payne Kellogg's suit of mustard and brown lightweight rough tweed, worn with a yellow jersey blouse and a brown felt hat, was the nearest approach to real autumn sports apparel.

Mrs. Albert R. Brunker, glimpsed on the Lake Forest train, also has evidently purchased some new fall clothes, as her costume was distinctly autumnal in its smartness. Her black wool frock, splashed with white, had a trim vestee of white pique, a wide black suede belt. The length of the skirt was accentuated by godets, giving a flared effect at the bottom.

Dawes Uses Stoneage Relics for Weights to Hold Down Letters

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Sept. 8.—Ambassador Charles G. Dawes on his return from an archaeological holiday to France and Spain said today he had a great time searching prehistoric caves with Dr. George Grant MacCurdy, director of the American School of Prehistoric Research in Europe. The fortnight's trip had been strenuous physically but afforded complete relaxation from discussing international politics with public officials.

His desk in the embassy has a new set of paperweights in the form of stone implements used by ancient man to prevent the blowing away of documents pertaining to diplomacy of the moderns.

"We visited Les Eyzies," said Dawes, "which Dr. MacCurdy calls the center of paleolithic cavedom in France and surrounding points, Le Moustar, Combarallies Font de Gaume, Cromagnon and Cap Blanc, where MacCurdy and his school for prehistoric research has been working seven years. I was particularly interested in a cave at Combarrelles. We stumbled and crawled along its deep limestone passages and their inner depths 750 feet from the entrance and viewed pictures executed by paleolithic man 25,000 years and more ago.

"As to methods of search for the remains of prehistoric man, the thought came to me that if a man would be as ingenius in seeking knowledge of the past as he is in creating wealth for the future he could amplify his present methods in a practical manner. For instance, some of the most remarkable caverns containing remains of paleolithic man and his art have been discovered by chance. In the thousands of years intervening between prehistoric man's occupancy of them and their present opening, the caverns, through rock falls, land slides and other surface changes, have often become obliterated and the caves are discovered by accident—in one case through a rabbit burrow.

"Limestone cliffs along the Vesere valley and all through this general section are unquestionably honeycombed with caverns whose former entrances are now covered up, many of which have been occupied by stone age man. Within the last decade by the use of geophysical instruments mankind, searching for oil, has been able to locate deposits as deep as or deeper than 3,000 feet below surface. Surely by the use of a modified form of such instruments near the top line of these cliffs shallow, unopened, undiscovered caverns within them could be located and openings made into them from base cliffs."

Methodists in Ohio Balk at Considering Birth Control Ideas

Oxford, O., Sept. 8.—(AP)—The Ohio Methodist Episcopal conference, in closing session here today, threw out a resolution of the committee on reform dealing with the question of birth control.

The committee had called attention to the actions of other church bodies in recommending the dissemination of birth control information by doctors in certain cases, and recommended that the Ohio conference do likewise. This brought a storm of protest from many delegates and the recommendation was thrown out.

The conference went on record as opposed to any candidate for public office who favors, in any manner or form, modification or repeal of the dry laws, regardless of his other qualifications or abilities. The conference held that the prohibition amendment was a great success, and approved the enforcement work of national, state and local dry agencies. Any effort to return the liquor question to state control was opposed.

Now polish silver without rubbing

BY MARY LEE WORK

A new and simple way to CLEAN silver and to do 2 other hard jobs

There's now a simple, new way that cleans silver absolutely without rubbing or polishing—and yet makes it look as if a professional silversmith had cleaned it! You don't even touch a cloth to it—just immerse it in a pan of water a few minutes.

In this way, you can clean all your table silver in a trice—even clean a complete silver service in a few minutes.

It is a preparation called Climalene that you get for 10 cents a package (12-oz.) at any grocery store. Use according to directions below.

Incidentally, it makes many other hard jobs easier—removes bathtub ring without rubbing—cuts dishwashing time in half.

Thousands of women are using it now. It saves hours of work every day. Try in one of three ways:

To Clean Silver Without Polishing

Add 2 teaspoonfuls of Climalene to a gallon of water in an aluminum pan. Immerse the silver and heat the water until it comes to a boil. Remove the silver and wipe dry. That is all. There's no polishing or rubbing. All signs of tarnish disappear. Even most intricate and highly embossed silver patterns are perfectly cleaned.

To Avoid Faded, Gray Washings

Use 2 tablespoons Climalene and again ¼ the usual amount of soap. Clothes come out PURE WHITE. Delicate fabrics do not fade. For soap-fade and soap-eat are ended this way. In recent tests men's blue shirts were washed 75 times this way without noticeable fade; sheerest French hosiery 100 times and more—and still like the day they were bought.

Bathtub Ring

Add a tablespoonful of Climalene to your bath water. It makes the water soft as summer rain. Soap makes a quick, rich lather. It eliminates the "high-water" mark on the tub. No scrubbing; no rubbing.

The Reason:

The reason Climalene acts these ways, is that it makes lake water, hard water and medium hard water as gentle as RAIN WATER—instantly. But it is also more than just a water softener. Climalene also has remarkable cleaning powers of its own, that makes ¼ the usual amount of soap do the work.

That First Year at School Is Often a Difficult One

By Mrs. Gladys Huntington Bevans

A list of books to be read to children and by them will be sent by Mrs. Bevans on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The mother of three children was getting reminiscent. The cause of it was that her youngest, a little girl, was to go to school for the first time the next morning.

"My blood runs cold when I think of some of the mistakes I made with my poor first—John, you know," she said.

"There was school, for instance. When John was 6, I sent him to school—a big private school with a good reputation. All his friends were going and it was supposed to be moderately modern, if you know what I mean.

"Well, he was unhappy that whole year. Some mornings he cried about going. I sort of vaguely tried to find out why he disliked it so, but found out nothing tangible and at last decided that it was best for him to go through with it, even if he didn't like it. Besides I had to work that year in the mornings because John Sr. was sick."

She stopped. "I don't know whether you want to hear all this," she said, "but I suppose it all comes back because Shirley's been our baby so long and she's starting school tomorrow—and so many other people's darlings are. Don't think I'm sentimental, but school is a big stepping out.

"Well, to go on with the tale of John. Toward the end of the year I found that the teacher, though young and sweet, was about twenty years behind the times in her methods. The children were kept in their seats without speaking. They had fine writing, fine print, and a lot of copying from faintly written material on the blackboard. They had a cranky person in charge of the music. John and some others developed headaches. Those proved to be some of the reasons why John hated school that first year.

"It taught me a lesson—that year did. I made up my mind that I'd do two things from that time on, as far as the children were concerned. I decided that if I observed something out of the ordinary I'd put my mind to work on it and find out what the trouble was. And then, if it was humanly possible, I'd do something about it—something positive—not just drift and float along like a jelly fish." She paused.

"I'm crazy about this school Shirley's going to tomorrow, and the teacher, too. She's a wonder. But if Shirley isn't happy or things go awry you can just bet I'll go and visit and talk it over with the school and work with them and somehow get it straightened out. Or else find that school conditions are all right and that Shirley needs to conform."

Many little children love the beginning of their school life and adore their teachers. But some are unhappy at this time. Perhaps the above conversation will suggest a practical approach to the difficulty: Observe, investigate, act.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Family in Need of Help.

"I am the mother of four children and we have had such a hard time I am coming to you for help. My husband has been in the hospital with blood poisoning and hasn't been able to work for months. We all need clothing and I'd like to have a mattress for the day bed and one for our full size bed. The children are boys who wear size 2, 4, 8 and 9 years. They need coats, suits, shoes, stockings, caps—in fact, everything. My husband wears size 42 or 44 in a suit, a 7¼ hat, shoes size 9, and shirts, size 15 and 16. I wear size 38 and shoes size 4½ or 5. Mrs. P. M."

There has been so much illness in this family it will take a long time for them to recover from the circumstances they are in. However, you can be of some assistance to them by giving the clothing you no longer wear. They will be extremely grateful for it.

Off-Blacks Enhance the Wearer's Charm

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—There is a great deal of black in the winter mode, but newer and more exciting than dead black are the off-blacks—midnight blue, myrtle green, nègre, steel—all so dark that you think they're black until the proper light brings out the beautiful undertone of color.

The off-blacks are easier to wear, too, than dead black, which is apt to make any but the most perfect skin look as though tired and older. Paris couturiers have thus reconciled that old saying: "There's nothing so useful as a black gown" with becomingness.

A rare off-black, which makes a fair skin positively dazzling and which adds golden richness to a dusky one, is the red that is like a black rose.

Molyneux uses it in matte triple georgette to make this evening gown. Its bodice is flatly bloused in front, but it goes princesse in the back, where grace is added by the attached split bolero. The curved circular flounces, split front and back, give a tunic effect to the slender skirt fitted at the top. The skirt is flared at the bottom by a deep circular flounce with a charmingly irregular hem.

The long suede gloves are black-rose red to match. Molyneux would like you to wear two fresh black roses on your corsage and a ruby-rose necklace from Mauboussin to complete your effect. He designed this frock for Mme. Louise Rénault, noted in Paris for her distinguished elegance.

An Old Man.

One day a young insurance agent was talking to me in our office. I was trying my best to make a hit with him. Just then, an old man entered the office on crutches. I immediately thought he would ask for help of some kind, so trying to get rid of him in a hurry, I told him that the boss made all donations and that he was out at the present. The old man looked at me and answered, "I have come to send some money to Europe, not to ask for a donation." I was never more embarrassed. I'm glad the agent left before I finished waiting on the old man. J. K.

Frequent Use of Lotion Keeps Hands Smooth and Lovely

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

In some future day and perhaps not so far distant, at that, at kitchen sinks and over washtubs we may find installed those mechanical figures operated by electric switches whose pictures get in the papers now as fair duplicates of human workers. When that moment comes to pass in the kitchen, the housewife is going to agree that she can attend her bridge party without any embarrassment about her hands.

The varied tasks of washing the infant's clothes frequently and often of washing dishes and doing the other duties that require immersing the hands in hot water are what keep women groaning over the difficulty of sitting in at a bridge game with a snappy looking hand.

However, looking at hands by and large, it must be admitted that women can mount almost any difficulty, especially if it is going to mean a more creditable appearance. Hands, by and large, are well kept and women have an almost universal pride about them.

Our women are becoming proficient at keeping the hands out of hot water and refusing to immerse them in suds made from strong soap. They are using milder soaps for dishwashing and laundering, and they also practice protection with gloves for other forms of work that are apt to make inroads on their nails and hands.

And the hand lotion is becoming more and more common. Not just a once in a while application of lotion, but the use of one after every time the hands are dried is a practice that is growing widely. I had occasion to observe a particular family of three adult women whose hands are fed their beauty meal frequently during the day with the handy hand lotion bottle kept over the sink, and in the bathrooms on first and second floors. This mother and two daughters use a specially prepared lotion.

Another woman well known to me has her olive oil bottle handy for frequent daily hand massaging. And olive oil is nothing to scorn in this respect. It is excellent.

The virtue, as we may have remarked before about lotions, is not in the bottle, but in the use of its contents.

"I Don't Feel Just Right, Doc"

(The Common Way of Describing Acidity)

You're not sick, yet not well. Your stomach isn't just right, you don't sleep well and you tire easily. Your color isn't what it should be and you probably look drawn.

A sort of vague, run-down feeling is one of the first symptoms of acidity. Acidity is due to our unnatural eating, our irregular hours and other excesses. The excess acid upsets digestion and causes putrefaction and fermentation in the gastro-intestinal canal. This frequently results in sick headaches, dizzy spells, "nerves," mental depression and general lassitude.

A remarkable new corrective of acidity has been developed by a famous 100-year-old pharmaceutical house in Germany.

This new, improved magnesia comes in the form of small, white tablets, called Magnesia Oxoids, which do not have to be chewed, but may be swallowed whole. Magnesia Oxoids, upon contact with the acid in the stomach, generate nascent, or active, oxygen. Now, active oxygen, as any doctor will tell you, when generated within the digestive tract does just the things required for acidity. It stimulates the secretion of the alkaline mucus. It checks the putrefaction and fermentation in the gastro-intestinal canal. It stimulates the activities of the intestinal walls and aids the natural movement of the bowels.

All three effects are necessary to the true relief of acidity and Magnesia Oxoids supply them in a perfectly natural manner.

Make This Acidity Test

See for yourself how much acid has to do with your run-down condition and that persistent feeling of tiredness. Make this acidity test. Get a package of Magnesia Oxoids from Walgreen's Drug Stores, Economical Drug Stores or any other druggist today on our money-back guarantee. Take two after each meal. Note the pick-up in your pep and vigor. Mark the new peace of your stomach and nerves. If, after taking contents of one bottle, you don't notice a decided improvement in your health, return the empty bottle to the druggist and he will refund your money.—A-5—(Advertisement.)

ARCTIC 'CAPITAL' PAYS TRIBUTE TO AIR EXPLORERS

Funeral Services Held for Andree and Companion.

TROMSOE, Norway, Sept. 8.—(AP)—Beneath half staffed flags a reverent crowd gathered in and around the Old Tromsoe church today during funeral services for Salomon Auguste Andree and Nils Strindberg, whose bodies were recently brought from an icy grave on White Island, where they died 33 years ago.

The coffins containing the remains of the two balloonist-explorers were carried into the chancel, which was decorated with Swedish flags. Both the Norwegian and Swedish flags were draped over the coffins.

After a hymn by a mixed choir, Dean Nissen delivered a moving sermon, in the course of which he recalled that two years ago memorial services were held in the same church for Roald Amundsen.

Use Corridor as Crypt.

The relatives of Andre and Strindberg, representatives of the Swedish-Norwegian commission, the crew of the sealer Bratvaag, which discovered the bodies, and members of Dr. Gunnar Horn's expedition attended the services. Petty officers and sailors from warships in the harbor paraded to the church as a final tribute.

After the services the coffins were carried by Norwegian sailors to the southern corridor of the church, which will be used as a provisional crypt. After arrival of the sealer Isbjorn with the body of Knut Frankel, the third member of the balloon expedition, all three bodies will be carried from the church to the cruiser Svenskund by Swedish sailors.

Death by Poisoning Clew.

The Isbjorn, which dashed north to White Island when the news of Dr. Horn's discovery became known, was still at White island today. New discoveries have resulted in new theories regarding Andree's fate. Prof. J. Gunnar Anderson thinks one possible cause of the explorer's death was the eating of bear liver, which is very poisoning. All authorities agree now Andree lived a long time, perhaps more than a year, on White Island.

The most probable cause of the death of the men, however, was a great snowstorm combined with intense cold after the balloonists had been weakened by privations and a single diet.

The Norwegian coast guard vessel Michael Sars has left here to meet the Isbjorn and may take the final Andree remnants aboard and speed back to Tromsoe, since the Isbjorn cannot reach here before Sunday or Monday and thus would delay the final trip to Sweden.

Today's memorial service was broadcast, being heard by the people of both Norway and Sweden.

Society Woman Burned While Cleaning Curtains

New York, Sept. 8.—[Special.]—Mrs. Charles E. Spratt was badly burned tonight when a quantity of gasoline with which she was cleaning curtains ignited and set fire to her clothing. Mrs. Spratt, the former Mrs. Mabel Cranberry Betts, is well known in society. During the war she held the rank of major in the New York Motor Ambulance corps.

Widow of T.R. Visiting Son, Governor of Porto Rico

San Juan, Porto Rico, Sept. 8.—(AP)—Mrs. Edith Roosevelt, mother of Gov. Theodore Roosevelt, arrived today on the steamship San Lorenzo for a visit with her son. She will return this month to her home in Oyster Bay, N. Y.

HYDE URGES ALL NATIONS TO FORM FARMER CO-OPS

Washington, D. C., Sept. 8.—[Special.]—Adoption of cooperative farm marketing plans by all the countries of the world was recommended by Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde today in an address at the opening of the first inter-American conference on agriculture, forestry, and animal industry.

Delegates representing nearly all of the twenty-one North and South American republics are assembled here for the conference, held with the purpose of promoting international research for the improvement of agriculture.

A "technical revolution" is taking place in agriculture, Secretary Hyde asserted, with the result that the increase of crop yields is not so important as elimination of "the twin evils of overproduction and low prices." The new objective of the farmers of all lands, he said, is to reduce the costs of production and at the same time regulate its volume and adjust the total output to the needs of the market."

Blames Girl for Costly Evening, but Who Suggested It?

BY DORIS BLAKE.

This is the tale of a disillusioned young man who is off with girls for the rest of his natural life, to hear him tell it. They're too expensive. He can't afford them. Next time he wants to go out on a big evening he is going to get a fellow to go along and when the check is presented he will say: "Buddy, your share is so-and-so."

But said young man is knocking girls because of a vain one evening outing. He fancied a beautiful one, a popular one. The girl is nigh engaged to a rich young man, in fact. But Keegan, we'll call him, for no reason on earth, thought to steal a march on the rich young man. So he dated the beautiful one for an afternoon and evening.

The afternoon, amusingly enough, was a trip to the circus, which didn't put such a big wallop in the fifty dollar wad he drew forth nonchalantly. "But," says Keegan to the beautiful one, "let's have dinner at the Ritz."

She said, "Let's," as any beautiful one would agree.

Then said Keegan, "What show would you like to see?"

And the girl said, "Whatever you'd like to see."

So they went to the musical comedy she wanted to see, which he had already seen from an upper tier seat. After the show Keegan said to himself something about home, sweet home for him, but aloud he asked, "What'll we do now?"

He said: "No, I haven't seen them." So the girl said, "O you must, they're too perfectly divine."

Well, along about 3.30 a. m. Keegan and the fifty cents change the taxi man handed him limped into the small cubicle for which Keegan paid the club manager a modest weekly stipend and there the young man extracted from an inner pocket one dollar of his $50 banknote, the sole greenback to survive the social splurge—a splurge, understand, to impress the beauty but which probably meant only another afternoon and evening in her young career.

The moral of which true story of a fifty-dollar bill and a vain young man being that wholesale prejudices are born more often than not of our own unadulterated folly.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Accept His Invitation.

"Dear Miss Blake: I love a fellow, who is keeping steady company with another girl. He asked me out. What should I do? ANNA."

Because he is seeing another girl steadily need not keep you from accepting the invitation. You must have appealed to him or he wouldn't have extended the invitation.

Offers Friendship Only.

"Dear Miss Blake. I care for a fellow but he merely like me and has no intention of marrying. Please advise. "GLADYS."

He has only friendship to offer, so unless you can consider him in that light it would be advisable to discontinue seeing him.

FARM AND GARDEN
BY PAUL POTTER

Know Your Flowers

Fall and winter are the best periods of the year to study the flowers you will want to plant in your flower garden next year. A simple guide in a newly revised 64 page book called "Flower Gardening" provides a designation of blossoming time, height, color of blossoms, and outdoor sowing time. The booklet can be obtained by sending 15 cents in stamps to the Farm and Garden Editor of The Chicago Tribune, or it may be purchased for 10 cents at any of The Tribune public service stations.

With 1,450 points garnered in many classes, P. E. Klinert of Chicago won the sweepstakes Burdette medal in the Men's Garden Club of Chicago fourth annual flower show, which was concluded Sunday evening at the Garfield park conservatory. One of his prizes was for the largest dahlia exhibited by any grower, with first prize for the best dahlia going to L. W. Nack.

Another medal for a vegetable display was awarded to David Hipple of Elgin, Ill. The gladioli and dahlias comprised the best display ever shown in Chicago, according to the comments of several prominent floriculturists who visited the collection on Saturday and Sunday. In addition the competition was labeled a credit to the show committee, of which O. V. Morgan was chairman, because there were 1,565 exhibits, which surpassed in number any previous show conducted by the club.

A bronze medal offered to groups winning the most points was awarded to the Men's Garden Club of Aurora, which obtained 2,290 points on placings by judges. Fruit and vegetables made up one of the largest displays and were brought from Aurora by the men gardeners.

SELECT YOUR USED CAR BARGAIN

IN THE WORLD'S FINEST USED CAR HEADQUARTERS

The used car sales place of the STUDEBAKER SALES CO. OF CHICAGO is the greatest in the country from the point of space, beauty and facilities.

In our mammoth building at 26TH AND MICHIGAN, there are 142 dandy used cars assembled from which to make a selection. These cars have been inspected by expert mechanics and adjusted wherever necessary.

With such a tremendous stock in our big place, it is not necessary for you to visit 4 or 5 places in order to make a new car selection. A trip to our headquarters will save you time and much money.

FORD TUDOR SEDAN. If you are in the market for a good running, fine appearing car at a cheap price, you cannot beat this Ford for $75.

AUBURN COUPE, SEDAN, 1929 eight with rumble top, wire wheels, fender wells, driving lights, etc. It's the last word for beautiful appearance and spirited performance. $795.

NASH SEDAN, 1927 Adv. 6. The appearance of this Nash is very pleasing. Motor was checked over and now it's okay in every respect. 4 whl. brakes, and many extras. $295.

BUICK ROADSTER. Recent model Mast. 6 with an attractive two-tone finish in ivory and dark tan. Has sweet running motor, rumble seat, and long wheelbase. Equipped with 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, windshield wiper, bumpers, etc. You cannot find a roadster in Chicago as smart appearing or fine running as this one at $445.

OAKLAND COACH, 1929. Only driven a few thousand miles. This car is absolutely brand new in every respect. Equipped with every essential extra. Worth considerably more than our price of $550.

CADILLAC SEDAN. This 1927 model 314 seven pass. was formerly owned by an actor, who actually used it only for a short time. It's beautifully equipped with shock absorbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. This car was traded in at a low figure, and we're willing to pass on the saving to you. Only $650

STUDEBAKER SEDAN, 1930 Str. 8 seven pass. One used a few weeks by one of the important executives of the Studebaker Corp. Now it is certainly 100% in every respect. No one could tell this car was ever driven a mile. Equipped with shock absorbers, wire wheels, fender wells, and other expensive equipment. Offered at a very reasonable figure.

ERSKINE SEDAN, 1929 that was oiled and greased every 500 miles, so it's in wonderful condition now. Appearance is very attractive and the equipment includes 4 whl. brakes, shock absorbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. $395.

CHICKENBACKER SEDAN. A Light Six with 4 whl. brakes, spare tire, bumpers, etc. The finish has not a mar on it and the tires have little mileage. Runs fine. $195.

JORDAN SEDAN. We recommend this as one of our very best buys. It's a Line 8 Sedan with 4 whl. brakes, spare tire, bumpers, etc. This car is a beauty and the performance is exceptionally good. $275.

STUDEBAKER COUPE, 1928 Commander. Examine this car from bumper to bumper and you'll agree that it's one of the most handsome cars you've ever seen. Bring your own mechanic to inspect the motor and he'll verify it's okay in every respect. A real value at $595.

ROADSTER 8 ROADSTER. This low-slung car is in exceptionally fine condition. Has rumble seat, 4 whl. brakes, shock absorbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. $295.

DODGE SEDAN, 1930 that's positively 100% Greenhurst. It was only traded in because owner desired a larger car. Will give new car satisfaction today. $725.

STUDEBAKER VICTORIA. Late Dictator that was used by a physician only to make house calls. It's in wonderful condition. Body, upholstery and tires are A-1. Has a great running motor. There are many valuable extras and our price of $350 is one of bargains with high quality of this car.
